COMMERCIAL BATTLEFIELD IS NOW IN THE FAR EAST, SAYS FORAKER

PITTSBURGH'S CAPTAINS OF INDUSTRY GIVE ALLEGIANCE TO NATION'S POLICY OF INVASION OF MARKETS OF WHOLE WORLD OF COMMERCE

Senator J. B. Foraker of Ohio Eloquently Expresses Sentiment Supporting Actions of Roosevelt in Orient and Panama.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE LAUDS GREATER PITTSBURGH

The Most Representative Gathering of Allegheny County's Industrial, Financial and Political Leaders Is Addressed by Men Who Tell of the Past, the Present and the Future.

Fight for Commercial Supremacy is in the Far East, Says Foraker

The development of our resources is rapidly increasing.

The question of foreign markets is one that should be giving us some concern.

In England a great political struggle is now in progress to change her fiscal policy from free trade to protection.

If England changes her policy, the result will be a restriction of what has heretofore been one of our best and greatest markets.

There is only one place to find them (new markets) and that is in the Far East.

With a stage of water in the Ohio river never less than nine feet, this whole Ohio valley will be practically as near China and Japan as the Pacific slope and on practically fair terms of equality with the Atlantic seaboard for European trade.

When the one (the Panama canal) is ready for use, the other (the Ohio river improvement) should be.

The Panama can be made a sea-level canal, thus getting rid of all locks and dams.

The situation in Panama was peculiar, and the necessity for prompt recognition was especially urgent and commanding.

The refusal of Colombia to ratify the treay was not only a breach of faith toward the United States, but an incalculable outrage upon Panama.

It (the canal) will be if especial benefit to the United States, not only for purposes of commerce, but also for purposes of national defense.

We will dominate and control the Caribbean sea almost as completely as Gibraltar ever controlled the Mediterranean.

We must continue to insist upon an open door for the United States as to Korea, Manchuria, China and every other place in that part of the globe.

Our interests in the East will, if we are true to ourselves, continue to grow rapidly.

For us to haul down our flag and bring away our army and navy and abandon the Philippines would be to surrender all chance for equality of opportunity in the greatest of the new markets of the world.

With a heartiness that bespoke no hesitation, allegiance was given by the leaders in Pittsburgh's industrial, financial and political activities to the policies of President Theodore Roosevelt, and of his predecessor, President McKinley, in the expansion of American interests. Enthusiastic applause was given each of the speakers at the annual banquet of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce last evening at the Hotel Schenley as these great national questions were touched upon.

Pride in the part that Pennsylvania has played, and particularly in Pittsburgh's share in that glorious history, was brought out by the historical speech of Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker. Glory in the record Pittsburgh is making in her advance over all other cities in the country was shown when the tell-tale figures of the postal department were given by Gen. W. S. Shallenberger, head of the transportation department of the federal postoffice system.

Ovation for Senator Foraker.

But most of all, when the sentiment of pride in national advancement was reached by the appeal of Senator Joseph B. Foraker, the Ohio statesman, was the response of the large audience unequivocal. Earnest applause greeted each telling point in his address, and every reference to the successive steps that have made the United States a world power and opened to the industries of this and every other district a world for a market, brought out the enthusiasm of the men present. As he made the telling point that not alone the manufacturer, but the workingman of every kind and the farmer is equally interested in this expansion, the applause was of the kind rarely heard in bodies so slowly stirred as that composed of the staid business men who sat within earshot of the speaker.

The celebration of the completion of another year by the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce began about 8 p. m. yesterday, when the speakers and guests of honor of the evening had arrived. Each of the members was introduced to the men whose addresses and presence were to add to the luster of the gathering.

Reception Was Brief.

A brief hand clasp was all that each received, although many of those who approached were known to all of the guests of honor. Without further ado seats were occupied in the banquet hall, where the orchestra was already playing stirring airs.

The dinner began immediately. It was interrupted only as the patriotic airs finally overcome the assemblage, and when the "Star-Spangled Banner" was played the governor led in rising. With every person in the room standing the national anthem was sung and a cheer echoed in the room at the song's conclusion. In the center of the table Gov. Pennypacker was seen throughout the playing of the patriotic tunes to be far more interested in them than in the viands before him, and he hummed the words to himself as the orchestra rendered the familiar air of "Marching Through Georgia."

The menu, served most skillfully, follows:

Oyster Cocktails. Haut Sauterne.
Olives. Celery. Almonds.
Cream of Terrapin. Amontillado.
Boiled Salmon, Hollandaise.
Sliced Cucumbers.
Pommery and Greno Sec.
Timbales, Maison d'Or. French Peas.
Filet Mignon, Pompadour.
Stuffed Potatoes.
Punch, au Kirsch.
English Quail, sur Canape.
Salad, a la Schenley.
Chamberlin.
Fancy Ice Cream. Cakes.
Liqueurs.
Fruit. Cigars.
Fromage. Cafe Noir.

Growth of the Chamber.

When the demi-tasse and cigars had been reached, President Albert J. Logan of the chamber of commerce presented the toastmaster, Judge Joseph Buffington of the United States district court. He referred briefly to the fact that the chamber had never had so many members nor so large a surplus in its treasury as at present, and continued:

Last year I told you that the chamber of commerce had under way at that time a bill that would be presented to the legislature asking that a law be enacted making it possible for the cities, boroughs and townships in this great district to join together in a great municipality. The chamber of commerce followed that matter up, and today it is a law, and it remains now for the people of this great community to say whether they shall join together and make in the western part of Pennsylvania a metropolis that will equal or exceed our sister city on the Delaware. (Applause.)

The chamber of commerce in the past year has followed up our river and railroad interests, giving such assistance as we could from time to time to promote those great interests, and we feel that we have been of some value in that line.

Foraker's Convincing Remarks.

When Gov. Pennypacker had concluded and the toastmaster introduced Senator Foraker the cheers were most enthusiastic. The references he made to the fact that Gov. Pennypacker's remarks about Pennsylvania's history being the best in the United States made an Ohio man feel like a second-rater evoked a good laugh. He then launched on his subject and his masterful handling of the large subject brought not only the closest attention from all present, but carried his hearers with him, and those who had doubted the wisdom of the president's policy in the Panama matter had the whole subject so clearly expounded to them that none could doubt or fail to approve. Not only at the opening and the close, but throughout the course of his remarks was there generous applause.

Judge Buffington introduced Gen. Shallenberger, who for years has been the second assistant postmaster general, as one in the postoffice department who was above all chance for the most rigid investigation to find other than a chevalier without stain. Despite the late hour, the statistics given by the speaker were presented so interestingly that they held the attention of the guests, and when, shortly before 1 a. m., his address was ended, nearly all of those

SHOT AT SECRETARY OF BANK OF ENGLAND

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A murderous attack with a revolver was made today on Kenneth Grahame, the secretary of the Bank of England, by an individual who is supposed to be insane. He fired four shots in rapid succession, but Mr. Grahame was not hurt. Considerable difficulty was experienced in securing the would-be assassin. A fire hose had to be requisitioned before he could be disarmed and taken to the police station. Mr. Grahame is the editor of the English edition of Eugene Field's poems and is the author of the "Golden Age," "Dream Days," "The Headswoman" and other works.

MRS. VLASTO SUES FOR LOSS OF LOVE

Senator Clark's Daughter, Mrs. Culver, Defendant in a Damage Action.

PLAINTIFF ASKS FOR $500,000

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.

Charging that Mrs. Everett Mallory Culver has alienated the affection that Solon J. Viasto, her husband, should have for her, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Viasto of this city today, through Howe & Hummel, began a suit in the supreme court and named $500,000 as the amount she is damaged.

Mrs. Culver, daughter of Senator William A. Clark of Montana, is already in the public eye because of the divorce suit instituted by her against her husband, Dr. E. M. Culver.

Solon J. Viasto, who is a well-known Greek and one of the proprietors of the Greek newspaper Atlantis, returned from Europe on the White Star liner Oceanic, which arrived on November 11. Mrs. Culver, with her daughter, and a woman friend, arrived eight days later on the Teutonic of the same line.

In the complaint Mrs. Viasto charges that Mrs. Culver "willfully intending to injure the plaintiff, enticed her husband to live separate from her." She mentions Paris and Switzerland, besides New York and other cities in this country, as the places where he has resided recently.

To all this Mr. Viasto says "bosh" and he says it emphatically. He willingly offered tonight to answer any questions put to him. With his brother Demetrius he is a nightly diner at Delmonico's.

"I go to Europe every year," he said. "This year I went to London, Paris, Marseilles, and later, Athens. Returning I first met Mrs. Culver, I think, in Biarritz. I am a near friend of the family, the doctor, Mrs. Culver and his brother Harry. It is true that when Mrs. Culver was in Paris at the Langham hotel I was in that city. But I stopped at the Grand hotel. Of course, I dined with her several times."

MACEDONIA WILL BE SEIZED BY POWERS

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A dispatch to the Central News from Vienna says it is authoritatively announced there that if Turkey does not accept forthwith the Austro-Russian demands, the two powers will proceed with their own forces to establish order in Macedonia. All the signatory powers of the treaty of Berlin, it is added, will first be asked to co-operate.

CAR BARN MURDERER MAKES A CONFESSION

Gustave Marx Tells Chicago Police All About the Sensational Crimes.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Gustave Marx, arrested for the murder of Detective John Quinn, has made a confession of complicity in the car barn murders, and named his accomplices.

Marx admits having taken part in the raid on the barns of the city railroad company on the night of August 30, when John Johnson and Frank Stewart were shot dead by the mysterious man with the magazine revolver and Henry Biehl and William Edman, clerks, were wounded.

Marx named as his accomplices in the raid and murders Harvey Van Dine and Peter Niedermeier and gave information concerning other murders in which he says he participated with the men he accuses, and a third companion of the name of Emil Roeski.

"On the night of the car barn murder," Marx said, "I ordered the men in the office to hold up their hands and Niedermier broke in the window. Van Dine broke in the door with a hammer after the men had been shot. Then all three went east to Jackson park. We divided the money there amounting to $2,500, of which I got $750.

"I shot Policeman Quinn on the night of November 21, 1903, about 10 o'clock, in Greenberg's saloon."

Woman Found Dead in Road.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The body of Mrs. Alexander Black was found in the road near Ormond after life had been extinct about 24 hours. She had started to a neighbor's and is supposed to have dropped dead of heart failure. As the day was rainy the family supposed that she had remained all night at the neighbor's house.

COMMISSIONER TIRES OF OFFICE

Head of Pension Bureau Will Resign and Resume Practice of Law.

SUCCESSOR NOT SELECTED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—It can be announced that Eugene F. Ware, the commissioner of pensions, will retire from that office by about the middle of November of next year and will return to the practice of law in Kansas. His contemplated action is generally understood among Kansas politicians and has been the subject of several interviews with the president, which have been kept secret.

The decision to resign and return to private life is the result of his long-felt dissatisfaction with the nature of the duties of his office, a feeling that has grown steadily since the early days of his administration of that bureau. Mr. Ware has declined to admit that he has or ever had any intention of tendering his resignation.

Mr. Ware's acceptance of the president's tender of office last spring created great surprise. He had a law practice that was one of the largest in Kansas, and it brought him considerably more income than his salary as commissioner of pensions.

He had not been in the office long before he began to feel the effect of the large amount of routine work, and as time wore on the demands that this work made on his time and strength and the constant friction that has been incidental to the office under every administration led to his distaste for the work. The president has not yet reached a decision as to whom he will select as Mr. Ware's successor.

CHICAGO STREET CAR STRIKE IS SETTLED.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—The strike of the employes of the Chicago City railways was settled at an early hour this morning at a conference between the mayor, the aldermanic committee, President Hamilton and E. R. Bliss, counsel for the company and the executive board of the local union of the strikers. The basis on which the settlement was reached is a complete victory for the company as far as the original demands of the men are concerned. The agreement will be ratified this morning and it is expected that the traffic on all the lines of the company will be resumed today. The only important concession made by the company was an agreement to reinstate all of the strikers.

CANAL TREATY OFF TO PANAMA

SEALED IN IRON BOX

Dr. Arosemena, Panama's Legal Adviser, Arrives at New York on Seguranca.

CONDITIONS IN COLOMBIA

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Nov. 24.—Dr. Pablo Arosemena, legal adviser to the Panama minister and canal commission, arrived here today in the steamer Seguranca from the isthmus. He was met by several merchants. He told the reporters he was surprised to learn that the treaty was signed. He added that he was at first opposed to the independence of Panama, but was now quite willing to accept the new conditions.

When he left Panama everything was going along smoothly. The junta, consisting of three members, is to rule until the national convention meets in January. Then a constitution will be adopted with the election of a president and the appointment of a cabinet.

Dr. Arosemena said there was not the remotest possibility of Panama being annexed to the United States. Panama had declared for independence and would stick it out. As to the suggestion that Panama should give Colombia part of the $10,000,000, the lawyer said that it was out of his province to discuss such matters. In conclusion Dr. Arosemena said:

Panama Can Defend Herself.

"To my mind there is no doubt about the ability of Panama to defend her independence without the aid of the United States or any other outside country. Panama has a good army. Her men are well drilled and fine soldiers. We need vessels to protect our interests and will get them should necessity arise. Everybody on the isthmus is working in unison and the best of harmony prevails.

"The matter of church and state is a delicate one that must be handled with the greatest care."

Dr. Frederick Boyd and Dr. Amador, the Panama commissioners, were at the pier to meet Dr. Arosemena, and also hand over to the purser of the outgoing Colon steamer City of Washington a sealed iron box containing the new treaty. The purser gave a receipt for the box and will deliver it at Colon to be sent across the isthmus to Panama.

An officer of the ship said that blows were nearly struck over the adoption of a flag. The Liberals wanted red at top and the Conservatives wanted blue. It looked as if there would be a disruption, but a compromise was effected by putting the blue star on a field of red in the upper corner. Another passenger said he thought that Colombia would really declare war on the United States because, like all Southern American republics, it had no proper conception of the size of this country.

Payment to Canal Company.

A conference was held in this city today between Messrs. Amador and Boyd, special commissioners of the republic of Panama and William Nelson Cromwell, American consul of the Panama Canal Company. Mr. Cromwell said after the conference that there was no formal statement to make. Regarding the meth-

SAID SCHWAB WAS A BRIBER

Damaging Value Placed Upon Offer Made Shipbuilding President.

LETTERS PRODUCED

Many Secrets Revealed About the Division of the Finances.

MAX PAM'S BIG SHARE

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Nov. 24.—During the stormiest session of the Shipbuilding hearing yet held, Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for the complaining bondholders, today charged in open court that Charles M. Schwab had attempted to bribe Lewis Nixon, former president of the Shipbuilding Company, by offering to take off his hands $90,000 of Shipbuilding securities if Nixon would consent to agree to Schwab's plan of reorganization.

A letter alleged to have been written by Charles M. Schwab to Joseph H. Hoadley, dated May 26, 1903, was put in evidence. It read that, providing the reorganization plan was perfected, he would agree to take the stocks and bonds of the company owned by Mr. Nixon. Mr. Guthrie objected on the ground that the testimony was irrelevant.

"I consider it crucial," shouted Mr. Untermyer. "I will show that this letter shows obviously that Charles M. Schwab, by his offer to take 100,000 shares at 90, was in reality proffering a bribe to Lewis Nixon, the president of the company, for the purpose of inducing his to consent to Schwab's plan of reorganization. It was a vain attempt at bribery."

Letters written and signed by Schwab and addressed to Lewis Nixon were marked in evidence to substantiate Mr. Untermyer's charge. The testimony developed the fact that Mr. Schwab subsequently refused to carry out his offer.

The Alleged Bribe.

Mr. Nixon declares himself ignorant of affairs of the Bethlehem Steel Company before its acquisition by the Shipbuilding company, having made no investigation. For matters since that time he referred Mr. Untermyer to the minutes of the meeting, declining to testify to matters of record, and in regard to the listing of the shipbuilding securities he adhered to his previous attitude, that he had left this to Judges Gary and Mr. Pam, who, he stated, had complete charge of the matter.

Mr. Nixon was then caused to relate the steps he took in opposition to the Sheldon reorganization, when an assessment on the stock of the shipbuilding company was suggested to him by Joseph H. Hoadley and he and Mr. Hoadley endeavored to persuade Mr. Schwab to consent to this plan. During this relation, Mr. Nixon described himself as "an amateur in the business."

The Alleged Bribe.

Mr. Untermyer offered in evidence two letters from Charles M. Schwab to Mr. Hoadley, offering to purchase certain stock and bonds of the shipbuilding company. Mr. Nixon admitted that the stocks and bonds referred to were those given him at the formation of the company in case the Sheldon reorganization plan was agreed to. Mr. Untermyer thrice repeated this statment about attempted bribery and finally secured the admission of one of the letters, the au-

Futile Efforts to Work the Switch.

SAN DOMINGO SURRENDERS AND THE PRESIDENT FLEES

Revolutionists Take Capital of Island Republic. Their Success May Involve the United States, Necessitating Vigorous Policy.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAPE HAITIEN, Nov. 24.—Dispatches received here from Puerto Plata say that the city of San Domingo was surrendered to the revolutionists this morning and that President Wos y Gil and his ministers took refuge on board a German warship. The dispatches further say that great enthusiasm prevails throughout the country.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Revolutionists' success in Santo Domingo may unpleasantly involve the United States and there is a possibility that this government will have to adopt a strong policy to obtain recognition and respect for American property in this, the Dominican republic. This may mean intervention by the Washington government for the purpose of bringing order and a stable government out of the revolutionary chaos and constant danger to foreign interests.

United States Minister Powell has been for months urging President Wos y Gil to settle certain American claims. The United States has never been much inclined toward the cause of revolutionists because Gen. Jiminez, the insurgent leader, informed Minister Powell that when the insurgents gained control of the government they would not respect any agreements made with President Wos y Gil. The United States takes the position that in a change of government the formal internal obligations of the deposed administration must be assumed by the incoming one.

SAN DOMINGO, Nov. 24.—President Wos y Gil requested the ministers of the United States, Belgium, Hayti and Spain to intervene in behalf of the government. The insurgents refused to accept the terms offered and demanded the immediate capitulation of the city. United States Minister Powell informed the revolutionary chiefs that periodical revolutions ought to cease because they interrupted commercial relations with other countries and augmented the debt of Santo Domingo, which was without means to pay foreign creditors. The minister said further that these periodical revolutions endangered the peace of his government and of the governments of other nations, and that the present revolution if continued, would imperil the sovereignty of Santo Domingo.

The peace negotiations were suspended and firing on the city was resumed at 8 o'clock last night, resulting in further damage to houses here, and the bombardment was continued this morning.

A Hamburg-American line steamer with ammunition on board consigned to the government arrived here and began discharging her cargo into lighters, whereupon the revolutionists opened fire on the lighters and the fort here returned the fire in order to protect the lighters and facilitate the discharging of the steamer's cargo.

ORGAN ATTACKS CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Says President's Ambition to Build Canal Leads Him to Indiscretion.

HAS A TILT WITH HANNA

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The Panama canal question was again the leading topic under consideration by the senate today and Mr. Morgan was again the speaker of the day. He continued his review of the history of the efforts to secure an isthmian canal and declared that to the president's ambition to secure the credit of an unique administration must be credited the favoritism manifested by him toward the Panama route. He asserted that President McKinley had favored the Nicaragua line and this statement was challenged by Mr. Hanna, who said he knew of his own personal knowledge that Mr. McKinley had urged the most careful investigation, after he had learned that the Panama canal property was available. The question of committee assignment was again postponed as was also the motion to reconsider the vote on the Newlands joint resolution concerning the annexation of Cuba.

Immediately after the convening of the senate President Pro Tempore Frye presented an invitation from the governor of Louisiana to attend the ceremonies incident to the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the transfer of Louisiana territory to the United States. He also recurred to a question raised yesterday as to whether concurrent resolutions of congress require the approval of the president in order to render them operative.

Question Is Not Decided.

He said that it had never been the practice to send such resolutions to the president, but he read the provision of the Constitution bearing upon the subject which makes no distinction between concurrent resolutions and joint resolutions and remarked that he did not know how congress had been able to escape from the constitutional requirement. The suggestion from the chair led to a discussion of the point by Senators Spooner, Teller, Hale, Platt (Conn.), and Tillman.

Without disposing of the subject the senate passed to routine business after which Mr. Carmack's resolution for the investigation of the conduct of the post-office department was laid before the senate and upon motion of Mr. Penrose was referred to the committee on postoffices and postroads.

Mr. Morgan was then recognized to continue his speech on the Panama canal question.

As to Panama, the senator said, an elaborate treaty had been prepared, a committee sent here and then sent back again to create a government with power to ratify a treaty. He charged that the treaty with Colombia had been drawn largely by a corporation lawyer. Speaking of the report of the Isthmian canal committee favorable to the Panama route, Mr. Morgan characterized the report as "the dynamite that has rent in twain the republic of Colombia."

Again Criticises the President.

He said further that the report was a desperate adventure. He declared that if Mr. McKinley had lived the protocols with Nicaragua and Costa Rica would have been observed. "But he is dead," the senator went on, "and a new dispensation comes upon the field, and he seems not to feel the obligation of good faith when a more enticing field for a unique administration breaks upon the vision of this ambitious spirit."

He declared that it was President Roosevelt's ambition to have all the glory of constructing the canal for his own administration.

"Has the president," he asked, "any excuse for his failure to carry into effect the agreement with Nicaragua and Costa Rica unless it be resentment towards Colombia and gratification of personal ambition, which the law deprives him of the further power to indulge? Whatever were the incentive he will fail to carry the people with him in his wild and inexcusable raid."

No plea of "reasons of state" would be acceptable, for, said he, "reasons of state are out of place in a republic and are regarded as the plea of a tyrant." In abandoning the McKinley policy Mr. Morgan declared that the president had destroyed the rights already acquired at much expense of time and effort.

Venerable Senator Sits Down.

He declared that Colombia had levied blackmail to the extent of $7,000,000 and that, acting under instructions of the president, the secretary of state, had entered into an agreement that might make it possible to collect on the levy. Only the eagerness or the ambition of the president, he said, could have supplied the fulcrum for this transaction.

At this point and after having spoken for two hours Mr. Morgan requested the privilege of taking his seat, while he continued his delivery. There was no objection and the venerable senator sat down, remarking under his breath as he did so, "My old limbs are getting as shaky under me as the Republican party must be in the presence of the truth."

Mr. Morgan reviewed at length the Colombian revolution of 1902, declaring that Marroquin's triumph was due not to his own prowess but to the assistance of the United States. "All along the line the president travels," he said, "lead to the Panama Canal, but some of his discreet friends should caution him not to burn the bridges after him. That war had, he said, deserved the condemnation of all Christendom by reason of Marroquin's conduct and yet knowing this conduct was such as would have done discredit to the bearer of a scalping knife or tomahawk, the United States was the first of that long list to recognize the conflict. He referred especially to Marroquin's confiscatory depredations and said that President Roosevelt must have known of them.

Long Speech Concluded.

At this point and after speaking for about three hours, Mr. Morgan concluded his prepared speech by saying that he had no objection to the adoption of the motion to make the committee assignments which motion had been utilized by him as the basis for his speech.

Mr. Hanna challenged the statement of Mr. Morgan that President McKinley had been favorable to the Nicaragua route.

"I know of my own personal knowledge," he said, "that when, in 1899, it became known that the Panama Company's property could be purchased, he gave the question serious consideration and investigation at his instance provision was made in the river and harbor bill for an appropriation of $100,000 for the investigation of all routes. That this request was made because of his interest in the Panama proposition I know of my own personal knowledge. President McKinley had decided to follow the recommendation of his commission and that is what the present executive is doing. So far as I know that there has been no change in policy."

Mr. Morgan replied that he had spoken only from the public record of President McKinley and not from knowledge of his private views. "I know," he said, "that he entered into contracts with Nicaragua and Costa Rica to secure the Nicaragua route, and there is no record to show that he changed his mind."

High Price Deterred McKinley.

Mr Hanna: "It is incorrect to say that McKinley preferred Nicaragua. I know better. It was only the high price of the Panama property that deterred him."

At the request of Mr. Spooner the vote on the committee assignment motion and also that on the motion to reconsider the vote to refer the Newlands resolution were postponed until tomorrow.

THE BUSINESS SIDE OF SOME PUBLIC QUESTIONS

Senator Foraker Shows Where Commercialism and Patriotism Go Hand in Hand.

Joseph B. Foraker, United States senator from Ohio, made the address of the evening. His subject was "The Business Side of Some Public Questions." His speech in full follows:

This is a non-partisan occasion. I would not violate its proprieties by discussing any political question from a partisan standpoint.

What I shall say will not, therefore, have any reference to the attitude of the respective political parties toward the subjects I may mention, but will be prompted solely by the business aspects which they suggest.

Speaking in this way, I shall say something about the improvement of the Ohio river, the construction of an isthmian canal, the recognition of the republic of Panama, our acquisition of Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines, and what we should do with them.

The great aggregate of the production of the American people amounts to the almost inconceivable sum of $20,000,000,000 annually. For this enormous production we have a home market that consumes about nineteen-twentieths of it, but for more than $1,000,000,000 of this production we must find foreign markets.

The development of our resources, the multiplication of our industries and the augmentation of our productive power are rapidly increasing.

Consequently the time is not far distant when we shall have, if we go on at the present rate of progression, a far larger surplus to sell abroad than we now have.

Looking for Foreign Markets.

The question of foreign markets is, therefore, one that should be giving us some concern, for it is one that affects directly, not only every business man, but also every farmer and every wage-worker throughout the length and breadth of our country.

Unless we can find markets for our surplus we will not long produce it, for men cannot afford to produce what they cannot sell.

Accordingly as we fail to find foreign markets for our surplus its production will be restricted, involving thereby a corresponding restriction of the further investment of capital, the extension of industries and the employment of labor.

The great question of markets that concerns us, therefore, is:

First—How can we bring the whole of our country to a fairly equal enjoyment of that advantage of relative nearness now confined to the Pacific coast; and Second—How can we best develop and build up American trade in the oriental countries.

With respect to this whole matter we should do have an intelligent policy. In the first place, not alone for the purposes of national defense, but for commercial purposes as well, we propose to construct an isthmian canal; and in order that the benefits of it may inure as nearly as possible to our whole people, we propose to improve the Ohio river and all other important tributaries to the gulf.

With a stage of water in the Ohio river never less than nine feet, this whole Ohio valley will be practically as near to China and Japan for commercial purposes as the Pacific slope, and from a commercial fair terms of equality with the Atlantic seaboard for European trade, and thus will the whole country be put upon substantial equality of advantage with respect to foreign markets.

I shall not take time to discuss the Ohio river improvement, because, in the first place, you are already familiar with it; and, because, in the second place, I refer to it only to show how, as a part of a great policy, it fits in with a general plan of intelligent public work.

I dismiss it, therefore, with the single remark that you, who are directly interested in it, should see to it that it is so far pressed upon the attention of congress as to secure its further progress and completion concurrently with the progress and completion of the Isthmian canal. When the one is finished and ready for use, the other should be.

Neither shall I stop to discuss the necessity for an isthmian canal. This has been under consideration, in at least a general way, for almost a century, and in a rather special way from time to time, for the last 50 years. All classes and all sections seem to be now alive to its importance and in earnest about its construction, particularly so since our experience with the Oregon, at the beginning of the Spanish-American war.

As the people awaited the arrival of that ship in Cuban waters with fear and apprehension that it would come too late to join in our defense against the fleet of Cervera, they settled it irrevocably that the canal should be built without unnecessary delay, and that it should be an American enterprise, built by the United States government, with American money and under American control. Having reached that determination the first thing in order was to clear the way for action.

The Clayton-Bulwer Treaty.

In 1850 the Clayton-Bulwer treaty between England and the United States was adopted, by which the two countries were committed to a sort of a copartnership in the enterprise. On this account we could not proceed without the consent of England unless that treaty could be abrogated or superceded by another. It was a long, tedious negotiation, but finally the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was superceded by the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, under which we were freed from all embarrassing obligations.

In the meanwhile, recognizing the great importance of the subject, the president was given authority to appoint a commission to visit the isthmus and make a careful examination of all the routes that have been proposed, and report as to which was the most feasible. At the same time agreements were entered into by protocols, duly signed, with Nicaragua, Costa Rica and the United States of Columbia, setting forth, in general terms, the conditions upon which the routes through their respective countries might be utilized by the United States.

The report of the commission was of such character as to limit our choice to the Panama and the Nicaragua routes, and after careful investigation and thorough discussion the congress adopted the Panama in preference to the Nicaragua.

It may not be without interest to mention some of the reasons for this preference. While the engineering difficulties of the two routes seemed to be substantially equal, the Nicaragua route had in its favor a better climate and for a long portion of the year New York and San Francisco a line about 500 miles shorter.

Panama Route the Shortest.

But the Panama route has in its favor the fact that the canal itself, when it is constructed, will be so much shorter that a ship can pass through it in 11 hours, while it will require 33 hours to pass through the Nicaragua canal. The Nicaragua was at the further disadvantage of having curves much sharper than those of the Panama. In addition the harbors of the Nicaragua at both Greytown and Brito were inadequate in their natural condition, and it was estimated that the proper maintenance and operation of the canal over that route would cost annually $1,300,000 more than it would cost over the Panama route.

Again, the Panama can be made, if we see fit to spend the additional money necessary, a sea level canal, thus getting rid of all locks and dams, with their consequent delays, while Nicaragua never can be made a sea-level canal at any cost. These are only a few of the advantages that induced us to decide in favor of the Panama route.

When that selection was made negotiations were at once commenced between the government of the United States of Colombia and our government, on the basis of the protocol previously entered into, for a treaty under which we should be granted all necessary concessions and rights.

In this negotiation it developed that the government of Colombia was not willing to embody in a treaty the terms it had named in the protocol. It demanded a number of disagreeable changes, among them an increase of the cash payment from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000. Our government desiring to deal fairly and generously in the matter and anxious to make progress, finally yielded, and a treaty was signed which was supposed to be in all its terms and conditions perfectly satisfactory to Colombia, for in that treaty every demand insisted upon by Colombia was granted.

Colombia's Peculiar Actions.

After a long debate the treaty was ratified by the senate of the United States. It was then sent to the United States of Colombia for ratification. After months of delay it was finally rejected by that government without any formal consideration, and without any explanation, except only that which was informally announced that the government of Colombia had concluded that instead of the $10,000,000 in cash, and the yearly quotas under the treaty we ought to pay her at least $25,000,000, and that other terms and conditions should be exacted to which it would be impossible for our government to accede. Under the legislation enacted by the congress the president had a right, after the lapse of a reasonable time, to adopt the Nicaragua route, if he found it impossible to secure the Panama route, and proceed with its construction.

Before he had taken any action under this provision the department of Panama, which was a part of the territory of the United States of Colombia, on the third day of this month, seceded and set up an independent government. Our government four days later, on the 7th day of November, recognized that government as de facto government of Panama, and has since received its minister and has recognized it as a government de jure.

It has been said that President Roosevelt made use of force to grant this recognition. There is no excuse for such a statement. He did not waste any time; he never does; neither did he act without precedents. In a number of cases our recognition of new governments has been quite as prompt, and in some of them even more prompt.

Panama composes all the territory of the United States of Colombia on the isthmus. It is the only part of the soil of the United States of Colombia to which our duty attaches and our duty does attach to that particular territory, because there is where the isthmian transit which we are to guard is located, and that duty will remain confined to that locality irrespective of the question whether Panama continues a part of Colombia or maintains her independence.

It has been charged in a false and groundless way that the United States government connived or intrigued with Panama to bring about the action she has taken. There is no truth whatever in such assertion. Such connivance and intrigue were not only improper, but from the beginning manifestly impossible. The refusal of Colombia to ratify the treaty under which the canal was to be constructed was, under all the circumstances, not only a breach of faith towards the United State, but an incalculable outrage upon Panama. By such action, had Panama remained a part of Colombia, it was made impossible for the United States to construct the canal over the Panama route.

We were thereby driven, if we constructed the canal at all, to the Nicaragua route, to the irreparable prejudice, loss and injury of Panama. It is no wonder that under such circumstances, provoked by such an act, Panama should take the action she did.

Dominate the Caribbean Sea.

With Porto Rico under our flag, and with the great naval stations and military reservations for which we have made provision in Cuba, we will dominate and control the Caribbean sea almost as completely as Gibraltar ever controlled the Mediterranean, while with the acquisition of the Danish and other islands of the West Indies that are naturally and surely gravitating toward us, that control will be made practically complete.

The importance of this character, to provide for the national defense, and to make it possible with safety to construct a great world work for the benefit of this world's commerce, as well as our own, all our recent acquisitions have been made. They cost but little—measured by their importance practically nothing—but the question of their cost was scarcely considered. We annexed them because their were deemed essential to the proper execution of a great policy, founded in wisdom and patriotism, and without thought or purpose of greed, selfishness or imperialism.

In precisely the same spirit the Philippines were acquired. We not only need an interoceanic canal to enable us to get to the orient, but we need the oriental markets when we arrive there.

Crime Against Our Millions.

For us to haul down our flag and bring away our army and navy and abandon the Philippines would be to surrender all chance for equality of opportunity in the development of the new markets of the world. This would be worse than mere folly. It would be little, if at all, short of the greatest crime against the toiling millions in the fields, in the shops and factories of America; for such a surrender would sacrifice our chance to fairly share those markets and thus necessitate a corresponding restriction of our industries in their energies and capacities. As a mere question of world politics we could not afford any such backward step. It would write us down as a weak and halting and vacillating people.

Neither could we in honor take any such action, because of the obligations we have assumed for the faithful discharge of which we will be compelled to remain there for at least a good many years to come. I cannot on this occasion discuss those aspects of the case. I refer to them only to show that they unite with our highest business interests to command us to remain where the fortunes of war have not unfortunately but most happily placed us.

Let us, therefore, take courage for the tasks we have undertaken, assured that if we but go forward in the noble spirit which great events have set our feet there will be until long after "our day and generation" everything field for the investment of capital and the employment of labor, and the consequent increase of national wealth, happiness, honor and power that will surpass the expectations of the most sanguine believers in the destiny and ultimate greatness and grandeur of the American people.

GOV. PENNYPACKER FOR A GREATER PITTSBURGH

Believes It Can Be Made the Chief City of the Western Hemisphere.

Judge Buffington paid a high tribute to the character of Gov. Pennypacker, in introducing him to the banquetters.

The governor opened his address by saying humorously, "Owing to your kindness I sit underneath my own flag, although with that propensity for extension of its jurisdiction which the United States court has ever displayed, Judge Buffington has succeeded in securing the most of it." (Laughter.)

Gov. Pennypacker referred to the lumber of great men Pennsylvania has produced—statesmen, warriors and authors, and said: "What Pennsylvania most needs is an increase of her patriotic sentiment and of her pride as a state. She does not lack in achievement." He continued:

There is much about this town of Pittsburgh which ought to awaken the patriotic sentiment of the people and of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It is the head of the greatest river of the whole world (applause); it is named for the most intelligent and most distinguished of all the English statesmen. (Applause.) Further than that, America who stands highest and foremost in the whole history of this country and in the eyes of all the world, won his early reputation; I refer to George Washington. (Applause.) It was the center of that contest between the greatest of the monarchies of Europe, France and England, for the possession of this continent in the early days of its history.

The line of the French and its left at Quebec; it had its right at New Orleans, but the center was Fort Duquesne. (Applause.) Around that fort and in its immediate neighborhood were fought the battles in that tremendous struggle, involving the destinies of a nation, than around any other point in all of the American colonies. Fort Necessity, Braddock's Field, Fort Duquesne, under the command of Gen. Ford and that decisive victory of Gen. Bouquet at Bushy Run.

Pittsburgh has had a rebellion all its own. Lee, Stuart, Jackson and Jefferson Davis have established, may be are entitled to admiration in the effort they made to overthrow the forces of the United States government. But this town in the latter days of the eighteenth century built itself against the system of which the outcome of a taste among its people, inherited from their Scotch-Irish ancestors. It was a case in those days of liquidation (laughter and applause) similar to that which has happened upon occasions since.

Nor have you been without your distinguished ones in literature. I have brought with me the poems of David Bruce. It may be you have never heard of him. They were printed in the town of Washington in 1801. And I may say to you, that treating as they do, not only of the political struggles of the time, but of the beauties of your scenery and of the merits of your orchards, they are entirely worthy of your thought and your admiration.

But in remembering the importance of a correct sentiment, we should remember that in the development of human civilization there must be material success.

Today whatever may be said of sentiment the course world measures success by the accumulation of riches. Around this town or Pittsburgh are the deposits of iron, of coal, of oil, and as the chiefs of her commercial and manufacturing success she has produced the most marvellous example in Andrew Carnegie (applause).

Plea for Greater Pittsburgh.

There is a law of human development which leads necessarily to combination. It is necessary for the affairs of men, for their conduct upon broad lines, that they should be united in effort. What has occurred in New York when she recently absorbed Brooklyn, what has occurred in Chicago, when she took into her embrace the whole of Cook county, must inevitably happen in this town of Pittsburgh. (Cheers and applause.)

Pittsburgh is now standing upon a pathway. In the near are several communities, diverse, different, contentious, dis-united and therefore ineffective. At the other end of that path toward which your eyes are turned is one great municipality, at the head of them all (applause). It is not for you alone. When you fulfill your destiny you will have helped the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania, of which we all ought to be proud, for all the commonwealths of this great country it is the only one which has a great municipality not only at its eastern and but at its western end as well (applause). When you have done that you will have started Pittsburgh upon that career which I believe to be her destiny, seated as she is, where she is, with all these tremendous advantages around her: you will have started her upon that career which I mean that she is to be the foremost of all the western American cities. (Applause.) And you will have done much to aid the commonwealth of Pennsylvania in reaching that position which belongs to her inevitably of being the first and foremost of the American commonwealths, not only in achievement, as she is, but in population, as she ought to be. (Applause.)

ANOTHER ARGUMENT FOR A GREATER CITY

Pittsburgh Ranks Ninth in Postoffice Statistics, but It Should Be Sixth.

Second Assistant Postmaster General W. S. Shallenberger, who was formerly a member of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce, spoke feelingly of that body, and continued:

In the published list of postoffices for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, Pittsburgh appears as No. 9. It should be No. 6, and the order should be as follows: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis and Pittsburgh. It will be observed, however, that the other great cities include the counties in their territorial limits, and if Pittsburgh included the whole of Allegheny county its gross postal revenue for the past year would be in round figures $2,000,000.

But it is not alone in gross revenue that Pittsburgh has a creditable record. The administration of her local office has been efficient and economical. In Chicago the gross receipts have increased 79 per cent in the last six years; in Philadelphia 66 per cent, and in Pittsburgh 53 per cent. And, while receipts have increased, expenses have diminished in the following ratio: Chicago, from 44 to 48 per cent, a decrease of 4 per cent; while Pittsburgh shows a decrease of 11 per cent, from 44 to 33.

During this period all transportation interests have undergone important changes. Six years ago it is estimated that 270 tons of mail matter went through Pittsburgh daily. Today the volume is 400 tons, sufficient to make a wagon train a mile and a half long. Six years ago twelve postal cars would have cast were adequate to carry the Pittsburgh mail. Today it requires 25 cars. Six years ago it was impossible for New York mail to reach Pittsburgh for delivery in Pittsburgh. At present mail is dispatched from New York at 6 p. m., arrives in Pittsburgh at 5:35, in ample time for first delivery.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TRIBUTE TO PITTSBURGH

Region Around the City Is Peculiarly and Distinctively American.

But four letters of regret were read by Secretary George H. Anderson, and the sentiments they expressed were received with enthusiastic applause. The letters were as follows:

White House, Washington, D. C.,
November 17, 1903.

My Dear Sir—I wish it were in my power to be present at the banquet of the chamber of commerce at Pittsburgh. It is perhaps not too much to say there is in all our country no center of industries more peculiarly and distinctly American in its growth and development than the region around Pittsburgh. Where such is the case we naturally look toward you for initiative and leadership in all matters pertaining to our industrial welfare and commercial greatness as a nation. Under such circumstances, it is with real regret that I find myself debarred from being with you. Wishing you heartily well, I am sincerely yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

No. 2 East Ninety-first Street.
New York, November 18, 1903.

Dear Mr. Anderson—I deeply regret that I cannot accept your flattering invitation to be guest of honor at your forthcoming banquet. It is surprising what influence the united chambers of comerce of Great Britain have and exert. These bodies are now composed, as a rule, of the very foremost citizens of each community, and the New York chamber of commerce is, and as I doubt not your Pittsburgh chamber of comerce is also. At least, if it is not completely so now, those who are foremost in its management will soon have it so. Pittsburgh stands for great manufacturing city, and the word "commerce" scarcely embraces this. It might not be unwise to add to your title "Chamber of commerce and manufactures," and so include the foremost citizens in each line. With cordial congratulations upon the unbounded prosperity which Pittsburgh has been enjoying in recent years, and with the greatest confidence, now as always, I am, with renewed thanks, very truly yours,

ANDREW CARNEGIE.

Vicksburg, Miss., November 11, 1903.

My Dear Mr. Anderson—I beg to acknowledge your esteemed favor of the 5th inst. and through you to thank the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce for their kind invitation to attend their annual banquet on the 27th inst. I especially desire to thank you for the very courteous manner in which you have conveyed this invitation to me. If it were possible for me to be present certainly should, but my time is now fully taken up with the demands of my profession. I was so long identified with the plans for the improvement of the Ohio river, and the canalization of the Monongahela river, in which Pittsburgh has so great an interest, that I should feel as an old friend among old friends if I were with the chamber of commerce. I am sure that I should enjoy their hospitality, and I am sure that the occasion would be most delightful and instructive. Please express to the chamber of commerce my regret that I am compelled to decline its invitation, and accept for yourself the assurances of, my continued high esteem and regard. Yours very truly,

T. C. CATCHINGS.

Department of Commerce and Labor,
Washington, D. C.,
November 17, 1903.

My Dear Sir—In addition to my formal reply to the invitation of your chamber of commerce to be present at its annual banquet on November 24, I write to assure you that the courtesy extended to me is greatly appreciated, and that, if circumstances permitted, it would give me particular pleasure to be with you at the time you mention. Owing to many important matters requiring my attention in connection with the organization and administration of the new department, I shall not feel at liberty to make any engagements of this kind for the immediate future. You are aware, I am sure, how desirous I am to extend to the world of commercial representative organizations as your chamber of commerce, and that it would afford me much satisfaction to be able to avail myself of the opportunity to meet personally your members and of expressing to them the department's need of their hearty co-operation in its efforts to foster and promote the important interests of commerce and industry. It is, therefore, with keen regret that I find myself unable to accept your invitation. With cordial thanks for your kindness, and best wishes for the success of the banquet, believe me, very truly yours,

GEO. B. CORTELYOU.

GUESTS AT THE BANQUET.

Greater Pittsburgh's Representative Men Were Gathered Around the Board.

It was a representative gathering that attended the chamber of commerce banquet, as maf be seen by the following list of guests:

SAID SCHWAB WAS A BRIBER

Charles M. Schwab's Letters.

New York, May 26, 1903.

Joseph H. Hoadley, New York, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—Providing the United States Shipbuilding reorganization is perfected, I hereby guarantee to take and pay for $100,000 of first mortgage bonds of the United States Shipbuilding Company, 25,000 shares of preferred and 25,000 shares of common stock for the sum of $50,000, plus interest on said bonds, on or before December 1, 1903. Said bonds and stocks to be deposited with Messrs. Marshall & Broadway, N. Y., and to be exchanged for securities of the reorganized company, as designated by agreement issued by the reorganization committee.

Very truly yours,
C. M. SCHWAB.

The second letter, which was later admitted as evidence, is as follows:

New York N. Y., May 26, 1903.

Mr. Joseph H. Hoadley, New York, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—Providing the United States Shipbuilding Company reorganization is perfected, I hereby guarantee to take to our order $40,000, amount of payment which has been made to Sheldon syndicate on a subscription of $100,000 made by Lewis Nixon. I also agree to have said Nixon pay this sum to my account and guarantee to have a complete release issued to said Nixon by said Sheldon syndicate.

CHARLES M. SCHWAB.

"After the date of these letters did or did not Mr. Hoadley get you to accept this plan?" asked Mr. Untermyer. Mr. Nixon explained in answer that Mr. Hoadley advised him to consent to the Sheldon reorganization because Mr. Schwab had refused to accept the assessment plan and that he (Mr. Nixon) had thereupon written a letter recommending the Sheldon plan.

These letters were not read, but were admitted as part of the record, and are as follows:

"SEPTEMBER 4, 1903.

"Charles M. Schwab, Esq.,

"Dear Mr. Schwab:

"I beg to inclose herewith a letter received by me from the United States Shipbuilding Company securities managers making another call on the subscribers to this agreement, as you agreed you would assume this particular subscription. In this particular instance, however, I do not ask that you should assume the $40,000 already paid, but simply the remaining subscriptions and then divide the securities which are represented in the total cash paid in in proportion to accounts paid.

"Yours truly,
"LEWIS NIXON."

SEPTEMBER 10, 1903.

Charles M. Schwab,
71 Broadway, New York.

Lewis Nixon, Esq.,
My Dear Mr. Nixon,

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of September 4th, 1903. My agreement was that upon the consummation of the proposed plan of reorganization I would advance the amount of any calls the syndicate managers might make, and take the proportion of the new securities represented thereby. At that time it was contemplated that with the co-operation of all interests, the plan would be speedily carried through. I never intended or agreed to increase my interests in the syndicate or in the properties except upon the proposed plan of reorganization being successfully consummated.

In the meantime and in view of the opposition now existing I see no reason why I should modify the agreement I made.

Yours truly,
C. M. SCHWAB.

Bethlehem Paid Nothing.

"As to my deriving any profit from the transaction, that is nonsense," said Mr. Nixon. "The transaction concerned others and I prefer that they should tell it."

Mr. Untermyer took up the matter of the additional compensation demanded by the Trust Company of the Republic for its services and witness testified to the issuance of $5,000,000 additional stock at the reorganization. Of this stock it was brought out that Max Pam obtained $1,000,000. Mr. Nixon and Mr. Dresser $1,000,000 each and Trust Company of the Republic $1,000,000. Mr. Nixon said he did not know what disposition was made of the other million.

"Did Mr. Schwab get it"

"I do not know."

Mr. Nixon testified that he wrote his letter of June 8, 1903, to Mr. Schwab because of Mr. Schwab's agreement to take up the bonds for which he (Nixon) had subscribed. A letter to John W. Young, dated May 18, 1903, to Mr. Schwab was then offered in evidence. "The Bethlehem Company," he said, "paid to the Shipbuilding Company, of the $1,350,000 in cash working capital agreed upon, not one cent."

The Bethlehem Company under the agreement that the shipbuilding companies should purchase material from the Bethlehem Company, had fixed prices for forgings and other materials so high that some of the constituent companies had objected and had been given permission by Mr. Nixon to place contracts elsewhere. Mr. Schwab was the dominant factor in the Bethlehem Steel Company.

Mr. Nixon today gave out the following letter:

Man Who Barred Schwab.

Philadelphia, Nov. 13, 1903.

Mr. Lewis Nixon, New York, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—Regarding my understanding with Mr. Charles M. Schwab as to plan of reorganization proposed for the Shipbuilding Company at the time you came to me in distress, I have to say that inasmuch as I am, at the present time, ill, it will be impossible for me to lend you or Mr. Schwab any assistance in untangling this unfortunate affair. I have made copies of the correspondence had between Mr. Schwab and myself which took place at the time I was endeavoring to arrive at an amicable understanding with him as to whether he would pay his assessment on the controlling exchange of stock he told me he held.

You understand that all of my propositions to Mr. Schwab were predicated on the condition that Mr. Schwab would not take charge of the financial operation of the deal, and even now if you could disentangle this matter and allow your stockholders a right to go in on the reorganization by paying a small assessment, I would have my associates join you and furnish the $1,000,000 cash that you would require under your original plan of reorganization, always assuming, of course, that Mr. Sheldon will be in the saddle and hostile to the financial end of the new corporation.

I would suggest that you arrange to see him, or have someone else see him regarding this matter, as I will be glad to assist you in your earnest efforts to rehabilitate the property at the least loss to the security holders.

Your criticism of me in influencing you to approve of reorganization is unjust, as I did it for your best interests, and it was after Mr. Schwab agreed to all he did and with the best favor possible that I brought you the letter which you signed as requested by me, and which that night I sent to Mr. Schwab's house, and, as stated, it was after Mr. Schwab had agreed to comply with my request in order to protect me from censure in the case of advances which had been made, and were to be made to you at that time, under any other consideration I could not, in justice to myself, have anything to do with the transaction whatever. Yours very truly,

JOSEPH H. HOADLEY.

More Secrets Revealed.

The agreement of July 2, 1903, between Nixon, Dresser and Schwab, providing that Schwab should loan to Nixon and Dresser $7,245,871 to purchase the Bethlehem stock from J. P. Morgan & Company, as syndicate managers, in return for which Schwab was to receive $15,000,000 in stock and $10,000,000 in bonds was introduced in evidence at this point. Mr. Nixon testifying that he had always understood that Schwab and not Morgan & Company owned the Bethlehem stock.

Receipts from Schwab, per attorney and J. P. Morgan & Company acknowledging the delivery on August 12 of 75,000 and 25,000 shares preferred stock and the same amount of common respectively were introduced in evidence as was the Trust Company of the Republic check for $750,000 in favor of Harris, Gates & Company, to provide working capital for the company and a copy of the memorandum of commitments, showing the arrangements for the division of the shipbuilding securities allotted as profits of the Trust Company of the Republic, promoters John W. Young and others.

A resolution of the shipbuilding directors adopted in January, 1903, stating that legal steps should be taken to recover Shipbuilding securities to the amount of $700,000 in bonds and $3,600,000 stock from the Trust company for the rightful owner, the shipbuilding company was read, but Mr. Nixon could not say that any legal action had ever been undertaken in connection therewith.

After devoting some time to a discussion of the real value of the constituent plants and the reasonableness of the prices paid for them the hearing was adjourned until Tuesday, December 8.

ORPHANS WILL NAME THEIR MEN

Fourteenth Ward Waifs Are to Select Councilmanic Candidates on Tuesday Night.

GUESSES ON THE TICKET

The Orphans' councilmanic ticket in the Fourteenth ward will be formally launched at a meeting to be held in the Soho school house Tuesday night. A good guess on the make-up a week in advance includes the names of W. H. Stevenson, John Dimling, P. H. Lind and Michael McMorris. The latter is a Democrat.

There will be a secret meeting of the Orphans' ward committee at the Bellefield school Friday evening. At that caucus the ticket will practically be selected. This is to be followed by a suggestion meeting at the Soho school on Tuesday evening. Orphans will be permitted to make suggestions, but the voting will be done by the members of the ward committee. The committee has power to reject any or all suggestions.

The ward committee organized at the Bellefield school last night by the election of W. J. Moore, chairman; Joseph Painter, vice chairman; H. E. Goldman, secretary, and George F. Kimm, treasurer. There was no opposition to any of the candidates.

Members of the Ward Committee.

The ward committee is complete with the exception of the first district and these vacancies will be filled at once. The committee in addition to conducting the campaign makes all the nominations. The following are the members:

Second district, P. H. Land; C. F. Purnell, J. W. Wall; Third, W. G. Mahaffey, H. E. Goldman, Simon Mathies; Fourth, Emil Mathies, E. Greenawalt, Ed Blakley; Fifth, James Gray, Simon Davis, J. H. Dunlap; Sixth, R. W. Jones, John Mellen, G. A. Greer; Seventh, W. S. Foringer, R. M. Smith, T. C. McKee; Eighth, H. E. Pfeifer, J. W. Radebaugh, William Hoffeld; Ninth, Joseph Painter, T. W. Robertshaw, Louis Keidel; Tenth, George F. Kim, W. J. Moore, R. G. Dougherty; Eleventh, Thomas Stewart, A. Allen, R. Wilkinson; Twelfth, W. H. Stevenson, C. Scully, A. W. Biggin; Thirteenth, F. A. Day, Howard Graham, C. R. Carson; Fourteenth, James Finn, John Bissell, Thomas McGall; Fifteenth, Henry Rosenfelder, Charles Frebenshauser; Lawrence McDonald, sixteenth, Harry McNally, William Barnes, Patrick Joyce.

W. H. Stevenson did not attend the meeting last night. Controller John B. Larkin was also absent. There were a number of Orphans not members of the committee at the gathering.

Denial From Stevenson.

Chairman Moore made a little speech in which he paid his compliments to the men who conducted the last fight for the Citizens. He said that his leadership was opposed by councilmen who were afraid that he would fight them for re-election.

"Men who broke the platform pledges of 1902 are not fit to represent this ward in councils," said he.

Later in the meeting Moore said that he had been asked by Councilman Stevenson to deny an interview printed in a Citizens paper yesterday morning. The councilman was quoted as saying that if Bigelow passes the railroad and other legislation demanded, the Orphans will return to the Citizens party. Moore announced that this is what Stevenson did say:

"If the Citizens had passed the legislation the people wanted, there would have been no necessity for the Orphans party. The Orphans' party is here to stay."

During the meeting much bitterness cropped out toward Councilman John Lauler. D. F. Crawford and Christ Beckert. Attention was called to the fact that it would be well to guard against friends of these men taking part in the suggestion meeting Tuesday night. Moore explained that the committee made the nominations and it would be sure that the nominees are Orphans.

Some Names Suggested.

Chairman Moore came near causing a little trouble when he suggested that it would be wise to have a secret caucus of the ward committeemen to talk over the ward nominations. Many of the people present thought it would be better to have a ward meeting where names could be suggested and nominations made. Finally both plans were adopted, but the caucus comes first. The ticket will be agreed upon Friday night, but it will not be formally announced until Tuesday.

It was suggested that a good many people were present and it might be well to receive suggestions for councilmen. This was done and the following men were named and then Moore said that he thought it would be wise to leave the balance of the suggestions until Tuesday: W. H. Stevenson, John Dimling, P. H. Lind, Michael McMorris, A. C. Shaw, Austin Bailey, A. G. Bixler, George C. Burgwin, John F. Moore and J. F. McManus. At the Tuesday meeting two candidates for school director and the other ward and district nominees will be named.

Lind, who will probably be named as one of the candidates for councilman, is a business man. Like Stevenson, he is a member of the ward committee and held membership in the old Citizens party organization. McMorris is a well-known Democrat and a contractor. He is being placed on the ticket to offset the selection of James Kane, who is likely to be named by the Citizens. They live in the same end of the ward.

BIGELOW MADE PROMISES.

Citizens Leader Told Larkin He Would Help to Reduce Tax Levy.

Controller John B. Larkin said yesterday that Thomas S. Bigelow had again promised him that the pledges of the Citizens members of councils would assist in reducing the tax rate for next year. The controller talks of cutting the tax levy for 1904 down to 12 mills, and possibly less, and he says Mr. Bigelow promised to support such a program.

If the tax rate should be fixed as low as 12 mills, councils have recourse to a bond issue in the event of a deficiency such as occurred this year. When the appropriations for this year were being made up last winter the director of public safety asked for at least $200,000 more for the bureau of health than was given him by the finance committee. His request was denied, but a couple of months ago the appropriation for the health bureau ran short and councils issued bonds to the sinking fund for $225,000 to supply the deficit.

BOOKMAKER WANTS TO SELL A FINGER

Needs the Money to Return to New Orleans and Make a Fresh Start.

NEW NOSE HAS WORN WELL

"I am an old bookmaker, have followed the races for years, and I am in hard luck. I want to get to New Orleans and get back on my feet. You can take any of my fingers for the 500."

Such was the statement of a well-dressed, middle-aged man, at the office of A. Span, McClintock building, yesterday. He was one of the many who had read an advertisement in The Sunday Gazette asking for a suitable man who would sell his middle digit for $500.

Up to noon yesterday, over 300 answers to this advertisement had been received. Some who were very anxious to dispose of their fingers replied to the advertisement by special delivery letters. Among the number were young men and old men, men of all conditions, classes and nationalities.

But the proper finger was selected Monday and the many applicants yesterday had to be turned away. The finger is to be used to graft a new nose on a prominent Philadelphia merchant, who does not want his name known. The operation will be performed about December 3. The man who is to furnish the finger will enter into a written contract with the men who offered the money.

Fearing lest some might doubt that such an operation can be accomplished B. Carmody, who has been on the Pittsburgh police force for many years, appeared at Mr. Span's office yesterday and said: "You can use my name. I was without a nose for nearly 50 years. That man there put this one on for me last June. It is as good as new. I have a neighbor on the South Side who got a new nose the same way."

SALARY REVISION BILLS COME UP ON FRIDAY

Finance Committee of Select Council to Consider Wage Increase of Firemen.

The finance committee of select council has been called by Chairman Samuel J. Wainwright to hold a meeting on Friday afternoon to consider the salary revision bills for the three departments of the city government, which have been passed by the common branch. The salary bills include the blanket clause for the departments of public works and charities, which excited a great deal of opposition in the lower branch and were passed only after a written opinion from the city solicitor had been furnished.

The ordinances provide for an increase in the salaries of the firemen, to put them on an equal footing with the police force, which was granted an increase early in the year. They also provide more money for a number of other employes of the public safety, public works and charities.

The finance committee also has possession of the resolution providing for the reapportionment of common council. The bill has been in the hands of the committee since last July.

A Conservative Investment.

Your money safely deposited and earning for you 4 per cent interest, compounded twice yearly, is certainly much more satisfactory than having it placed in a doubtful investment with a promise of large returns that rarely materialize. This is why an investment account with the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, Smithfield St., opposite postoffice, appeals so strongly to the conservative investor, particulars of which will be found in Booklet 26, mailed free on request.

Our Enlarged Restaurant.

Looking back only three or four years, the marvelous growth of our Restaurant to a public necessity is almost unbelievable. It has been repeatedly enlarged only to again foresee that another enlargement was necessary, until today we have thrown the greater portion of the sixth floor of the West Store into one vast dining-room for the accommodation of the public.

While the division of patronage is about equal between men and women, it is quite pleasing for us to say that ours is the only restaurant in the city where women feel free to come without escort. So far as the service is concerned, it is as nearly perfect as any public service can be. In the matter of cuisine, all the palatable delicacies of the season are always on the card. Our great specialty is the serving of Baltimore oysters fresh on the shell.

TOMORROW, THANKSGIVING DAY, THIS STORE WILL BE CLOSED.

And that puts us in mind that there are always a great lot of people who put off their buying for any special occasion until the last moment, just like people who wait until the bell rings to get aboard a car. This is a store for belated persons, as well as it is for people who, like the store itself, are first in everything. For the requisites of dress, both of the feminine and masculine order, there is everything that Fashion favors. All sorts of captivating furbelows for women, every style of neckwear for men, women's gloves in profusion, women's handkerchiefs in multiplicity of designs, ditto for men, and the greatest lot of millinery for women they ever looked upon. But let's go into detail more than merely itemizing such and such things. Some of the more prominent things on the boards for tomorrow—

Bewitching Millinery and its Underprices.

A very good adjective, indeed, for the hat or the toque that is not bewitching, is as nothing at all. Then, besides, these hats and toques are sold for fetching underprices. We don't suppose there was ever a handsomer lot of hats offered in this great city of Pittsburg for such small prices as those herewith quoted:

$1.00 for Trimmed Hats that were $2.50.
$2.25 for Trimmed Hats that were $5.00.
$3.50 for Trimmed Hats that were $7.50.
$5.00 for Trimmed Hats that were $10.00.
$7.50 for Trimmed Hats that were $15.00.
$10.00 for Trimmed Hats that were $20.00.

Now will any woman have the temerity to argue, be her purse ever so slender, that she cannot afford a pretty and stylish hat in which to step out tomorrow? Why, that would be absurd frugality. And $2.50 Trimmed Hats selling for only $1.00! The foregoing relates to women's hats, and while there are any number of hats in the collection suitable for young ladies that will set admirably on the heads of the younger set, quotations follow on the finer models of Girls' Trimmed Hats.

$5.00 for Trimmed Hats that were $10.00.
$7.50 for Trimmed Hats that were $15.00.
$10.00 for Trimmed Hats that were $20.00.

The women and the older girls are not to be alone in this special sale of trimmed millinery, not by any means. Note how we have reduced the prices on Young Girls' Hats.

50c for Ready-to-wear Hats, that were $1.00.
$1.00 for Ready-to-wear Hats that were $2.00.
$1.50 for Ready-to-wear Hats that were $2.50.

Any hour of the day we will be pleased to wait upon you, and will show you through our enlarged Millinery Department, third floor, West Store. We'll guarantee to have your selection home for you this evening before you are ready to sit down to dinner.

Women's Kid Gloves.

A well gloved hand is indicative of good dressing. An ill-fitting glove suggests carelessness. In buying your gloves here you may think the glove fits you perfectly—we may differ with you. We always have the last say about the fit of a glove. No glove goes out of this store unless it conforms to the outlines of the hand satisfactorily to you and to us.

Of course our greatest pride is in the kid gloves made by Jouvin & Cie and Reynier. We have a right to that pride, for they are the most notable gloves made of kid in the whole world.

We also have an equal pride in our great lines of gloves for $1.00 a pair, made to our own order by one of the most famous glove makers of France.

For $1.00. A perfect fitting two-clasp Glace Glove.
For $1.00. A perfect fitting two-clasp Mocha Glove.
For $1.00. Perfect fitting one-clasp Cape Glove.
For $1.00. The new and perfect fitting Slip-on Glove.

These $1.00 gloves come in black and all colors, and the Slip-On has neither button nor clasp.

Skating Tonight.

Thanks to the man who invented artificial ice, Duquesne Garden will open tonight for the season, and every young person knows what that means. Everything for the pleasure at lowest prices in our Basement, East Store.

Hockey Skates, $1.00 to $5.00 a pair.
Hockey Sticks, 75c and $1.00 each.
Hockey Pucks, 25c and 50c each.
Skate Straps, 10c and 15c each.

Boys' and Girls' Hockey Shoes, Shoe Department, Main Floor, East Store, $3.50 a pair.

Paper Patterns—McCall's.

Today we open our department of Paper Patterns, in which everything designed by the McCall Co., will always be found.

The department is situated on main floor, West Store, to left of rear arch leading to East Store, adjoining Cashier's Office.

That this will be pleasing news to women is conclusive from the many inquiries as to the opening day.

Men's and Boys' New Hats and New Neckwear.

Purchasing one begets a longing for the other, and we know of no place where men can find more variety in both accompaniments of dress than right here in the East Store.

In the Furnishing Store, immediately at the corner of Cecil Way and Penn Ave., East Store, there are all the styles in Neckwear that men like, beginning with the Four-in-Hand and the Scarf at 50c and running on up to as much as $3.00.

By the way, lots of men will want correct neckwear to fill up their evening dress tomorrow. It's here in proper tints of silk, at 50c and up to $1.50.

Then there are the dress shirts, they're here at $1.50 and $2.00.

So are the dress shirt protectors, $2.00 to $4.00.

How about the hat? After you have selected your dress fixings step into the elevator, right at the entrance to men's store, go to second floor and look over our styles of men's hats.

Derbies at $2.00, $3.00 and $4.00.
Soft Hats at $2.00, $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00.
Silk Hats at $5.00 and $6.00.
Opera Hats at $6.00 and $7.00.

The Victor Talking Machine.

What a pleasant way it is whiling away the time or entertaining friends of an evening. Would you listen to great operatic stars? Here's Caruso, the new tenor; Lucia, another noted tenor; the great Calve; Plancon, Pittsburg's favorite basso; Suzanne Adams, Pittsburg's favorite soprano; then there's Kubelik with his violin, the Pope's choir of Rome, and as for bands and orchestras, every noted organization, all right in your own home.

This Victor Talking Machine works as smoothly as any piece of mechanism you ever saw or heard. There is none of that buzzing or rasping sound, incident to many machines now on the market.

You can find out all about it and listen to the concerts in the Basement, East Store.

Girls' Coats Underpriced.

They're underpriced because the range of sizes is broken. If there is a girl in your family of 4 and up to 10 years, here is the opportunity to get her a fine coat at a considerable reduction.

For girls of 4 to 10 years, coats of kersey and cheviot, the collars trimmed with braid and some of the coats lined throughout. Although the former prices were $9.00 and $12.00, all we'll ask you to pay is $6.00.

For girls of 4 to 8 years, half length box coats of cheviot, either brown or blue, either with or without collars, former prices $12.00 and $15.00; our special price today, $8.00.

For girls of 4 to 10 years, winter coats of cheviot and kersey, brown, red, blue, lined throughout with satin, former prices $15.00 and $18.00; special today at $10.00.

Men's Gloves.

Every style of glove that men desire is exhibited in our Men's Furnishing Store, street floor, East Store. Among the newest are:

Mocha Gloves lined with silk, $1.00 to $2.00 a pair.
English Walking Gloves, made by Brettle, $2.00 a pair.
New Walking Gloves from Germany, $2.00 a pair.
New Silk lined Gloves, $2.50 a pair.
New Driving Gloves, made with double leather palm, $2.50 a pair.

Wednesday, November 25, 1903.

For the week ending November 21 there were 10 deaths from typhoid fever. Thus the mortality returns continue to fulfill the expectation that the copious drinking of city water, caused by hot weather, would be reflected in the fall mortality returns. It is pretty certain now that the typhoid fever death harvest for the year will exceed 500, at least 80 per cent of which could have been saved by purification of the water supply. There is no parallel in the civilized world to the present situation in Pittsburgh, but nothing whatever is being done about it and the municipal authorities are too busily occupied with faction politics to have any time to spare to give any attention to the quality of drinking water. There are no signs of any abandonment of the disgraceful practice of pumping polluted river water into the service mains for people to drink.

The parallel which opponents of the Panama policy of the administration are drawing between the attitude of our government toward Colombia and the attitude of foreign nations to this country when the southern states seceded, omit altogether one vital consideration which vitiates all such comparisons. If the United States had made a treaty vesting in England the right and duty of keeping open southern ports to commerce and maintaining unobstructed access the whole breadth of the south, and if consequently the country had broken up and reorganized under another name and constitution, can it be doubted that if another break-up had occurred and the south had split off and its recognition were indissolubly connected with the commercial neutrality under England's guardianship, that country would have refrained from doing what the United States is doing now in the case of Colombia? England stepped into Egypt to restore order without special warrant in treaty obligations, but from the paramount necessities created by the duty of protecting the Suez canal route, and she has controlled the administration of Egypt ever since, greatly to the benefit of that country and to the general advantage of civilization. The United States is doing in Panama what she ought to have done, and she would have deserved blame had she refrained from doing what she did, or been less vigorous and conclusive in the action taken.

Senator Morgan of Alabama has become a crank whose acts are not susceptible of rational interpretation. His maundering discourse upon the Panama question cannot be considered as a manifestation of Democratic policy, and, in fact, he intimated that he is a political free lance, remarking that he would not reverse his position at the instance of any party caucus. For a senator to get outside of party lines is unusual, but not unprecedented. Senator Calhoun occupied such a position for a long period, but in his day the idea that any senator could hold up the public business according to his own caprice or notions of convenience had not been developed. Calhoun held that a state could nullify the laws of the national government within its own borders. The doctrine of nullification, as now practically developed in the senate, permits any senator to suspend the law making power of the national government altogether until he gives his consent to action. This prerogative, of which the only historical precedent is the liberum veto of Poland, gives Morgan's position a significance which Calhoun's never possessed. By his own declaration his course is subject to no party responsibility, so that there is no constitutional agency which the will of the nation can use to overrule his action so long as the present monstrous license of senatorial privilege continues. Its existence is destructive of constitutional government.

It is difficult to understand successive developments in the far eastern situation. Probably there are no authoritative sources of news, as both Russian and Japanese rulers are adepts in keeping to themselves their real intentions. Simultaneously with the announcement from Washington that the danger of a collision appeared to have passed by, so that there was no longer any occasion for the naval strength which has been maintained in that region, alarmist reports come from the east in regard to Japanese naval maneuvers and a remarkably overt case of Russian interference with Korean policy is disclosed. It is stated that the Russian minister at the Korean capital has addressed a menacing note to the Korean government protesting against the opening of the port of Yongampho to foreign trade. This means that Russia, which possesses the land routes, purposes to make a Russian monopoly of Korean trade, which is a policy to which this country cannot submit. The circumstances plainly indicate that the United States can expect to have its commercial rights in the far east respected only to the extent that it is able to uphold them by force.

The recognition of the Republic of Panama by Germany and France is officially announced. The action of England has never been doubtful, as every important organ of public opinion has expressed gratification with the turn of affairs and applauded the course of our government. The only foes our government has to encounter are of its own household. The delay of the English government was prudent, as precipitancy might have ruffled continental susceptibilities, which are alert for indignations of Anglo-American concert of action. Moreover, it is quite possible that financial interests are making themselves felt and desire some assurances as to arrangements for the assumption by Panama of its proportion of the foreign indebtedness of Colombia, upon which that country has characteristically defaulted. Diminution of national resources by separatist movements is a contingency that must be taken into account in loans to Central and South American states, and the liability of Panama for any portion of the debt of Colombia, from which Panama reaped no benefit, is doubtful, but nothing would do more to strengthen the position of the new government and confirm it in the respect of the civilized world than voluntary assumption of a portion of the debt. The lump sum which Panama is to receive from the United States would afford the means of making an excellent investment in that direction.

Essentials of the Nation.

Always an event of importance, the annual dinner of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce last night was of particular interest. The speech of United States Senator Joseph Benson Foraker of Ohio touched matters of the utmost significance to Pittsburgh and to the nation. Mr. Foraker grouped them as Ohio river improvement, Panama canal and the commerce of the far east—all intimately associated as parts of one policy. Thus he sounded anew the slogan of the Ohio valley, "on to Panama."

American industrial development has astonished the world and has threatened to conquer the world. Germany has taken refuge behind a high tariff especially designed to exclude American products. Other European nations have resorted to the same means of protection as Mr. Chamberlain is now proposing in England to hamper the United States in our best market. If England is taken from us, says Senator Foraker, there is but one place in the world where we can hope to be compensated by new markets. That place is the far east. Markets are developing there that surpass any others, and America has a good footing in commerce and diplomacy.

In order to make the most of these new markets it is essential that there shall be a nine-foot channel, all the year around, from the Pittsburgh district to the Gulf of Mexico, and that the Panama canal shall be constructed without delay. This will put the vast central valley almost on a plane of equality with the Pacific coast in the trade of the orient and with the Atlantic seaboard in relation with Europe. Add to these things our position in the Philippines and the United States is prepared to compete and command its own in the far east. Senator Foraker is right and he takes the patriotic view. Panama, the Philippines and the improved Ohio are necessary to the welfare of this country.

New Government to Recognize.

Another revolution has ended in the surrender of San Domingo to the insurgents yesterday morning. President Wos y Gil, with his cabinet, took refuge on a German warship upon the surrender, since the San Dominican rules of war do not always protect a distinguished prisoner from violence. The close of this revolution, it may be taken for granted, is only preliminary to the beginning of another, and so it will go on until the United States or some other of the responsible nations disciplines the turbulent politicians of the island. Of course, if disciplinary measures are undertaken by the government at Washington, we may expect the usual lament from the American tories, who are ever ready to weep for the indignities imposed upon the "weaker nation," whether it happens to be headed at the moment by Jiminez, or Wos y Gil, or some other semi-colored brother with a comic opera name.

The Post of this city is a fair example of the tory press. Had it existed in the revolutionary period doubtless it would have been busy upbraiding George Washington for his "strenuousness" in marching the bare-footed continental army, bleeding, over the frozen ground. Unquestionally it would have thrown fits over the madcap vigor of Anthony Wayne and deplored the outrage of compelling that patrician gentleman, Lord Cornwallis, to relinquish his sword. Fortunately there was no Post at that time, though its likeness was found in that cattle-owning citizen so graphically described by Patrick Henry as "bawling through the American camp, 'beef! beef! beef.'"

Somehow or other, some day, the braggart little oligarchies which masquerade as republics will have to be taught their responsibilities as members of the family of nations. One lesson was administered to Haiti by Germany. Another was impressed upon Venezuela by Germany and Great Britain, though its significance appears to have been lost alike upon Castro and the American tories. It will be better for the little ones to be spanked in a fatherly way by their Uncle Sam, and it will be better for the United States to incur the displeasure of the spankees and the tories than to let matters drift until one of them has to be saved by a war with one of the first class powers.

A Political Turn-About.

The lines upon which the Democratic opposition is being conducted reveal an extraordinary change of front. In his speech upon the Cuban reciprocity bill, Mr. Williams, the Democratic leader in the house, quoted extensively from Jefferson in favor of commercial reciprocity between nations. As a means of promoting the commerce of the United States Jefferson proposed that foreign nations be invited to "concur with us in restricting the duties to be levied on each side, or in compensating any excess of duty by equivalent advantages of another nature." Mr. Williams contrasted these sentiments with an address issued by the American Protective Tariff league, denouncing Cuban reciprocity in particular and commercial reciprocity in general. The indications are plain that Democratic leadership is seeking to seize reciprocity as a party issue.

When reciprocity was a Republican party issue it was opposed by the Democratic party. The adoption of reciprocity as a feature of the protective tariff policy dates back to the memorable report of June 4, 1890, made to President Harrison by James G. Blaine, then secretary of state. It was directly due to Blaine's energetic efforts that the reciprocity section of the McKinley tariff bill was introduced as a senate amendment. The reciprocity agreements negotiated under that section were abolished by the Wilson tariff bill. The Republican national convention of 1896 declared:

"We believe that the repeal of the reciprocity arrangements negotiated by the last Republican administration was a national calamity and we demand their renewal and extension on such terms as will equalize our trade with other nations, remove the restrictions which now obstruct the sale of American products in the ports of other countries, and secure enlarged markets for the products of our farms, forests and factories."

In fulfillment of this party pledge the reciprocity section of the present tariff law was enacted. It has had no practical effect, the senate having refused to act upon any of the reciprocity agreements negotiated by the administration.

It is a curious turn-about that the Democratic party, which struck down reciprocity, should now pose as its champion.

Builders' Conference.

A conference is called for today between the Builders' league and the building trades leaders, and there are reports that the prospect is good for a settlement that will end the lockout. This is good news. While the lockout is causing no serious disturbance of other business, a resumption of building work on a basis of good understanding for the future will give an impetus to certain lines of industry. As The Gazette said in the beginning, the sympathetic strikes which caused the trouble were ill-advised, the state of the labor market being unfavorable to concessions and likely to become more so with the coming of cold weather.

Wise counsel should now prevail. Builders and building contractors have the same interest in encouraging a resumption of activity. Concessions have been made on some materials, so that if there is assurance of steady and speedy progress, investors may again be induced to plan and begin new work. On the other hand, if the mania for interruptions continues, there will be no building, except to meet necessity. A man can better afford to rent for the year than to rent for a few months and find at the end of that time that strikes have prevented completion of his new house and that the one in which he has been living is rented to some one else. We hope a settlement will be made today and that it will prove more permanent than the compromises effected on previous recent occasions. A permanent settlement will be the best tonic for the building market.

The Hon. Thomas C. Platt declares that if he had the presidency in his hands he could not ram it down Mark Hanna's throat, because Mr. Hanna would not stand for it. But then, who wants the presidency rammed down his throat, anyhow?

The annual observations in the household departments of the newspapers concerning the best method of carving a turkey without the use of an ax take it for granted that there will be a turkey to carve.

Philadelphia insists that it is the home of a woman aged 134 years who has been an inveterate smoker all her life, but unfortunately no clue is given to the brand of tobacco that has preserved her.

The senatorial disposition to take plenty of time and then deliberate over it, may be held by Golden Rule Jones of Toledo to prove his assertion that it is an un-American body.

The active demand for the national Thanksgiving bird at the advanced price is evidence that not all the money is out west with its shoulder to the crop movement.

While the New York American has views concerning the Hanna boom for the presidency its silence concerning the Hearst boom carries the conviction that there is none.

William A. Jones, commissioner of Indian affairs, will make himself unpopular with the red man by recommending that he be made to work for his living, or let starve.

Gov. Pennypacker's delay in announcing the appointment of a member of the supreme court may be on account of the disappointments it will cause.

Residents of Chicago are agreed that were it not for an occasional revolver shot the street car service isn't much worse than before the strike.

Gen. Reyes of Colombia, seems to have run out of language, but Senator Morgan of Alabama, continues equal, if not superior, to all demands.

What the police force seems to need for the discouragement of the porch climbers is a sprinkling of football players with a theological training.

It isn't to be inferred from Senator Hanna's refusal to be considered a presidential possibility, that he doesn't think that the office is a good one.

It is understood that senatorial courtesy is for the senate chamber only, and doesn't extend to the executive branch or to the lower house.

It will be observed that Senator Foraker's presidential observations are on straight.

The toy mission has had its annual fall opening and is now ready for the toys.

It is reported from Berlin that a princess has eloped with her coachman. But perhaps he deserves it.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

The mariner of old said to Neptune in a great tempest, "O, God! thou mayest save me if thou wilt, and if thou will thou mayest destroy me; but whether or no, I will steer my rudder true." —Montaigne.

Even those who believed their destinies could be read in the stars were wise enough to know that the stars hadn't all to do with it.

With this view of the matter there can be little or no fault found with astrology, for whether your stars say this or say that, you understand that you must do your part.

Of the many forms of soothsaying, reading destiny and telling fortunes, astrology was the more respected by the ancients and is the more popular today. Although there be few among the educated and the learned who profess to take any stock in it, the fact remains that a great many regard the horoscope with a good deal of reverence.

And may the stars not have some sort of influence on our lives?

The mere fact that they are so far away, and that their sensible effects upon earthly matter is so very slight does not count for much since infinite force knows no distance, no time nor sensible conditions.

Prof. Keeler caught the light of stars on the sensitive photographic plate that could not be otherwise discerned with the aid of the Lick telescope and which left their mark on the plate only after several hours of exposure, whereas visible stars only required an exposure of a few seconds, perhaps, while those visible by the telescope only required some minutes.

And yet it was star-light, and left its visiting card distinctly written in the sensitized plate.

Astrology has to do with constellations or aggregations of stars rather than with fone bodies, and the special agency through which they act upon things earthly, are the planets. No doubt the sun's energy is modified more or less according to the body with which it comes in contact, so that the energy reflected from a planet would be peculiar to that body. And since the earth is affected in some measure by the energy reflected from the planets, may it not be that such a sensitive thing as life at the time of birth might be impressed by it, and thus give a peculiar trend to that life?

Whether this is possible or not has not been finally determined, although considered highly probable. And yet a good many horoscopes are wonderfully interesting to say the least.

* * * * *

It will be more satisfactory, however, to read a horoscope and then judge for yourselves. So here is one cast for President Roosevelt the day he took the oath of office, by Julius Erickson of St. Louis. At home Mr. Erickson is highly respected and is regarded as a scientist of considerable ability. He is very earnest in the study of astronomy and astrology.

Here are the main points contained in this rather remarkable paper:

"By a singular and most remarkable coincidence, the signs of Capricorn and Aquarius were rising at the moment Mr. Roosevelt became president. Saturn is chief ruler, with Cranus co-ruler. However, I will make most of my deductions from Saturn, as he is doubtless ruler. According to the rules of ancient astrologists, this signifies that many alterations, amendments or changes in the laws, customs, policies, treaties, religions, etc., of the land shall occur. Our enemies shall be confounded, and the matchless, irresistible march of American supremacy will meet most wonderful impetus. Vast political problems, the like of which we do not dream of today, will present themselves for solution during his occupancy of the White House.

"He will prove himself a most consummate statesman, clever politician and wise ruler. The president will be entirely successful in all matters of international importance. He will live and act his own personality and impress the Roosevelt idea of unceasing activity and energetic aggression on all public affairs; no half-hearted, halting, hesitating policy will find lodgment in the president's active brain. A world-wide policy of sturdy Americanism will be developed. Its first evidence will be visible ere long.

"In spite of popular clamor from some parts of the country, the military and martial spirit will continue to pervade the land, for, with Mars highest elevated, the 'hero of San Juan' will have a tender regard for the 'disciples of the god of war.'

"In congress there will be great liability of unusual opposition. There will be many bitter disputes and some unusual political expedients will be resorted to. There are also some aspects denoting a remarkable recrudescence of crime and outrages against the public peace and welfare; also plots, schemes, intrigues and culminations against the government from unfriendly sources may be looked for.

"There are omens that a terrible calamity will befall some school, eleemosynary or reformatory establishment in which the general government has some direct interest; it may be a training school or some sort. The same aspect also portends the death or some very intimate friend, relative or cabinet official, probably the latter; this death will occur by accident or violence.

"A new epoch will be ushered in in 1902; in these changes the president will prove a remarkable figure, for he will be very victorious in most things. All classes may look forward to a period of material prosperity some years to come. Still I bid speculators beware—a crash is surely coming and securities will certainly drop to rock bottom.

"The president has declared that he will carry out the policies of his predecessor. He will; but only in so far as they do not conflict with his own theories of government—then he will inject his own ideas into the policies he will pursue. Those policies will meet the seconding acclaim of the people."

The prophet says that the present cabinet members will not serve their full term. The president need have no fear of deadly assault he declares. Many rumors of plots against him will be heralded, but in most cases they will probably be hatched in the fertile brain of some fame-thirsting amateur detective.

"In spite of the fact that the people will be generally prosperous," he continues, "a strong spirit or element of unrest will come to the surface. A national contest anent some will, legacy, treaty, agreement or some other such affair will attract international attention and cause grave comment."

Regarding our foreign relationship Mr. Erickson says he does not apprehend any serious results from certain matters of dispute with a foreign power which will manifest themselves ere long. "We shall witness a serious disagreement," he says, "which may cause the timid to quake, but have no fear; 'Bellona's call' will not startle us—at least not during this term."

Even the civil service, which is now so much spoken of, has been taken notice of by the stars, the prophet avers. This is what he says they know about the matter: "The civil service will be extended by the president, but will meet bitter opposition in congress and among his friends. Many of the old 'stand-by' politicians will fall into oblivion, for a new set of comparatively young men will forge to the front, and, with more activity and aggressiveness, hold the reins of government." Mr. Erickson declares that the stars say that trusts will continue—their uninterrupted march, but they also portend a dark day ahead. They say that slowly, but surely, the leaven of government ownership or regulation is working, almost imperceptibly, "but the day is not far distant."

You are now at liberty to judge whether Mr. Erickson simply made a good guess, or really read in the stars the destiny of the president.

It is not to be inferred that all this is foreknown, or stored up in the stars, but that the peculiar potential of a man born under this definite combination of stars would lead him to act as the president has acted.

You should bear in mind that astrology, as now understood, does not attribute the actions of a man to the ever controlling influence of the stars, but to the vital and spiritual potential, or power, given to him at the moment of his birth.

There are more things in Heaven and earth, Horatio,
Than are dreampt of in your philosophy.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Staten Island, the stretch of municipal territory which used to be a two-hours' sail from the rest of Greater New York, wants bridges. Its inhabitants realize that a bridge to Manhattan, or even to Brooklyn, is an impossibility at the present time. Not that it would be an unsolvable engineering problem. That is not the point at issue. The trouble is that so much public money is being spent for the convenience of Manhattan, Brooklyn and other districts of the metropolis that there is nothing left for the use of the sturdy burghers of the old isle of Staten. Under these circumstances the Staten Islanders have taken heart of grace and will try to throw a bridge across from Tottenville to New Jersey. The part of Jersey which will receive the other end of the bridge is known as Bayonne, where the Standard Oil works blow up now and then, and where there is an odor of coal oil that makes the mosquitoes on Staten Island dizzy when the breeze is in their direction. Some Bayonne folk live on the island and it is tiresome to them to have to use a crazy ferryboat to get them across the Kill von Kull. Whether the funds requisite for the proposed bridge can be raised or not is a question which Staten Islanders are thrashing out at many meetings, but considering the determined character of the men who are not afraid to brave a daily ferryboat ride between New York and Staten Island, it is fair to assume that the bridge will be a realization in due time.

Midget Can Speak Three Languages.

Again "the smallest woman in the world." Twenty-one inches high, 15 pounds weight, and with three languages at her tongue's end—English, German and French. She is living at a German beer hall on the East Side. Her name? Well, she used to be known as Maggie Kraus, but for exhibition purposes she is "The Princess Numa Hawa," which being interpreted into Egyptian, signifies "Living Drop of Morning Dew." She reached New York from Germany on Saturday.

Troubled by Creditors.

Robert Grau, the impresario, has been driven to bay by claimants who harass him for the payment of alleged old debts. So he has severed his connection officially with the institution known as "Robert Grau, Incorporated," to relieve Adeline Patti of the pestering of process-preservers and duns generally. "Boo" Grau is an old amusement director and some of his ventures in the past were not as profitable as the Patti tour appears to be. That seems to be the milk of the cocoanut.

Sailor Men Busy Organizing.

Sea-cooks, that unregenerate class which is familiar to the landsmen mainly through the truculent expression, "son of a sea-cook," will have a labor union of their own. The International Seamen's Union of America is holding its first national convention in this city and is organizing men in every branch of the merchant service. The membership of the association is estimated at 27,000, represented at the convention by 42 delegates, one of them a woman. She is a sea cook, but she declares with some asperity that she never had a son.

Mr. Daly Participates in a Melee.

Broadway policemen never flinch at anything in the line of duty. That was exemplified heroically by Mr. Daly, one of the giants in blue who keeps order in New York's famous thoroughfare. There was a sharp battle going on between Irish and Italian laborers, 30 feet below the street level, where foundations are being laid for a new hotel at Broadway and Twenty-ninth street. Things were hot down there, and various ugly weapons were a-swing. Daly drew his revolver, shinned down a loose chain and a long ladder, amid a shower of bricks and collared two burly Italians, each ready and willing to murder anything Irish that came along. Daly is Irish, but he did not care for the Italians. How he got them to the surface is his own secret. But he did it somehow and put them in the Tenderloin station, too, before they had recovered their breath. Then he went back to his post and helped the pretty girls across Broadway as gently and smilingly as ever. That is the Tammany policeman's way.

Tavernkeeper in Bad Odor.

It is unfortunate for Barney Lynch that Bernard Martin took it into his head to be disorderly in the Lynch saloon. Mr. Martin had to be thrown out and his skull was fractured on the curbstone. Barney Lynch is the man who was charged with perjury in connection with the Sam Parks bribery case and was released under suspended sentence. It does not appear to have been his fault that Mr. Martin was killed, but under the circumstances it is particularly annoying to him.

Plenty of Three-Cornered Skyscrapers.

Flatiron skyscrapers will soon become so numerous in Manhattan that the distinctive title now worn by the great building at Twenty-third street, Fifth avenue and Broadway, will be disputed in half a dozen different localities. One big triangular edifice is going up in the Wall street district, another at Longacre Square and two or three others in various parts of the city. The peculiar conformation of the island, closely resembling that occupied by Pittsburgh, brings "flatirons" into being at many corners. They have always been there, of course, but it is only when they tower above other buildings in the vicinity that we are reminded forcibly of their presence. Whether each new "flatiron" will have its own private collection of cyclones, like that which comes into notice on every windy day at the gigantic original, is something that time must tell.

Bringing Metropolis Nearer.

The importance of bringing New York and Pittsburgh into as close relation as careful railroad schedules can do, it is shown in the new arrangement of the Pennsylvania railroad, which is about to put on a new fast express train, called the "Pittsburgh express." It will leave New York at 9:55 o'clock at night reaching Pittsburgh at 9 in the morning.

Jerome's Latest Plan to Kill Graft.

District Attorney Jerome has a plan for killing graft which will doubtless receive consideration by representative New Yorkers. He wants to see a committee of 10 influential men which will investigate the running of all city departments and will report to the mayor whenever it suspects crookedness. If the mayor will not take up the matter, then they will appeal to the governor. Mr. Jerome says that there should be a president, at a salary of $15,000 or $20,000 a year, with a staff of bright young men, preferably lawyers, at salaries of $5,000 a year, to look into municipal affairs and bring into the light any department or individual who appears to be cheating the city in any way. He thinks that if men of the caliber of J. P. Morgan could be induced to give two or three hours a week to such work by meeting for discussion the effect would be a better government than ever was seen in this city. He is enthusiastic over his plan and does not hide his intention to prevent any "wide open" city if within his power.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—There was a conference at the White House this evening that may have an important bearing upon the political situation in New York and in the country. The president had as his guests of honor Governor Odell of New York, Thomas C. Platt and Col. George W. Dunn, Republican state chairman of New York. In view of the gossip that has been going the rounds lately this little dinner party has a large significance. It has been reported that Odell is struggling to get control of the New York delegation to the Republican national convention and that he is working in the interest of Senator Hanna. Those who have followed political events closely doubt the truth of these reports and give little credence to the rumors that hold Hanna up as a candidate for the presidency. It has also been reported that New York is good fighting ground in the next national campaign and that there is doubt of Roosevelt's ability to carry his own state.

So with characteristic directness President Roosevelt called the political leaders of New York together for the purpose of giving them a good dinner and then asking them right out what is doing. He does not see why New York should be classed as doubtful with himself heading the ticket and he wants to know if these men think it is doubtful; and if so, why. Platt, Odell and Dunn have each unequivocally declared in favor of Roosevelt as the nominee next year and if any of them have changed their minds since the president wants to know it. He is frank himself and he wants others to be frank with him. But most of all, he wants to find out if there is any foundation for the reports of friction between Odell and Platt, and if there is, he wants to play the part of peacemaker if such a role is possible for him. He has done it before and just at this time he wishes to avoid any rupture among the leaders of New York state.

At the conclusion of the conference tonight Governor Odell said that a satisfactory and harmonious agreement had been reached adjusting party differences in the state. It is understood that Senator Platt will continue as state leader, but that Governor Odell will have charge of all details of management of the coming state campaign.

Penrose Has Resolution in His Keeping.

Senator Penrose as chairman of the committee on postoffices and post roads, has gotten possession of the Carmack resolution demanding an investigation of the charges of graft in the postoffice department and he will report it to the senate just when the administration considers it advisable and probably not before. When it was called up in the senate this morning Senator Penrose asked that it lie on the table, but Senator Elkins of West Virginia objected to this and then it was agreed to refer it to the committee on postoffices and post roads. The administration is not averse to having the postoffice department investigated and it had been agreed among the Republican leaders of congress to inaugurate such a move as soon as congress met. But Attorney General Knox raised a point to the effect that if an investigation was begun now it would weaken the government's case in the prosecutions that are to be made by making public much of the evidence that the government hopes to bring forward. He thought the probing by congress should be postponed until after the trials and this course was agreed upon. Consequently the Democrats are likely to be unable to force an investigation at present and the resolution will probably be pigeon-holed by the committee for some time.

Senate and House at Odds.

No arrangement has yet been made for an adjournment of the extra session of congress and the prospects for such an arrangement are not bright. The senate is ready to agree to take a vote on the Cuban reciprocity bill and then adjourn the extra session, but the house is obdurate. Today the house adjourned to meet on Friday, the motion to do this prevailing by a vote of 153 to 140. This vote demonstrated that there is a quorum of the house present, which fact was doubted by Representative Tawney, the Republican whip. When Mr. De Armond asked Mr. Payne what the arrangement was regarding an adjournment Mr. Payne replied that there was no arrangement as far as he knew and intimated strongly that there would be no deal of this kind. The senate having decided to not take up the Cuban bill for debate at this session, some of the senators thought it would make Speaker Cannon apepar in an embarrassing position by his refusal to consent to an adjournment. With both branches here and doing nothing but wait for the expiration of the session, the situation they thought, would be ludicrous and whatever blame was attached would be put upon the apparent obstinacy of the house. But "Uncle Joe" is said to have a card up his sleeve. He will appoint his committees Monday or Tuesday and they will get down to work on the advance sheets of the departmental representatives from which the appropriation bills are made up. If this is done it will put the house in an attitude of being busily engaged upon its work and the senate sulking and neglecting its duties.

Trouble Among the Indians.

Because one of the pupils at the Jicarilla Indian school in New Mexico died from the effects of a bath and another died from eating too many prunes, the Jicarilla Apaches are in revolt and violence is threatened. News of the trouble reached the interior department this afternoon through a telegraphic report from Superintendent Johnson in charge of the school. He reported that an Indian boy who had just entered the school fell dead in the arms of the industrial teacher, Phillip Sayles, immediately after a bath yesterday, and another boy who was being dieted on account of stomach trouble had eaten a large quantity of prunes which he had stolen from the school kitchen and that his death had resulted. The Indians on the reservation, the superintendent stated, were very superstitious and the father of the boy who ate the prunes, having arrived just before his son died, had wrought the other members of the tribe into a high pitch of excitement. They believe in witchcraft and they place blame for the death of both boys on the industrial teacher and are threatening to attack the school with the avowed purpose of rescuing their children and avenging the death of the boys. Mr. Johnson said he had called a council to meet next Saturday and unless they can be pacified they will undoubtedly become violent. Commissioner Jones wired Mr. Johnson to allay the excitement if possible and to telegraph developments. The Jicarilla school was established the first of last October at Lamberton, New Mexico, and has about 80 pupils, boys and girls. There are 900 Indians on the reservation.

Hanna Declines a Dinner.

Senator Hanna has vetoed the movement to give a dinner in his honor and plans for the event will be abandoned. The project was to make the Ohio senator the guest of honor in recognition of his services to the Republican party of Ohio and the country at large. But Mr. Hanna says that he does not desire so much prominence and that he has been in the public eye altogether too much recently to suit him. Furthermore, he says that there appears to be a proneness to impute wrong motives to him and for that reason he does not want to give further opportunity for such misconstruction. As a matter of fact, Senator Hanna fears that a dinner in his honor at this time would be looked upon as a feature of his so-called boom for the presidential nomination and it is for this reason that he has called it off. B. H. Warner, a prominent Washington real estate man, and Representative Dayton of West Virginia, had charge of the arrangements for the banquet and there were to have been 700 guests. It was to have been held at the Arlington, and President Roosevelt had already accepted an invitation to be present. Cabinet officers and others high in official life had signified their willingness to grace the occasion so that it was a hard blow when Senator Hanna put his foot down gently, but firmly, on the whole affair.

Youngstown Needs Better Building.

Representative Kennedy of Ohio will introduce a bill providing for the remodeling and enlargement of the public building at Youngstown, Ohio. The amount he will ask for is not yet known, but architects and builders will make an estimate of the sum necessary to carry out the needed improvements.

The Death Roll.

James King Gracie.

James King Gracie, an uncle of President Roosevelt, is dead at his home, No. 315 East Forty-eighth street, New York, of pneumonia. The funeral services will be held next Friday in the Church of the Holy Communion, and President and Mrs. Roosevelt will attend. Mr. Gracie was to have dined with the president on Thanksgiving day. Mr. Gracie was a descendant of Archibald Gracie, who founded the house of that name later known as Prime, Ward & King. The Gracies and Kings were associated in business for many years. Mr. Gracie, who was a member of the stock exchange, was best known as the head of the brokerage firm of J. K. Gracie and Westervelt. He practically retired from business and devoted himself to charitable work after the death of his wife in 1898.

Sir John Maple.

Sir John Maple is dead in London. For a long time he had been suffering from Bright's disease and heart trouble. The baronet was a typical figure in this busy age. He was with equal success a business man, race horse owner, country squire and member of parliament. At the age of 16 he commenced business in his father's small furniture shop, which gradually developed into its present huge proportions. His title was a reward for political services to the Unionists. Sir John gave large sums in benefactions, notably $600,000 to the University college hospital. His only child is the wife of Baron von Eckhardstein, first secretary of the German embassy in London.

Lewis L. Kamerer.

Lewis L. Kamerer died yesterday afternoon at his residence, No. 613 St. James street, after an illness of three weeks. Mr. Kamerer was a resident of Pittsburgh during the past two and a half years. His former home was Greenville, Pa., where he was a merchant many years. While in this city, Mr. Kamerer was in the oil business. He leaves a wife and two daughters, Mabel and Eva. The funeral services will be held at Greenville Friday. The deceased was a prominent Mason at Greenville and has a large circle of friends as well as many relatives in Butler county.

The Rev. Samuel Crouse.

The Rev. Samuel Crouse, a superannuated minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, is dead at Columbiana, O., where he spent the last 17 years. He was born in Beaver township, Mahoning county, Ohio, February 18, 1817, and August 21, 1838, was married to Sophia Maurey, at Petersburg, who survives him. They celebrated the sixty-fifth anniversary of their marriage last August. In earlier years he was a circuit rider in Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania and later occupied many of the more important stations in what is now the East Ohio conference.

Capt. George G. Boyer.

Capt. George G. Boyer, a survivor of the First Defenders, the first troops to enter Washington on the call of President Lincoln for volunteers, died of heart failure at Harrisburg yesterday, aged 61. Capt. Boyer was for several years commander of Post No. 58 G. A. R., of Harrisburg and was subsequently commander of the Pennsylvania department of the State Soldiers' Orphan school commission.

Jonathan Spencer Willis.

Former Congressman Jonathan Spencer Willis died yesterday at his home near Milford, Del., after an illness of several months of cancer of the stomach. Mr. Willis was born at Oxford, Talbot county, Maryland, in 1820. In 1854 he entered the ministry of the Methodist church, but retired in 1883 and engaged in farming. Mr. Willis was elected representative in congress in 1894 on the Republican ticket.

James Broadfoot.

James Broadfoot, age 78, a pioneer resident of North Versailles township, died at his home in Dixon's hollow late Monday night, after a long illness due to asthma. He was born in Scotland and on coming to America settled in North Versailles township, 60 years ago. He was a coal miner the greater portion of his life, but had been retired for many years. He is survived by a widow and four sons.

Joseph Strathern.

Joseph Strathern, 15-year-old son of the late Alexander Strathern, died yesterday of cancer of the throat at the home of a relative at No. 945 Penn avenue, Pittsburgh, where he was visiting. The family recently removed to Edgewood from Braddock.

Obituary Notes.

J. Tranior of Blythedale, Pa., a highly respected citizen of that place is dead of asthma.

T. N. Hooper, president of the Colfax Northern railroad, is dead at Des Moines, Iowa, of malarial fever, aged 36.

BUILDERS' STRIKE MAY BE SETTLED

Representatives of Both Sides to the Dispute Are to Meet Today.

PLUMBERS' HELPERS GO OUT

The dispute between the Building Trades council and the Builders' Exchange league will probably be placed in a condition for an early settlement at a meeting of committees of both organizations, to be held this morning in the rooms of the league, 416 Market street. The fact that there was a move to have the strikes and lockout brought to a termination this week was exclusively announced in Monday's Gazette.

The Building Trades council gave out early in the fight that it was willing to arbitrate the dispute, but did not fly the flag of truce. For this reason the Builders' Exchange league would not consent to arbitrate until the workmen recalled the sympathy strike orders. Matters became more serious and a long fight was promised.

The condition of affairs was changed by the influence of a prominent business man who is in sympathy with the workmen. Through him the warring factions will get together this morning and try to arrange a settlement. It depends upon the success of the meeting whether the matter will be settled or whether the fight will be prolonged indefinitely.

The situation became more complicated yesterday when all the plumbers' helpers came out on a sympathy strike. They are not organized, but the influence of the striking plumbers was brought to bear on them and they joined their ranks.

Two meetings were called yesterday afternoon and the plumbers were invited to attend. The master plumbers agreed to meet them in the Exchange league, and the plumbers invited them to attend a meeting at the Trades council hall, 226 Fourth avenue. Nearly all the boys attended the workmen's meeting. Strike benefits was the bone of contention of the boys. It is said the plumbers agreed to pay the boys strike benefits if they stayed out.

Despite all conditions, both sides are wishing the matter settled, and the meeting today promises to bring about that result.

CLEVELAND WILL NOT HEED SIREN'S VOICE

Doesn't Believe Democracy Needs Him to Lead in the Coming Battle.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Persistent gossip that ex-President Cleveland is considering the wishes of C. F. Murphy and other political leaders that he again accept a nomination for the presidency of the Democratic party are met today by a statement of a close friend of Mr. Cleveland to the effect that the ex-president certainly has given no encouragement to either Mr. Murphy or to his personal friends to persist in speaking of him as a presidential possibility.

"You may say authoritatively," said this gentleman, "that the subject was broached to Mr. Cleveland and that he replied that he could hardly conceive of any emergency which would bring him the offer from the party of another nomination and that it was equally difficult for him to conceive of any emergency that would lead him to accept such an offer, even were it made.

"More than that, you can say that Mr. Cleveland thinks there are good men in the Democratic party, distinguished enough and able enough to fill the office of president and he feels humiliated by being repeatedly singled out as if he were the only man in the party fit to lead it."

FRANK A. PARKER.

RESCUED THREE CHILDREN FROM BURNING HOUSE

Three small children of August Kurngowski were rescued from their burning home, 2629 Penn avenue, yesterday morning by Harry Dippel of Fifth avenue. While passing the house in a traction car Dippel discovered smoke coming out of the windows and jumping off learned that the children were on the third floor. He found the children in a semi-conscious state. After carrying them to the street Dippel fell exhausted, having been overcome by the smoke. The fire was caused by a gas stove setting fire to the woodwork in a third-story porch, where clothes had been hung to dry. The loss is about $300.

FRIEND OF GREAT MEN MEETS SUDDEN DEATH

Col. Nathaniel P. Sawyer, Who Expired Yesterday, Knew Presidents Lincoln and Johnson and Governor Curtin Intimately.

Col. Nathaniel Porter Sawyer, once the personal friend of Presidents Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson and one of the most notable political characters of Pittsburgh, died suddenly yesterday morning at 9:20 o'clock at his home in Morningside avenue, Eighteenth ward, after a short illness, in the 74th year of his age.

Col. Sawyer was told yesterday morning that he could not recover and he requested his family to send for Controller John B. Larkin, one of his lifelong friends. "Tell him that I am dying," said the patient, but before the messenger could leave the house Col. Sawyer breathed his last.

Col. Sawyer was known by nearly all the old residents of the city. He was born at Third and Wood streets and resided in Pittsburgh all his life. He came from Revolutionary stock, his grandfather, Nathaniel Sawyer, being an orderly on Gen. George Washington's staff.

Mr. Sawyer knew President Lincoln and President Johnson personally and was regarded as their representative in Pittsburgh. During the war he was a secret service officer for President Lincoln and is said to have been captured by John Morgan, the confederate raider on the latter's excursion into the north.

When President Johnson came to Pittsburgh on his "swing around the circle," he made a speech from the balcony of the St. Charles hotel in Wood street. Some miscreant stationed himself on the top of Col. Sawyer's house, opposite the hotel, and threw rotten eggs at the president. The affair created a sensation over the country, and Col. Sawyer, who was an ardent admirer and defender of President Johnson, threatened to take personal vengeance on the offender.

Mr. Sawyer was also an intimate friend of Andrew G. Curtin, the war governor of Pennsylvania, and whenever the governor came to Pittsburgh he stopped at Mr. Sawyer's home. Gov. Curtin gave Mr. Sawyer his title of "colonel" by an appointment on his staff.

During the term of President Johnson Mr. Sawyer was collector of internal revenue for the western district of Pennsylvania, and was offered the position of postmaster of Pittsburgh which he refused. During the latter part of the '60s Mr. Sawyer was the proprietor of the Republic, a Republican daily paper. Until the impeachment of President Johnson he was a Republican. In the campaign of 1872 he supported Horace Greeley for president, and always afterward was an uncompromising Democrat. He was a brother of P. C. Sawyer, who was mayor of Pittsburgh in 1862-63. Mr. Sawyer was recently a candidate for the position of city assessor made vacant by the death of D. O. Barr.

Col. Sawyer was the promoter and first president of the Diamond National bank and also of another bank in Fourth avenue. For a number of years he was one of the leading soap manufacturerse of the country, but retired from active business in 1872 and afterwards devoted his time to his property interests. He was a member of St. John's Protestant Episcopal church. Col Sawyer is survived by his wife, three sons and a daughter. The children are John H. Sawyer of Denver, Col., Col. W. B. Sawyer of the Eighteenth ward, Harry C. Sawyer of Ingram, Pa., and Mrs. W. A. Easton of Loretto, Pa.

WOOD'S ENEMIES ARE PERSISTENT

If Nomination Is Acted on Favorably Charges Will Be Made in Senate.

RATHBONE AGAIN ON STAND

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Two sessions were held today by a sub-committee of the senate committee on military affairs which is investigating the charges against General Leonard Wood, nominated by the president to be major general. An adjournment was taken until Friday at 11 o'clock, when Major J. R.Runcie will be the first witness.

It was stated at the close of the last session that probably more than two weeks would be occupied in hearing the witnesses the committee already has determined to summon. Then, if as generally believed, a committee is named to go to Cuba, an adjournment probably will be taken until some time next March, which is considered the best time to visit the island. Opponents to the confirmation of General Wood openly express the opinion that the military affairs committee will report the nomination favorably to the senate, but declare that when this course is taken some charges will be presented to the senate which the committee has excluded from the testimony. From the attitude of senators opposed to the confirmation of General Wood it is certain that a demand will be made for the appointment of a sub-committee to go to Cuba to inquire personally into several of the charges. Major Rathbone today reiterated his determination to go to Cuba at the same time for the purpose of pointing out sources of information which form the basis of many of his charges.

Major Rathbone resumed his testimony today in explanation of his personal charges. He also asked the committee to subpoena Major E. Ledd, United States army, and interrogate him concerning the condition of Gen. Wood's Santiago accounts in 1898, when he was acting as auditor of Cuba.

Brig. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss of the general staff, will be summoned by the committee and asked for certain information he is said to possess concerning the charge made by Major Rathbone that Gen. Wood accompanied E. G. Bellaire from Havana to New York in 1900 with full knowledge that Bellaire was an ex-convict. Gen. Bliss was chief collector of customs for Cuba with headquarters at Havana during that time and he will be asked also in regard to charges that presents for General and Mrs. Wood were admitted to Cuba without payment of duties.

Major James R. Runcie arrived in Washington today from Havana and will appear before the committee Friday. He visited the capitol and talked with several members of the committee.

MERCANTILE APPRAISER.

Timothy O'Leary and William German Are Candidates for the Office.

Candidates for mercantile appraiser are appearing. Deputy Sheriff William German, who has made the appraisement for two years, is willing to do the work a third time. Timothy O'Leary is also after the appointment.

The county commissioners elect the appraiser and the election is held the last week in December. O'Leary was a candidate last year. It is understood that Commissioner James A. Clark will be allowed to fill the place this time.

Republican candidates for assemblymen are appearing in the Sixth legislative district. Representative John Moore will seek a re-election. W. J. Steen, the present jury commissioner, and David John of Carnegie, will also go into the primaries.

"A Country Girl."

The most sprightly of the modern English musical comedies, "A Country Girl," is to be offered at the Alvin Theater next week. Coming from the same sources that gave us "The Geishea," "A Runaway Girl," and "San Toy," the claim that it is better than any of these other musical treats is a sure indication that Pittsburgers will have a fine attraction to please them. It is in its second year of a continued run at Daly's theater in London, and for its American record is backed up by the prestige of almost an entire season's engagement at Daly's theater in New York, followed by more or less extended engagements in Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

FREE FOODERS OPEN CAMPAIGN

Chamberlain's Fiscal Policy Attacked by the Duke of Devonshire.

GIVEN GREAT DEMONSTRATION

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The duke of Devonshire presided and was the principal speaker at a great demonstration in Queen's hall here tonight under the auspices of the Free Food league. It was the duke's first public speech since his resignation as lord president of the council and the first really important meeting of the Freed Food association offset to the active propaganda of the Tariff Reform league.

The hall was packed and the prominent personages were given a tremendous reception. Among those present were the duchess of Devonshire, Lord Balfour of Burleigh, Charles T. Ritchie, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Lord Goschen, Winston Spencer Churchill, Lord Hugh Cecil, Lord Robert Cecil, Lord Lytton and a number of leading members of the house of commons.

The duke of Devonshire outlined the object of the legislation of the Free Food association which was formed a few months before the government's declaration of its fiscal policy and therefore could not be formed for any hostility to the government. The name of the league indicated the purpose thereof. There might be differences of opinion concerning the extent to which retaliation might legitimately go. Some members of the league were not altogether opposd to some form of protection; but they were all united and prepared to resist to the utmost the imposition of any protective taxation on food, or protective duties generally. He himself claimed the right to oppose anything in the nature of a return to protection. Prolonged cheering followed this statement of the duke.

Continuing the speaker said that while the fiscal policy was not yet a party question there was nothing which the advocates of the scheme, which emanated from the brain of a single eminent statesman, would like better than a general election which would turn on this question alone. This reference to Joseph Chamberlain was greeted with mingled cheers and hisses.

CHURCH FACTION MAKES A DEMAND

Rev. D. A. McPhie's Supporters Ask Presbytery Commission to Revoke Decision.

AN APPEAL IS THREATENED

The faction of the Avalon United Presbyterian church congregation favoring the retention of the Rev. D. A. McPhie as pastor last night adopted a resolution asking the commission of the Allegheny presbytery to revoke its decision declaring the pulpit vacant, giving notice that if such action is not taken by the commission, and the commission is upheld by the presbytery, an appeal would be taken to the general synod. A committee was appointed to present the resolution to the Rev. Dr. John McNaugher, chairman of the commission, and another committee was appointed to prepare a resolution to be presented at the next meeting of the members of the church.

About 50 members, the majority of whom were women, signed the resolution to be presented to the commission of Allegheny presbytery. J. C. Graham, a trustee who presided, stated that the opposition to the pastor was not represented at the meeting. Mr. Graham said that fully 100 members would sign the resolution before it is presented to the commission. He said that the elders and trustees of the church, with the exception of himself, were opposed to the pastor.

B. D. Reed presented the resolution and he was made chairman of the committee to call upon the commission. The resolution was adopted unanimously. On this committee were appointed B. D. Reed, J. C. Forester, J. H. Watt, J. C. Graham and James Baird.

H. P. W. Miller, J. R. Henderson and B. D. Reed were appointed a committee to report other resolutions at the next meeting. Mr. Reed said that the meeting last night was a public meeting of the members of the church but not a legally constituted congregational meeting, because the rules of the church provided that two successive Sundays should intervene between the call and the date of the meetings. This, he said, had not been done because the communication from the commission had only been received about a week before the time set for the pulpit to be declared vacant, and that prompt action was, therefore, necessary.

The membership of the church is about 240, and if 100 members sign the resolution to the commission, asking it to rescind its action, a serious split in the congregation will take place unless the matter is settled by the voluntary withdrawal of the pastor. The pastor was not present last night. The resolution adopted last night and which will be forwarded to the commission is as follows:

Having been notified by a communication received from your clerk, the Rev. W. I. Wishart, which was read last Sabbath from the pulpit of the Avalon United Presbyterian church, of the decision of the commission appointed by the Allegheny presbytery to act on the resignation of our pastor and other matters relating to the congregation; and,

Whereas, The decision of the commission ordering the pulpit of the Avalon United Presbyterian church to be declared vacant by the pastor, the Rev. D. A. McPhie, on Sabbath, November 29, 1903, came too late to allow the calling of a legally constituted congregational meeting previous to that date; and,

Whereas, We greatly deplore said action on the part of the commission and feel that if it had been correctly and fully informed as to the intense feeling on the part of a large portion of the said congregation, of the litigation done to our pastor and to the majority of those who support him and who stand for the principles of the United Presbyterian church, it thus ordering the dissolution of the pastorate; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, members of the Avalon United Presbyterian church and also representatives of such part of the congregation who oppose such action pray your commission to hold in abeyance for reconsideration the said decision of your commission, in order that the congregation may be saved from disruption and that measures may be taken to conciliate matters of dispute and dissent.

Resolved, Also, if the commission cannot see its way clear to recall its action and to leave the question to our pastor, the Rev. D. A. McPhie, to decide, we herewith give due notification of our intention to appeal from the decision of said commission, provided said commission's report is approved by the Allegheny presbytery of the United Presbyterian church.

BANK CLERKS TRY PRACTICAL TEST

Prizes Awarded for Deft Work in Everyday Tasks of Financial Institutions.

ATTORNEY J. C. GRAY'S COUP

Fully 250 bank clerks gathered last night in the hall of the German Beneficial Union to witness and take part in contests in the lines of work that bank clerks do. Not counting the money in the pockets of the clerks, there was about $4,000 in different packages, all arranged to test the deftness of manipulators of silver and currency.

The clerks present belong to the Pittsburgh chapter of the American Institute of Bank Clerks, Everett E. Kehew, president. A contest is held every year and always draws a big attendance. The most notable upshot of one of the contests was the work done by Attorney J. C. Gray. Mr. Gray is delivering a series of lectures to the chapter on the law concerning negotiable instruments and he entered one of the contests. He protested against receiving the second prize, as he had ventured only for fun. J. F. Swartz of the City Deposit bank, chairman of the ways and means committee, had charge of the contests and was assisted by Simpson Musgrave, of N. Holmes & Sons; J. B. Crist, of the Mellon National bank, and A. B. Shaw of the Union Trust Company.

The first competition was a test of ability with the counting machine. L. Bright of N. Holmes & Sons won the first prize, and E. G. Hill, Second National bank, the second. The exercise in mental arithmetic consisted of the footing up of four pages in a bank book. H. W. Keller of the Federal National bank got the first prize and Attorney Gray the second. The contest in passing on negotiable paper was won by C. A. Mitchell of the Mellon National bank, and H. W. Keller took second prize. The contest in which the clerks took the most interest was that in counting money, participated in by six bank tellers. Everett E. Kehew of the Keystone bank took first prize and J. B. Brake of the Second National bank got the second. Mr. Kehew's time was seven minutes and 16 seconds. Each contestant counted about $500 in silver and bills. All the first prizes were pretty scarf pins, and the second prizes were orders for gloves. Mr. Gray announced that when the committee of the chapter began negotiations with him concerning compensation for the lectures he is delivering, he said he wished no compensation, but at his suggestion the committee decided to appropriate $100 for prizes for the best examination on the subject, after the lectures are finished. The first prize will be $50, the second $25, the third $15 and the fourth $10. The chapter will thus save money and the members will have something to strive for.

W. D. Hollingshead, representing the Dickerson United States treasury counterfeit detector, was present. He had with him a number of counterfeit bills, loaned him by the treasury department. One of the bills is a $100 counterfeit, made by the Lancaster gang, recently sent to the penitentiary.

MAKES GOOD TIME.

New Freight Train to Chicago Goes on First Trip by Way of Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The new train which was put on by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie to handle merchandise between Pittsburgh and Chicago made its first trip today. The train leaves Pittsburgh about 11 a. m. and arrives in Cleveland at 4 p. m. It takes about the same rate of speed on to Chicago. The management of this train is attended with some difficulty as it demands a clear track and quick movement.

The difficulty in getting the train through the Cleveland yards was one of the most ticklish problems of the entire trip. It is now coming to be realized that the yard facilities of Cleveland are inadequate to the demands upon them and that the transfer arrangements are anything but ideal. The difficulty is being in a measure overcome by the use of passenger tracks for the movement of this train, which goes through solid and needs no switching.

Man With Ax Cuts Down Shade Trees in Front of the City Hall

The ax-man at the city hall got in his deadly work yesterday. Finding nothing better to spend his energy on, he shouldered his weapon in the small hours of the morning and proceeded to cut down the row of trees that for many years embellished the front of the city building. Two of the trees were in front of the controller's office and two others in front of the treasurer's department. The trees were chopped down close to the ground.

When the city controller's force of employes arrived yesterday morning and discovered what had taken place there was an outburst of indignation. The employes of the controller's office had long found the trees a shelter from the strong rays of the sun in the summer time. Controller John B. Larkin's attention was called to the removal of the trees. A large flock of sparrows that were deprived of their home fluttered to and fro.

"They are orphans, too," said the controller, as he gazed sympathizingly at the forlorn birds which were grouping themselves along the neighboring electric wires.

The trees are said to have been planted when the city hall was built in 1871, 32 years ago. They were much prized for their shade by the controller's office force, as they were in constant foliage from early spring until fall. They made the only green spot downtown.

The trees were cut down at the order of Director E. M. Bigelow, who instructed John A. Long, superintendent of the bureau of city property, to make some improvements in the front of the city hall. It was decided to remove the trees, the iron fence and stone coping, and to extend the sidewalk up to the building. New stone steps are to be laid and a revolving door placed at the main entrance to the city building.

TWELVE DEAD COMRADES HONORED BY SOLDIERS

Duquesne Post No. 259 G. A. R. Holds Memorial Services in Veteran Legion Hall.

Services in memory of 12 dead comrades were held last night by Duquesne Post No. 259, G. A. R., in Union Veteran Legion hall, Fifth avenue. There was a good attendance of members of the post, and of the families of some of the deceased members. This was the first time in three years that the post has held memorial services. The names of the dead honored were:

William Alisman, Capt. James T. Chalfant, Maj. Hartley Howard, Charles C. Briggs, Samuel D. Thompson, J. W. Wishart, George E. Dunbar, W. A. Robinson, Col. Norman M. Smith, Lieut. James Stephenson, Maj. Samuel W. Hay and Capt. W. P. Herbert.

The meeting was opened with an address by Commander B. F. Johnston, who explained the meaning of the services. The chaplain of the post, the Rev. Dr. M. R. Riddle, led in prayer and the records of the deceased members were read by the adjutant, Capt. J. Milton Ray. Special memorials to Col. Smith and Capt. Herbert were read and adopted by the post. As the military record of each comrade was read Miss Margaret and Miss Ethel Dawson blew "taps" on the bugle. Addresses were made by Alexander Dempster and Chaplain Riddle. The latter also gave the benediction. Miss Roberta Elliott sang "The Vacant Chair," "Rest, Soldier, Rest," and "Abide With Me." The hymn, "God Be With You," was sung by all present.

McPartland's Body Reaches Home.

The body of John McPartland, son of James McPartland of Mimhall, who died in the Philippines early last summer, arrived at his father's home last evening. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in St. Mary Magdalen's Catholic church, Homestead, and the interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery. Nearly 100 Spanish-American war veterans will attend the funeral.

May Fight the Decision.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 24.—William D. Huber, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, said today the decision of the American Federation of Labor convention that the Amalgamated International Union would have jurisdiction over all mill workers in wood, will affect 45,000 men. The carpenters intimate they will not give up without another struggle.

Killed in Mistake for a Deer.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., Nov. 24.—Dr. Robert H. Milner of Warrensville, shot and killed Henry Anthony Plank, also of Warrensville, this morning, mistaking him for a deer. Plank was hunting alone. Another party, of six, of which Dr. Milner was one, was hunting in the same woods. The coroner's jury exonerated Dr. Milner.

ALDERMEN FIGHT FOR CUSTODY OF PRISONERS

Business Rivalry of West End Magistrates May Get into Court.

Two West End aldermen are having a lively scrap for the custody of three negro prisoners in the county jail, and one of them declares his intention of going into court today to have the matter adjusted. Alderman W. F. Walsh is aggrieved because the officials at the county jail refuse to turn over to him for trial the prisoners after he had committed them.

The three prisoners are William Braxton, Brack Dean and William Tennessee. They are charged with being implicated in the alleged shooting of Sadie Bennett, a negress, at Sheraden on last Saturday night, and were committed to jail for a hearing on the charge of felonious shooting. The Bennett woman, who alleges she was shot, went from Sheraden to the West End, Saturday night, and made information against four negroes.

Arming themselves to the teeth, Alderman Walsh and his constable, James F. Carey, went to Sheraden about 11 o'clock Saturday night and searched the neighborhood until 3 o'clock Sunday morning before they found three of the men.

The men were committed to jail for a hearing last night, but when Constable Carey went to the jail to get his men the jail officials refused to turn them over, stating that Alderman Vierheller lodged commitments against them yesterday afternoon, charging the prisoners with surety of the peace.

At Vierheller's office it was stated that the woman had made information against the men at that office the same night she visited Walsh's office. Alderman Vierheller also stated that the woman was not shot at all, but that one of the prisoners had simply fired into the air.

Pupils' Masquerade Party.

The pupils of Miss May Lynne's school in Westminster place gave a very pretty masquerade yesterday afternoon and evening, with Miss Lynne as their hostess. Each of the girls represented one of Sir Walter Scott's characters, his works being one of their studies this winter. After the masquerade there were games and refreshments.

Among the pupils who entered into the masquerade were Miss Helen Rankin as Janet, Miss Helen McFeely as Rebecca, Miss Charity Parker as Norman, Miss Margaret Curry as Rowena, Miss Elsie Hammer as Lady of the Lake; Miss Clarissa McFarland as Rebecca's hand maid, Miss Norma Fisher as Mallse, Miss Hester Oliver as Rose Bradwardine, Miss Margaret Miller as Friar Tuck, Miss Eleanor Morgan as the Fairy Queen, Miss Lauira Rose as the Abbott, Miss Jeannette Lawrence as Rebecca, Miss Rebecca McCutcheon as the Queen of England, Miss Eleanor Severance as the Bride of Lammermoor, Miss Roberta McKay as Blanche, Miss Agnes Irvine as Wamba, Miss Elsie Rinehart as Rebecca, Miss Georgia Ramsey as Friar Tuck and little Miss Dorothy Jenkins, who was smaller than the rest and appeared as a Kate Greenaway lass.

MORMONISM GOT A WOMAN'S BLAST

Dr. Sarah J. Elliott Denounced Utah's Practices in a Lecture Last Night.

DENOUNCED SENATOR SMOOT

"I furthermore promise and swear enmity against the United States government, and to avenge the death of the Prophet Joseph Smith.'

"This oath is taken by every official in the Mormon church and according to ancestors is commonly used in their marriage ceremonies," said Dr. Sarah J. Elliott, who represents the Interdenominational Union of Women, in a lecture on "Mormonism," delivered last night before a large audience at the Cumberland Presbyterian church in Shady avenue.

Dr. Elliott spent seven years in Utah, not as a missionary, but as student. She is now touring the United States and proclaiming that the institution of polygamy is by no means a thing of the past, that it is being practiced by Mormons, not only in Utah, but in its neighbor states.

"The practice of polygamy has already brought about an abnormal race of women," she said. "The older women in these states had to submit to the wrong and the younger generation now indorse it with an apparent easy conscience. I told them I expected to spend my time hereafter telling people what a great wrong has been committed upon our civilization just in this way."

The lecture was under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance union, which is affiliated with the international organization. Dr. Elliott said it was perfectly in order for the temperance folks to espouse her cause, because the lecture deals with temperance in the matter of wives. Continuing she said:

"A statement that set me to thinking while in Utah was made by a raw immigrant from Sweden: 'Yes, I am a Mormon and why shouldn't I be?' Is there any other church that offers 160 acres of good land to a man who will join their ranks?' I concluded that any church that does offer government land in this way is an alarming menace to society.

"And, right here I want to say, that the government is putting a premium on polygamy by allowing the plural wives to take up land, women who declare themselves to be the heads of households, whereas they are but wives of the Mormons.

"Mormonism, with its polygamy, has gone across the United States and landed in the senate. If Smoot is not a polygamist, he gives it his indorsement as one of the 15 called the 'first presidency.'"

Doctor Tucker's New and Wonderful Mechanical Device With Which He Is Bringing About More Cures of Bronchial Troubles, Restoring to More Deaf People the Lost Sense of Hearing, and Curing More Catarrhal Diseases Than Ever Was Known in the Medical Profession.

This wonderful apparatus has revolutionized the treatment of all chronic diseases. It is composed of a number of glass cells, each of which contains a remedy for a certain diseased condition, the remedy being dissolved and incorporated in oil so that when the instrument is put into use the mixture is converted into an oily smoke-like vapor, which can be easily driven into every cavity of the body, and which will positively cure all of the diseases in the treatment of which it is applied. It cures by inhalation. The vapor is formed, the patient is instructed how to breathe, the medicated vapor is carried deep down into the lung cells, coating over the mucous surfaces, not only of the bronchial tubes, but of all the tissues of the lungs, removing germs, and relieving pain, shortness of breath, coughing, and in fact all the symptoms attendant upon such diseases. It cures all forms of which are curable, by another oily medicament, which is forced through the mustachial tubes up into the middle ear, and which positively cures suppurative discharges, head noises and partial or complete deafness. It cures of the entire system by being absorbed through the lymphatics and through the glandular structure of the mucous membranes.

BRONCHIAL AND LUNG TROUBLES

Every new discovery adds to the expense of the workings of Doctor Tucker's office, but the people have appreciated his services in the past, and he is confident that he will increase his usefulness to chronic sufferers ten-fold by the use of this advanced form of application. This itself is sufficient to repay him for the extra effort and expense. He will therefore continue his low fee system, charging

IS PESSIMISTIC ABOUT THAT BOOM

Senator Quay Not Disturbed Over Activity for His Re-Election.

SAYS HE WANTS TO RETIRE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.

The only developments of the day in the fight between Insurance Commissioner J. W. Durham and Mayor John Weaver, was the statement of the former, that all o' the 42 ward leaders had declared allegiance to Durham, and his candidate for receiver of taxes, Senator William Berkelbach.

Mayor Weaver refused to discuss the alleged split between himself and the Republican organization. There are a whole lot of intelligent people who characterize the game as "mimic warfare."

"It is a funny fight," said Senator Quay tonight, when asked for an expression.

Col. Quay spent an hour in the city, leaving for Washington at 5:48. He would not further commit himself, but his sententious reply may embody food for reflection. Quay is a good judge of offside play. He has made a few himself without being penalized.

The senator said he did not know when the vacancy on the supreme bench would be filled. He said he had expected the governor to make an appointment for some time. When Quay was asked about the boom given him for re-election this morning by Senator Penrose, he said: "So, they are going to lam' me in anyway, are they?"

But the senator did not appear to be greatly disturbed by the outrage his friends seemed desirous of perpetrating on his Academy of Music speech, made two years ago, when he said he would never be a candidate for or accept public office.

Col. Quay is, apparently, being very unkindly and cruelly dealt with by his most trusted friends, the junior senator, Mr. Penrose, and Commissioner Durham, the Republican leader of Philadelphia. Quay really wants to retire to private life and its Arcadian simplicities, he says, but his political understudies say nay.

PAST YEAR BUSY ONE FOR JOHN A. BRASHEAR

Coming of His Sixty-Third Anniversary Finds Him With Many Important Interests.

Prof. John A. Brashear was 63 years old yesterday. There was little observation of the event, as it is an "off" year, not a multiple of five. It was a busy day for Mr. Brashear, however, his many duties, public and private, taking up his time completely.

The year has marked a good many accomplishments for the astronomer, as well as for the public-spirited citizen. It has seen the name of "Pittsburghia" given to a planet discovered with lenses made in his factory. It has seen also the still farther extension of the use of the many mathematical and astronomical instruments turned out at his works. As the acting chancellor of the Western University of Pennsylvania, considerable progress has been made with the school, and plans are being worked out which mean still more. The Carnegie Technical schools, of which he is one of the most interested trustees, have taken on definite shape and form with a site and a head for them secured.

Mr. Brashear is one of a coterie of private citizens of Pittsburgh—greater Pittsburgh—who have done much for the fame of the city by seeing that the many distinguished men from other cities and countries who visit here are entertained as they should be and are given an opportunity to learn the extent of the industries and the modern methods used. The past year has given a number of opportunities for this side of his energies and none has been overlooked.

JOHN FOSTER DIES AS FUNERAL SERVICES BEGIN

Dunbar Explosion Claims Third Member of Foster Family. Thirteen Dead So Far.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 24.—While the family and relatives of William and Wheatly Foster, father and son, who were killed in the explosion at the Ferguson mine of the Dunbar Furnace Company, near Dunbar, Pa., on Saturday, were about to hold double funeral services over the remains of the victims at the Foster home this afternoon, word was received from the Connellsville Cottage hospital that a third member of the family, John Foster, who was also in the explosion, had died of his injuries. The services were later held at the home and father and son were buried side by side in the family burial plot.

John Foster, who was 17 years old, was badly burned and inhaled considerable gas before being rescued. His death is the third to occur among the victims taken to the Cottage hospital, and the 13th since the explosion. Pit Boss McGuirk's condition became more serious today and he was removed to the hospital. His death and that of the three other men at the hospital is expected at most any time. The physicians say they cannot recover.

The search for Michael Beni, aged 22, was continued today. He is the only man who was in the mine when the explosion took place who is still missing.

POLITICS OF EARLY TIMES.

Dr. Howard Addressed Allegheny University Extension Society.

Dr. George Elliott Howard of the University of Chicago last night lectured before a large audience in the Carnegie library lecture room, Allegheny, under the auspices of the Allegheny center, University Extension society. Dr. Howard spoke on the "Political Revolution of 1800." He spoke of the events in American history and politics immediately following the revolution and leading up to the radical change in the form of United States government as the result of the Declaration of Independence. He talked of the influence of the statesmen of that time and of the parts they played in launching the new republic.

He also dwelt on the difficulties that beset the men who at that time were endeavoring to bring out of chaos a system of government that today has no parallel in history, and spoke at some length on the articles of confederation and their defects. The lecture was one of the most interesting of the season.

FALL WAS A SERIOUS ONE.

Mrs. Alice Gardner of Allegheny Believed to Be in Dying Condition.

Mrs. Alice Gardner, aged 25 years, of 811 Rebecca street, Allegheny, is in the Allegheny General hospital in a dying condition, as the result of a fall yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Gardner, who is the wife of William Gardner, was at the top of the stairs leading from the first to the second floor of her home when she was overcome by an attack of vertigo and fell head-foremost to the bottom. She had not regained consciousness at a late hour last night.

West End University Extension.

The next lecture of the West End University extension lecture course will be postponed on account of Thanksgiving from tomorrow to Friday evening, December 4. The subject of the lecture will be "Slavery as a Sectional Question," and in it Dr. Fess will treat of the various political issues arising from slavery from the Revolution to the Civil war.

WIRELESS 'PHONE PROVES SUCCESS

Warships 1,500 Yards Apart Converse Easily for Period of an Hour.

OFFICERS ARE WELL PLEASED

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YOK, Nov. 24.—The first successful test of wireless telephony between war vessels was made at the Brooklyn navy yard today.

Between the Kearsarge and the Alabama, lying at their docks, 1,500 yards apart messages without the use of wires were exchanged for more than an hour and at the conclusion of the test the naval officers who had witnessed it and participated in it, clustered around the inventor, Prof. A. Frederick Collins, to congratulate him on his success.

An official report on the practicability of the wireless telephone for adoption by the United States government for use on warships, is to be made to the navy department by Lieut. Hudgins, who had the charge of today's tests. Until that report is made public by the navy department, neither Lieut. Hudgins nor any of the other officers, cared to talk on the subject, but it was plain that they were all pleased.

"If the wireless telephone works out as well in practice as it does experimentally," said Lieut. Hudgins, "it is conceivable that it may supersede the system of flag signaling or 'wig-wagging,' that is now used in the navy to communicate between ships that are in sight of each other. We had no difficulty in making out words spoken from one ship to the other today. Of course, we cannot tell until further experiments have been made, how great a distance can be covered by this means, but there is no apparent reason why it should not be possible to talk across several miles of ocean."

TWO DIE FROM SMALLPOX.

Eight New Cases in Pittsburgh. Movable House for Quarantine Guards.

Pittsburgh's record in smallpox yesterday was two deaths and eight new cases. The deaths were those of John Fulton, aged 37, of 91 Bigelow street, ill three days, and Amanda Hawkins, aged 26, a negro, of 2526 Herr street, ill seven days. The new cases are as follows: Joseph Brannigan, 760 West Carson street; Herman and Gertrude Sjolohn, 4902 Cypress street; Lizzie Flanigan, 2419 Fifth avenue; Mary Jennings, 82 Bigelow street; William Walker, 225 North Atlantic avenue; John Lowry, 1307 Locust street, and John Hoard, 125 South Rebecca street.

Because residents of North Versailles township refused to allow guards stationed at quarantined houses to obtain shelter from the cold in their homes, John R. Montgomery, a township commissioner, has had a little house built on wheels. The house is a small affair and has been equipped with an oil stove and other furniture necessary to make the quarantine guard comfortable.

PERSONALS

William Murray, chief chemist at the Edgar Thomson plant, and one of Andrew Carnegie's young partners, has resigned, after 10 years' service, to accept a position with the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Mrs. Mabel Connelly, proprietress of the Hotel White, McKeesport, accompanied by her son, Marcus, left last night to meet her brother, John Fowler, United States consul at Chee Foo, China, who is now in Boston, on a leave of absence. Mrs. Connelly and her brother have not met in 18 years, and a family reunion will be held at the old homestead in Massachusetts, Consul Fowler is trying to perfect arrangements with his sister, who is a widow, to have her return with him to China.

FATALLY WOUNDED IN ROCHESTER STREET FIGHT

ROCHESTER, PA., Nov. 23.—(Special.)—While emerging from the Grand opera house tonight, two men engaged in an altercation with the result that one of them is dying at the Beaver County General hospital and the other is locked up in the Rochester jail. The dying man is Samuel Henderson, 22 years old, single, and employed by the National Glass Company. The man under arrest is Andrew Oliver, an Italian, 18 years old. It is alleged Oliver drew his revolver and fired pointblank at Henderson. The bullet struck Henderson in the abdomen.

NEW HAMILTON SCHOOL OPENED AT CASTLE SHANNON

Dedicatory exercises at the new Hamilton public school building, at Castle Shannon, were attended last night by many residents of Castle Shannon and that vicinity. Prof. Samuel Hamilton, county superintendent of schools, in whose honor the new school was named, delivered the principal address. Prof. R. H. Holbrock, principal of the South Side High school, presented an American flag, a gift from Castle Shannon council, Jr. O. U. A. M. The flag was accepted for the school by J. C. Boyer. Miss Sadie V. Rodgers is principal of the school.

GAS MADE MINE BIG DEATH TRAP

Thirteen Coal Diggers Killed by an Explosion in an Arkansas Coal Pit.

SIX BODIES WERE RECOVERED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

FORT SMITH, ARK., Nov. 24.—Thirteen miners were killed and great damage was done by an accidental explosion of gas this afternoon, in coal mine No. 20 at Bonanza, Ark., 12 miles from this city. At nightfall only six of the victims had been recovered.

When the explosion occurred there were about 175 men in the various shafts. All escaped without injury except the 13 who were employed in entry "K," the scene of the explosion. The force of the explosion was terrific and timbers were torn from the walls of the passages for several hundreds yards at the mouth of entry "K."

The passages were so completely obstructed that the work of rescuing the entombed men was tedious in the extreme and several hours were consumed before the first body was found.

It is thought that the gas was accidentally ignited by a miner's lamp. The miners who escaped, with the aid of others summoned from nearby shafts immediately set about clearing the passages in the hope that some of the 13 entombed men might have survived the explosion.

By nightfall six bodies had been recovered and the rescue work was still in progress. It is now considered certain that all of the entombed men have perished.

PITTSBURGH CONCERN MAKES A SETTLEMENT

Will Continue Manufacture of Aluminum Under the Bradley Patents.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Nov. 24.—Following the decision of the United States court of appeals in New York October 21 in favor of the Cowles Electric Smelting and Aluminum Company for the infringement of patents, the Pittsburgh Reduction Company reaches an agreement with the victorious litigants today. The decision involved about $3,000,000. The Pittsburgh company paid a large sum of money, the amount not being given out by the official of the company and plant which is located here, to cover damages for infringement of patents since 1892 and for royalties for the future manufacture of pure aluminum under an exclusive license.

The Bradley patent, controlled by the Cowles company, which the Pittsburgh company infringed, expires in 1907, and the Hall patent of the Pittsburgh company expires in 1909. It is claimed both patents are required jointly for the most economical production of aluminum. The settlement means that the Pittsburgh concern will continue making aluminum at its immense plant at Niagara Falls, paying the Cowles people a royalty.

TALKED ON BUSINESS.

Subjects Selected for Discussion by the Pittsburgh District Christian Endeavor Society.

"Our Business," was the general subject of the program of convention of the Pittsburgh district Christian Endeavor society of the Methodist church, which was held in three sessions at the Knoxville church yesterday.

"The King hath commanded me a business." All talks were based on this scriptural verse. "Our Assets," "Our Liabilities," "Our Methods," and "Our Dividends," were some of the subjects discussed.

The Rev. F. W. Perkins talked on "Our Partnership," the Rev. Evers on "The Active Partners," and the Rev. E. C. Lane on "Silent Partners" at the afternoon session. The Rev. H. L. Freeman conducted a Bible study and Miss Maude Jamison conducted a junior hour at the same meeting.

U. G. Murphy, a missionary from Japan, the Rev. A. E. Fletcher and the Rev. Mr. Hess were the principal speakers in the evening. J. H. Freeman, the president, presided over all the meetings.

ELKS MADE MERRY AGAIN.

This Time Allegheny Lodge No. 339 Entertained the Women.

The dedication ceremonies of the Allegheny Elks were rounded up last night by a reception and banquet given by the members of Lodge No. 339 to their women relatives and friends, at the new club house at Cedar avenue and Washington street. The affair was attended by more than 500. The big dining room on the second floor was set with four large tables at which the banquet was served. This was followed by a dance.

The house was prettily decorated with palms and flowers. The members of the dedication committee acted as a reception committee and looked after the comfort of the guests.

Turkeys for Westinghouse Workmen.

The Westinghouse company will make its annual distribution of Thanksgiving turkeys at its Swissvale and Wilmerding plants. At the Union Switch and Signal works, at Swissvale, a Westinghouse concern, 600 men are employed. At the Wilmerding airbrake works 3,000 men are employed and each will be given a turkey. About 200 men, who were laid off temporarily, will, it is said, also be included in the distribution.

Out of thousands—here is just one case of Nervousness

"For two years I suffered with loss of sleep and nervous headaches. Lack of appetite had reduced me to a mere skeleton. I had lost all ambition and began to get discouraged. I tried all sorts of medicines without getting relief. Six weeks ago a friend told me he had been cured of similar complaints by Paine's Celery Compound. I immediately sent for a bottle. I now give Paine's Celery Compound a hearty endorsement, for it has no equal as a health producer. My nerve trouble was completely cured and I now enjoy complete health."—C. H. Moffatt, 1402 Sandusky street, Allegheny.

—the case of C. H. Moffatt. We print it not because it is Mr. Moffatt—(we have thousands of other letters that would do just as well)—but because it was nervousness—wrecking the health of every part of his body—just as surely and completely as your own weak nerves are doing for you. Mr. Moffatt was cured—just as You can be cured. It is a real C. H. Moffatt—who lives in Allegheny—in a real street, Sandusky street—at a real address, Number 1402. He went through just what you are going through. He could not look in the mirror and see his nerves burning out—he could not hear them crying out for new strength. When he was wakeful at night he would take something to make him sleep. When he had headaches, he would take a headache drug. When he had no appetite for his meals, he would not eat—but would "wait for the appetite to come"—and it never came. When he was discouraged and lost ambition, he looked for a cure for that—but there is no drug to cure a sick ambition, and the man or woman who is discouraged hardly even takes the trouble to look for a cure. Mr. Moffatt had been treating the symptom—the headache, the sleeplessness, the weak appetite—and he was still sick—treating the symptom instead of its cause.

Is that what you are doing?

The same cause that kept him awake at night made him tired and despondent by day. The same cause that made his head ache made his appetite weak—made his muscles fade away until he was in truth "a mere skeleton." There was just ONE cause for all—but he did not see it. The nerve force that is absolutely necessary to keep all organs of the body working properly, was too weak.

Throughout his body—throughout your body—for health or sickness, The Nerve System Is King. The brain, the stomach, the bowels, the heart, the organs that make and purify the blood—EVERY organ of your body, depends for its health and activity upon the nerve force—just as a motor needs electricity before it can run.

Paine's Celery Compound feeds and rebuilds the weakened nerve system—gives it new vital force to send health throughout the body. Mr. Moffat could stop the PAIN in his head with a violent drug—he could put himself to sleep with another drug (which might send him to sleep forever)—but he could not really CURE the trouble until he cured the real cause.

No violent drugs were necessary. There is only one sensible cure for despondency, for wasting away, for weak appetite, for headaches, for sleepless nights—FEED AND REBUILD THE WORN OUT NERVES. And they will attend to the rest of the cure themselves, sending health and vigor to every part of your body. That, finally, was what Mr. Moffat did.

He is well today. His headaches—his weak appetite—his sleepless nights—his despondency—gone—because cures the real cause.

WILL CONTROL WINDOW GLASS

Bradford Meeting Assures the Organization of Central Selling Agency.

BURNS AND PHILLIPS TO AID

BRADFORD, PA., Nov. 24.—A meeting of the window glass manufacturers of the Pennsylvania district, commonly called the "Mountain district," was held at the Hotel Holley here today. There were represented nearly all of the plants in this district and the expression of all those present, who had not been heretofore identified with the movement, was that there is no reason to doubt that the ultimate success of this movement to form a "central selling agency" which will control the window glass output of the United States, is assured.

Signatures to contracts have reached a sufficient number of pots to guarantee that with the addition of about 90 pots in the "Mountain district" the organization will be complete. If the necessary signatures for 1,500 pots are secured the new company shall be known as the Manufacturers' Window Glass Company and will not only control the sale of the hand-made glass of the American Window Glass Company, but will also control the sale as well as the time of operation of their "machine" factories.

The practice of some plants to resume operations earlier than the majority of the plants and running longer than the market conditions warrant, thereby causing demoralization both to manufacturers as well as the workers, will henceforth be impossible, owing to the attitude of the workers' organization to protect its members and maintain high wages.

Should the necessary pots to complete organization be signed up it is agreed that a general start will be made 21 days after signatures are secured.

President Simon Burns of L. A. 300 and John Phillips, Jr., of the Window Glass Workers' association, were present and pledged themselves and their organizations to contribute every possible assistance to the successful formation of the company, and they further agreed that in the future no wage scales will be given out nor any set time for starting be fixed, except as shall be determined by the Manufacturers' Window Glass Company.

MRS. BENNETT KEEPS UP FIGHT AGAINST BRYAN

Files Appeal from Court Decision Permitting Him to Act as Executor.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 24.—When William J. Bryan returns from Europe he will learn that Mrs. Grace Imogene Bennett, widow of Philo S. Bennett, will wage a vigorous fight to prevent him from acting as executor of Mr. Bennett's will, and that she will also endeavor to break the will. Former Judge Henry Stoddard, counsel for Mrs. Bennett, filed notice of appeal today in the probate court.

Mrs. Bennett's appeal of today attacks paragraphs 17, 18 and 19 of the will, by which Mr. and Mrs. Bryan are made trustees of separate trust funds of $10,000 each to be given to 25 colleges and institutions as scholarships in aid to deserving poor young men and young women students; and also a fund of $10,000, the income of which is to be spent by Mr. Bryan in 20 prizes in that number of colleges for the best essay on the "Principles of Free Government." Mrs. Bennett is joined in her appeal from probate by Mrs. Duff Bigelow and Mr. and Mrs. Bigelow and George W. Cable of Yonkers. Mrs. Bigelow was Mr. Bennett's sister and Mr. Cable was his half brother.

It is learned that Mr. Bryan's attorneys will also file an appeal within a few days. The appeal will be from that part of Judge Cleveland's decision which refused to admit as part of the will the scale 1 letter with its $50,000 bequest.

WOULD RESTRICT COAL.

Operators Are Considering Plan of Reducing the Output Temporarily.

A meeting of the principal bituminous coal operators of the Pittsburgh and adjacent districts is under consideration, the lead in the matter being taken by a few of the larger independent operators. The meeting is to consider the advisability of reducing the output by a fixed proportion. It is understood that the first plan proposed will be one effective until the last of December to cover the interval between the ending of the lake trade and the start of a heavy demand for winter coal. Twenty per cent has been suggested as the proper restriction.

No decision has been promulgated in the case of the restriction of the coke output. The committee appointed a couple of weeks ago is expected to complete its work early this week, and it is possible that late in the week there will be a meeting for the operators to hear the report. There has been some opposition to united action in the matter, but it is said that a policy of restriction could be enforced, if a selling agency plan were not possible.

HANNA SINCERE.

Senator Foraker Says His Colleague Will Not Be a Presidential Candidate.

Senator Joseph B. Foraker of Ohio, one of the orators of the chamber of commerce banquet, discussed national politics during the day. He arrived early in the morning with W. S. Shallenberger of Rochester, second assistant postmaster general, who was also one of the speakers last evening.

When asked about Senator M. A. Hanna's candidacy for the presidency, Senator Foraker said:

"Senator Hanna has stated positively that he is not a candidate and I have no reason to question his sincerity. He is a popular man in Ohio and throughout the country. I am satisfied that President Roosevelt will be the party nominee. The question of his running mate has not been seriously considered."

Gen. Shallenberger said that he believed Roosevelt would be about the unanimous choice of the Republican national convention.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEE FORMED AT CRIPPLE CREEK

CRIPPLE CREEK, COL., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—A vigilance committee is being organized in the Cripple Creek district and will be known as the "committee of 40." The membership is being kept secret, but it is learned that any violation of law or order will be severely dealt with by this organization. Several of the men who have joined the committee are said to be killers and they will not hesitate to introduce Judge Lynch into the Cripple Creek camp if there are further violations of the law.

INTERNAL ORGANS MAY NOW BE PHOTOGRAPHED

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—A Record-Herald cable from Berlin says: German inventors have patented the first Roentgen apparatus capable of photographing the internal organs of the human body, showing the size and shape of any part of the body as well as the exact dimensions of any foreign substance it may contain. This new apparatus is known as the orthodiagraph.

Paper Mill Shut Down.

GLEN FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The International Paper Company issued orders today from the New York office to shut down all mills tomorrow night. It is said manufacturing will be resumed one week from tomorrow. This affects 28 mills in this state, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine and about 10,000 men. The company refuses to give any reason.

GREEN'S SLAYER IS A PARANOIAC

District Attorney Jerome Will Have Negro's Sanity Examined Into.

DAUGHTER CLAIMS MRS. ELIAS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.

There is every likelihood that Cornelius Williams will go to the Matteawan asylum for the murder of Andrew H. Green, without having to stand trial for the crime. District Atorney Jerome has expressed the opinion that the negro is suffering from paranoia and that his notion that Mr. Green was assisting Mrs. Hanna Elias in persecuting him is an insane delusion. Arrangements will be made at once to have experts pass upon Williams' condition.

Mrs. Elias has been fairly besieged since her present affluence became known through Williams' crime. One of those who has in vain sought admission to her handsome residence in Central Park, West, is her 16-year-old daughter, known as Clara Elizabeth Hudson. The girl has not seen her mother for years.

She went to the West Side police court today with a lawyer, who asked Magistrate Ommen if there was any way in which she could gain access to Mrs. Elias' apartment and force her mother to care for her. The magistrate replied that if there was proof that Mrs. Elias was the mother and that her daughter would be a charge on the community, he would issue a summons. The lawyer said he was not ready to furnish the proofs and they left the court. The girl asserts that since her arrival in New York with her foster father she has received letters threatening her life.

FRANK A. PARKER.

SENTIMENTAL REQUEST SET ASIDE BY COURT

Production of "Parsifal," Which Was Sacred to Bayreauth, Not Restrained in New York.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The United States circuit court today refused to grant an injunction against Heinrich Conreid, who proposes to produce "Parsifal," composed by the late Richard Wagner for exclusive production at Bayreuth. The plaintiffs were Cosima Wagner and Siegfried Wagner, his heirs.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs appealed to the court to preserve the sacred atmosphere with which the widow and son surrounded the composition and after citing many points of law, told of the innumerable offers that had been rejected. The attorneys for Conreid produced evidence sufficient to convince the court that the Wagner's had sold their right to a German publisher and the injunction was refused.

The decision today insures the production of "Parsifal," scheduled by Conreid for December 24, at the Metropolitan opera house, with an all-star cast.

NEW PAINTERS' SCALE.

Employers Asks for a Reduction in Wages and Refuse to Pay Carfare.

The district council of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers has called a mass meeting for 2 p. m. tomorrow in the headquarters of the association, 416 Wood street. The Master House Painters and Decorators association has given notice to the council that a new scale is to be put into effect January 1. The scale under which the painters are working should expire March 15, 1904, and the contractors' notice that it shall expire the last of the year was a surprise.

The scale calls for a reduction of from 10 to 25 cents a day. At present the firms pay all car fare to and from work, providing the job is not within walking distance. The new scale stipulates that the men will be expected to pay their own car fare. This feature of the scale has been a bone of contention since the painters have been organized. There are other minor changes in the new scale, nearly all of which will be resented by the workmen.

It is the intention of the contractors to comply with the ruling of the Builders Exchange league ruling that all scales expire the last of the year.

TOY MISSION OPENED.

Impostors Collecting Subscriptions in the Name of Local Charitable Organizations.

The toy mission opened quarters yesterday at Sixth avenue and Grant street. Eleven thousand children were supplied with Christmas presents through this mission last year, and it is expected that many more will be remembered this year. The greatest demand of the ission this year is for toys and children's shoes, new and second-hand. At least 8,000 dolls will be needed.

Those in charge of the mission state that no person is authorized to solicit mony for the work and that those desiring to help the cause may send checks or communications to George K. Stevenson, Sixth avenue, or to Major R. W. A. Simmons, 318 Lewis block.

Other charitable institutions in Pittsburgh have sent out warnings to the public against impostors who are trying to solicit subscriptions. The managers ask that assistance of any kind be sent direct to the societies.

POLICEMEN SUE FOR $10,000 DAMAGES EACH

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—A novel suit of police officials against a wealthy society woman was filed today. Captain Ward, Sergeant Smith and Patrolman Linn filed papers against Mrs. Emilie Emerson, asking $10,000 damages each for slander. The declarations detail the story of the arrest of Mrs. Emerson's chauffeur in Druid Hill park October 29 last for driving her automobile at a higher rate of speed than the law allowed. It was declared that when Mrs. Emerson reached the police station she designated the officers as "thieves" and "cattle."

Consolidation Rumor Denied.

TOLEDO, Nov. 24.—President Norton of the Clover Leaf today denied the rumor that the control of that road had been sold to the Vanderbilts. He also denied the rumor of a consolidation with the Chicago & Alton and the Kansas City Southern.

Syndicate Given More Time.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—It was authoritatively stated this afternoon that the International Mercantile Marine and underwriting syndicate which was to expire at the close of this year has been extended till March, 1905.

Office of Treasurer Stormed by Teachers

With a swish of skirts and a flutter of laces, 200 fair teachers broke up yesterday afternoon's session of the McKeesport institute and made a bargain-day rush for the city treasurer's office. No casualties have yet been reported. In an unguarded moment the announcement was made that the November salaries would be paid by Treasurer Samuel Milliken. The brave men in the treasurer's office turned pale when they saw the serried ranks approach, but in less than an hour they had paid out $10,000 to the teachers, and a calamity was averted.

NEWS NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

THREE MEN KILLED BY FALL IN A SHAFT

Engine Got Beyond Control and Elevator Dropped in Mine Near Dubois.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

DUBOIS, PA., Nov. 24.—In a mine accident at shaft No. 2 of the Buffalo & Susquehanna Coal and Iron Company today three men were killed, two of them white and one colored.

THE DEAD:
HARRY ROWLAND.
JAMES MURPHY.
CHARLES IVORY.

The accident was caused by the engineer of the engine which lowers and hoists the elevator losing control of the machinery. The three men were being brought to the mine opening when the accident occurred. The elevator started to drop and it was stopped so suddenly when the engineer gained control of it again that they were thrown out. They fell to the bottom of the shaft, over 100 feet. All were taken out dead.

Rowland and Murphy are white and leave widows and children. Ivory, the colored man, was also married and his widow and several children survive him.

The shaft at which the accident occurred is one of the new operations that is being opened up in this section by the Buffalo & Susquehanna Coal Company.

BEARD TURNED WHITE IN A SINGLE NIGHT

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The jet black beard of Burtt Halleti, a wealthy farmer of Cabell county, was turned white by a night of anxiety. Yesterday evening he visited a sick neighbor. A few hours later a physician pronounced his neighbor's malady smallpox. Halleti is of a nervous temperament and when he heard that he had ben exposed to smallpox he walked the floor all night. This morning his beard was white.

MEADVILLE, PA., Nov. 24.—Judge Thomas today sentenced W. T. Coleman, late proprietor of the Hotel Lafayette, to pay $300 fine and costs, and serve 10 days in jail, on the charge of dissuading a witness.

ISLE OF PINES TREATY RETURNS TO COMMITTEE

Interests of American Citizens Not Properly Safeguarded, It Is Charged.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The treaty between the United States and Cuba for the adjustment of the title to the ownership of the Isle of Pines, has been returned to the committee on foreign relations for an inquiry concerning the interests of American citizens, before action is taken.

The treaty was reported favorably yesterday and in executive session today Senator Bacon called it up for ratification. Objection was made by Senator Penrose, acting for Senator Quary, on the ground that certain citizens of Pennsylvania have investments in the islands which have not been safeguarded under the treaty. He protested against precipitate action and at his suggestion the treaty was ordered recommitted to the committee. The extent of American interests will be made subject of investigation.

By the terms of the treaty the United States relinquishes in favor of Cuba all claims to the title to the island and receives in consideration grants of coaling and naval stations in Cuba. It is agreed that citizens of the United States, who at the time of exchange of ratifications of the treaty reside or hold property in the island, shall suffer no diminution of rights or privileges acquired prior to the exchange. They may remain there or may remove therefrom, retaining in either event, all her rights of property, including the right to sell or dispose of such property or of its proceeds, and they also shall have the right to carry on their industry, commerce and professions subject to such laws as are applicable to other foreigners.

CAT IN STRANGE GARRET.

Asst. Supt. of Police Malone Resigns at Request of Director Moore.

Acting on the request of Director Harry Moore of the department of public safety, Assistant Superintendent of Police Thomas D. Malone, tendered his resignation to that official yesterday. The resignation was immediately accepted and Malone will retire from duty December 1. Inspector Bernard McStay of the First district and Capt. Albert Teeters of No. 6 police station, East End, are spoken of to succeed Malone. Director Moore refused to confirm either of these reports.

"The man I will appoint is now in the service and is able and capable," said Director Moore.

The communications between Malone and Moore were as follows:

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 22, 1903.
Mr. Harry Moore, Director of Public Safety:
Dear Sir:—In compliance with your request, I herewith tender my resignation as assistant superintendent of police, same to take effect December 1, 1903. Obediently,
THOMAS D. MALONE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 24, 1903.
Thomas D. Malone, Esq., Assistant Superintendent, Bureau of Police.
Dear Sir:—I have this day accepted your resignation as assistant superintendent of the bureau of police, same to take effect December 1, 1903.
Very truly yours,
HARRY MOORE,
Director Public Safety.

"I was a cat in a strange garret," said Malone, "and I jumped on favorite rats. I am glad my work is at an end. Mr. Moore demanded my resignation, and now he has it."

MRS. POG HELD THE HOG.

Dispute Over Porkers Gets Two Women in a Justice's Court.

For two hours yesterday morning Mrs. Harvey Pog, colored, sat on the carcases of a hog in Sixteenth avenue, Homestead, and refused to allow Mrs. Collins Clarke to take it. Constable J. J. Cavanaugh of Justice J. C. Miller's office was called on to settle the dispute. Mrs. Pog was induced to get off the hog and cross-suits were entered.

At the hearings it developed that the Clarke family sent two small pigs to the Pogs last June, with the understanding that in consideration of raising them, the Pogs were to get one of the hogs when they were butchered, the other to go to the Clarkes. Yesterday the pigs were killed and it is alleged the Clarkes attempted to take both of them. The carcases were loaded into a wagon and Mrs. Clarke was driving away with them when Mrs. Pog pulled one of the pigs out of the wagons and on to the street, and sat down on it.

Justice Miller fined each $2 and cost, and each of the parties was given a hog.

GEN. DAVIS DESTINED FOR CANAL COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—It is understood that Major General George W. Davis, retired, who has just relinquished command of the forces in the Philippines and returned to the United States is likely to be appointed a member of the Isthmian canal commission. Gen. Davis was a member of the original Isthmian canal commission.

Mine Workers' Nominations.

The executive board of the United Mine Workers met yesterday to consider the nominations made for officers. Several of the candidates were found not to be eligible and some of the votes were irregular. The board did not count all the votes yesterday and will meet this morning to finish the work.

Aged Couple Burned to Death.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, 60 years of age, were burned to death today in a fire which consumed their home. The couple lived alone outside of the city limits. The fire was discovered by neighbors, but before any help could be rendered the old people, the building collapsd.

MOONSHINERS RESCUE LOST MILLIONAIRES

Were Taken Into Mountain Cabin Half Frozen and Nearly Starved.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Nov. 24.—After wandering in the mountains of Logan county for 48 hours without food or fire and being almost frozen to death, C. B. Robinson and J. H. Housman, millionaires of Cleveland, O., were taken in by moonshiners along Island creek late yesterday afternoon and piloted back to civilization.

The capitalists were inspecting coal and timber lands when they lost their way. They spent one night on the mountainside covered with leaves. On reaching the quarters of the moonshiners, the capitalists had to put up a strong argument to convince the moonshiners that they were not revenue officers. Once convinced, however, they took the wanderers in and fed them.

The Cleveland men reached here today suffering greatly from exposure.

Agreed on Price for Light.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—After a continual fight covering three years between the city and the New Castle Electric Company over the price to be paid for lighting the city streets, councils last night arrived at an agreement. The company will hereafter receive $75 annually for 10 years for each of the 200 arc lights, but will accept $28.710 for all the light furnished since October, 1900, which is at the rate of $50 a light.

Knocked Down and Robbed.

IRWIN, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Michael Davis of Port Royal had a thrilling experience with tramps on the railroad near town late last night. Davis asked two men the way to the station. They obligingly said that they would show him the way, but instead they walked him into a dark cut on the line and attacked him. He was knocked down and relieved of $20. The thugs also stole his coat and vest.

Struck Heavy Flow of Gas.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The Manufacturers Light & Heat Company of Pittsburgh, which supplies this city with natural gas, today struck a heavy flow on the farm of Thomas Cooper of Scott township. The pressure was so heavy that at first the gas could not be confined. It will relieve the gas shortage that has existed in this city all fall.

Abusive Letter to Governor.

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Charles E. Kruger, convicted of murder, has written an abusive letter to Gov. Pennypacker, the contents of which were made public here today. Kruger writes that he will have to cheat the law unless a day is soon fixed for his execution. Sheriff Trescher is of the opinion that Kruger will attempt to commit suicide.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

JOHNSTOWN, PA.—When Mrs. Henry Goldshine went upstairs at her home here to call Mr. Goldshine to breakfast, she found the aged man dead. He was a native of Germany.

CUMBERLAND, MD.—A marriage license was issued here to John Augusta Gray and Blanche Isabella Delo, both of Pittsburgh.

CANTON, O.—That Canton's credit is good is evident by the fact that 14 firms bid on $15,000 worth of bonds sold. A Cleveland firm bought them at a premium of $1,040 on the securities which bear 4½ per cent interest.

CANTON, O.—Burglars at the grocery store of Matt Marx secured $15 in dimes and nickels and a lot of cigars and tobacco. Burglars also secured a small amount of money and some cigars at the grocery store of M. L. Smith.

GREENSBURG, PA.—Chief Burgess M. H. Mainwaring of New Kensington issued an order for the extermination of all stray dogs and cats in the streets of the borough. Smallpox and diphtheria are epidemic in New Kensington and the physicians say that the infections cannot be stamped out until the dogs and cats running at large are killed.

OIL CITY, PA.—In a rear end collision between two freight trains on the Chautauqua division of the Pennsylvania railroad, east of here, Robert Campbell of Oil City, a conductor, was killed, and John B. Mead, a brakeman, was slightly injured.

GREENSBURG, PA.—The Rev. Jonathan Server, D. D., has resigned from the pastorate of the Lutheran churches at Seanors and Harrolds to accept a call to Georgetown. The Rev. Charles M. Fraser, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Jeannette, has resigned to accept a call to Altoona, Mich.

ILLITERATE AMERICANS.

Recruiting Officer Surprised at the Number of Men Who Cannot Read.

"It is surprising how many applicants are unable to read. Men 20 and 30 years old and American born, are unable to read their own language," said Lieut. Muir, at the marine recruiting office, Federal building, yesterday. "Out of 41 failures during the last 10 days, four could not read, and I regard that a pretty big percentage, considering our school system and all apparent advantages."

Among the physical disabilities impaired eyesight is probably the most common, according to Lieut. Muir. On account of the Panama situation there is just now quite a demand for marine corps recruits. In the past 10 days there have been 58 applications at the Pittsburgh station and 11 men have been accepted.

STORY OF A REVOLVER, A MAN, A GIRL AND A WOUND

Harry Hilton of 192 Forty-fifth street who was arrested Saturday night and taken to the Forty-third street police station with a gunshot wound in the side, was fined $5 yesterday. Hilton refused to tell how he came by his wound. This led the police to believe he was a burglar and had been shot while robbing a home in Lawrenceville.

Ethel Gressley of 146 Forty-fifth street, was known to have been acquainted with Hilton, and she was arrested. The girl said she and Hilton were examining a revolver and the weapon went off wounding Hilton in the side. The girl was discharged.

CHOSE DEATH BY POISON TO SURGICAL OPERATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Rather than undergo an operation which was set for this afternoon, Mrs. Julia Thomas, wife of Charles E. Thomas, committed suicide at her home at Newdorp, Staten Island, today, by taking carbolic acid. She was found unconscious by her husband and was dead when the physicians arrived.

BRITISH ADMIRALTY BUYS FORMER VANDERBILT YACHT

LONDON, Nov. 24.—(Special Cable.)—W. K. Vanderbilt's 600-ton yacht Consuelo is owned by the British admiralty and she is to be refitted as a surveying ship for use in Australian waters. When the Consuelo was launched she was considered the finest yacht afloat. W. James of West Dean Park, one of the king's most intimate friends, purchased the vessel from Mr. Vanderbilt and the admiralty bought her from Mr. James.

Louisville Out of the Running.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 24.—Brent Altsheer today transferred back to the executors of captain W. F. Norton, the Auditorium Proper for the consideration of $1. This is the last step in the unsuccessful effort to place a coliseum at Fourth avenue and Hill street and is believed to preclude any possibility of Louisville making a bid for either of the national conventions.

Mail Bag Rifled and Money Taken.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 24.—A mail pouch that was rifled near Oelwein, Ia., has been received at the office of Chief Post-office Inspector Dye. The pouch had contained several hundred letters from different points in the west and had been cut open and the contents rifled. The amount taken is not known, but money orders and checks amounting to $10,000 were left.

Lake Vessel Disabled by Storm.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 24.—A northwest storm of great violence swept over Lake Erie last night and early today. At daylight the steamer Portage was sighted off Fairport, 30 miles east of here, dying signals of distress. She was subsequently towed into the Cleveland harbor with her machinery disabled.

KAUFMANN'S

"THE BIG STORE"

A $100,000 purchase of choicest furs

WE inaugurate today what we believe to be the greatest fur sale Pittsburgh has ever known. The most fashionable and dependable furs—advance styles for 1903-4 are embraced. Besides great quantities of garments, there are scarfs and muffs innumberable. The house from which these goods were secured is one of the best and longest established in New York and also one of the largest direct importers from Russia, Siberia, London and Leipsig.

Just at the threshold of the winter season to buy furs at such savings as we quote below is a privilege no woman who loves and desires furs should ignore.

145.00—for genuine sealskin coats, 22 or 24 in. long, newest shape collar and sleeve, soft rolling rever and lined with guaranteed lining—worth $185.

14.00 —for plain electric seal coats, 22 in. long, new shaped collar, soft rolling rever, new sleeve, heavy satin lining, sizes 32 to 46—worth $25.

55.00 —for genuine Leipsig dye Persian lamb coats, made in newest 1904 shape, in large, small or flat curl, lined with best quallty lining—worth $100.

35.00 —for newest 22 or 24 in. combination nearsilk coats, with Hudson Bay beaver or sable mink rever, collar and cuffs, lined with Skinner's satin—worth $55.

125.00 —for best quality of Leipsig dye Persian lamb coats, beautiful silky curl, rever and collar faced with finest quality of baum marten, 2 stripe mink or genuine chinchilla, in blouse effect or regular 22 in. jacket style—worth $200.

25.00 —for genuine chinchilla scarf or double Isabella or sable fox pelerine shaped scarf, double length, brush tail trimmed—worth $40.

8.50 —for very finest American Isabella or sable fox scarfs, or finest dark squirrel scarfs, in broad effect or regular full stole effect, self lined, satin lined or squirrel lined—worth $15.

5.00 —for genuine squirrel, Isabella or sable fox, electric seal or wolf scarfs, double length or single with brush tail trimming—worth $10.

16.50 —for genuine moleskin, new four-in-hand or pelerine shape scarfs, silk fringe trimmed, good length—worth $25.

5.00 —10.00, 15.00, 25.00 up as high as 50.00—handsome assortment of finest muffs to match scarfs, in Persian, Isabella or sable fox, chinchilla, mole, mink, sable, beaver, etc.—worth double.

That suit or overcoat for Thanksgiving

Has it been bought yet? If not, then better take what little time's left by the forelock. Just when you're in a hurry is when the Kaufmann Clothing Store shows its best side. Hurried folks are apt to buy wrong—and more than likely if they fall in to wrong hands. Here you take no risk whatever. You are just as safe when buying hurriedly as when time is not a consideration. The Kaufmann Clothing Store is powerfully helpful to you. Consider its immense purchasing power, its tremendous resources, its commanding commercial prestige and its wonderful outlet. After reflection on these points then you need not wonder why it is most advantageous to you to buy your clothing here.

8.50 worth $10 and $12

The suits and overcoats at 8.50 are garments that will retain their shape from the beginning of service until you are ready to part with them. The suits are made of mixed cheviots, black thibets, fancy mixtures, heavy blue serges and black clays. The coats come in both single and double breasted styles, in the correct three button effect.

The overcoats embrace all the season's styles in medium and long lengths; among the materials are black and blue kerseys, heavy oxfords and other stylish winter overcoats, also 52 in. raincoats. Comparison will prove these suits and overcoats not bettered elsewhere at $10 and $12.

15.00 worth $18 and $20

Our line of $15 suits and overcoats is fine enough to meet the exacting requirements of the particular dresser. They possess lots of snappy style and in fit are not bettered by the custom tailor's product at double the price. The hand-tailor work on the collars, shoulders, lapels and fronts insure shapeliness until the garments are worn out. A very comprehensive assortment of both suit and overcoat materials is embraced. Among the overcoats will be found those very popular belted backs, cut extra long and full. Every man may be fitted no matter what his size or proportions.

No tailor can improve upon our finest suits and overcoats at 20.00 to 45.00

We claim that these suits and overcoats are just as good as the best produced by expert tailors at double the price. After once wearing a suit or overcoat from these lines you'll hesitate again before going to a merchant tailor. More aristocratic styles and patterns cannot be had. More perfect fit it is impossible to give, finer tailoring is hardly within the ability of man to produce. We direct attention to our new 5th Ave. bell skirt Prince Albert coats.

You must come today

for your boy's Thanksgiving overcoat

THIS great boys' clothing store of ours is on the alert to help parents to easy, economical and satisfactory selection. Most mothers know Kaufmann's boys' clothing by this time—its style—its capacity for hard wear—its sturdy quality—its great variety and the consistently low prices.

Boys' automobile or "Buster Brown" three-quarter length coats—in royal, navy, tan, oxford and red shades; with or without half-belt in back; trimmed with brass buttons and embroidery on sleeves, lined with farmers satin or red flannel—would be good value for $5, today's special price 3.50

Boys' nobby tourist coats—in fancy dark plaid, oxford and blue friezes, cut very long and loose, reaching down to the shoetops—also the latest novelty and dress suits—a grand line of juvenile attire, from which any boy can be fitted, 5.00

Boys' suit special—boys' stylish all-wool suits, in Norfolk, double breasted and sailor styles, made of fancy or plain color cheviots and cassimeres, sizes 2 1-2 to 16, this sale, 3.00

Young men's belted coats — full 52 in. long, also dress coats and rain coats, in the very newest shades—together with a splendid line of dress suits, all sizes 14 to 20—regular $12 to $15 garments, at 9.50

Thanksgiving haberdashery

THERE is a diversity of opinion relative to the many merits of our great men's furnishing store. Many men claim that there are more exclusive things here than in any other store. Others pride themselves in the claim that selection is broadest here. All, however, are unanimous in the verdict that best values for the least expenditure are what may always be had at "The Big Store." If you are wise, you will of course buy your Thanksgiving haberdashery here.

Men's fancy shirts, 1.00—in design and quality of material and in the making these shirts compare with many sold at $1.50. All have detached cuffs, best choice of patterns we've ever offered at the price 1.00

Neckwear headquarters for men—special lot of English squares, at 50c. These smart, stylish English squares can be tied in ascot, once-over or four-in-hands, regular $1 values, hundreds of new, pretty patterns—special price 50c

Men's linen collars, 12½c—No 25c collars will give better service and none shown at 12½c elsewhere will compare with these in quality. They are linen; most collars sold at this price are cotton. They are perfect-fitting and first-class in every respect—40 styles, 12½c

Special lot of men's $2 dress gloves, 1.50—our own importation, the product of one of the best English makers. Made up in the latest English walking style. If the glove had the maker's name on the button the price would be $2 the pair, instead of 1.50

ALL-DAY FIGHT OVER OFFICIALS

State and Wash.-Jeff. Representatives Finally Agree on Men to Preside at Game.

BOTH TEAMS AT PRACTICE

After conferring from 1:35 yesterday afternoon until 10 o'clock last night with only a brief recess for supper, the State and Wash.-Jeff. men finally reached an agreement in regard to officials for the Thanksgiving day game at Exposition park. Messages were sent to Jack Minds, the well-known University of Pennsylvania man who officiated in the Yale-Princeton championship game and to Doc Hillebrand, head coach of the Princeton team, asking them to come here. If they accept they will have charge of the much-talked of contest. If only one accepts, State is perfectly willing to take Poe. If neither can come it was agreed to call President Pulliam up on the long-distance telephone and ask him to send here two eastern college men of his own selection.

The first conference was attended by W. A. Stuart and C. A. Aull, representing State, and Manager C. H. Tuft and Coach Seaman of W. and J. They could not reach an agreement, and after talking until 5 o'clock it was decided to send for Capt. Hayes of the W. and J. team and Prof. H. C. Ford of the faculty, who arrived at 7:50. Then there was more talk. State was willing to accept Poe, but W. and J. did not want to take any one on the State list. Then the names of Hillebrand and Minds were suggested, although W. and J. did not want to drop Poe. Both sides agreed that it would be absolutely necessary to name the officials before the day of the game. They also agreed that the linesmen and timekeepers should be selected from men not connected in any way with State and W. and J.

The conference adjourned at 10 o'clock to meet at the office of the Pittsburgh Baseball club at 2 o'clock this morning, when answers are expected from the messages sent to Minds and Hillebrand. It was reported that Charles Rafferty, captain of the Yale team, will be home tomorrow, but the football men much as they would like to have him, do not believe that he could be induced to officiate.

One step taken by W. and J. to prove that it is trying to go straight as a string was the affidavit made last night by Coach Seaman to return to Geneva the mascot pig stolen by some of the W. and J. students from the Geneva delegation at Washington. The Geneva men threatened to organize a rescue party and make a rush to recover their mascot during the game Thursday. Such a move would result in a row and in the interest of harmony the W. and J. management will guarantee to deliver the pig to Joe Thomson without a struggle. One of the conditions of the surrender will be that Geneva will not allow the mascot on the field during the game. Whether the return of the mascot will result in a reconciliation between W. and J. and Geneva remains to be seen.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The members of the varsity football squad at Washington and Jefferson college were bundled into conveyances this morning and hustled off to Hillsboro, a small country town 12 miles east from this city on the National pike. This step was decided upon last night as the only way in which to get the players into any kind of form. The men were in charge of Coach Montgomery, who will stay with them while away. Coach Seaman will go to Hillsboro early this morning. McCleary, Sutter, Eggles, McDonough and Prowitt are all injured as a result of the game with West Virginia last Saturday. The men will be given an absolute rest. They will be kept at Hillsboro until tomorrow evening at 5 o'clock, and then they will be brought to Washington, quietly put to bed and taken to Pittsburgh at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The indications are that 2,000 will attend the game from Washington. A brass band will be taken and the college boys will have their yells down pat, reetly.

STATE COLLEGE, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Four coaches in addition to regular Coach Golden are now at work putting the finishing touches on the State football team for the game Thanksgiving with Washington and Jefferson at Pittsburgh. The assistants are Reed of Cornell, Atherton of the college, W. H. Stuart and Charles Aull of Pittsburgh, the three latter all players on former State teams. Reed has charge of the linemen, Atherton of the ends, all of coaches while Stuart is giving pointers in kicking. The men are now all in fairly good condition and should be in shape, barring accident, to put up one of the best games of the season. The team will leave here on Wednesday for Pittsburgh and will take along the Cadet band, the instruments for which were furnished by Andrew Carnegie, and a considerable squad of rooters.

BALL PLAYERS' EXPERIENCE.

Footpads Attempt to Hold Up Hugh and Harry Tate at Avalon.

Hugh and Harry Tate, the well known baseball players, had a lively run in with a negro footpads Monday night at Avalon, where they reside with their parents. While passing a new building in the darkness a big negro with a club in his hand leaped out and felled Harry Tate to the ground. Hugh Tate then set to on the same thing with the Homestead outfielder. Hugh, however, was too quick for the assailant, who was given a swing on the jaw, sending him into a collar way. He instantly got to his feet and started around a corner of the house, but Hugh threw two bricks after him, one landing on the negro's head.

Harry, in the meantime, had got up, and was doing battle with the second holdup gent, who beat a hasty retreat when Hugh arrived after beating off his assailant. Harry is a well-known catcher. He finished last season with Dayton in the Central league.

Will Have House Warming.

The Undercliff Gun club of Undercliff (Pittsburgh & Western railroad) will hold their third annual shoot and house warming Thanksgiving day at 2 p. m. They have enlarged their club house. There will be a gold medal shoot and a grand merchandise shoot for the benefit of the prize winners. Members are requested to bring their friends and have a good time.

They would like to hear from such teams as Manchester Juniors, Beaver College preps., Sterlings, Nationals, South Side Juniors, North Sides, C. A. C. Juniors of Braddock. Address John Fineity, 340 Oakland avenue, city.

ONE FINISH WAS VERY EXCITING

Fuller and Redfern Had It Out in Fourth Race at Bennings and Sport Was Great.

THREE FAVORITES IN FRONT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—An exciting finish between Fuller, on Meistersinger, and Redfern, on Highlander, in which the former excelled, was the only feature at Benning today. Favorites won in three events and horses well played at good prices captured the other three. Four horses fell in a heap at one jump in the steeplechase, but the riders escaped with bruises and a shaking up. Track fast. Summary:

First race, high-weight handicap, 2-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—Sais, 115, H. Michaels, 9 to 1 and 3 to 1, won; Foxo Kane, 129, Treubel, 4 to 1 and 7 to 5, second; Icewater, 113, Troxler, 4 to 1, third. Time 1:16 4-5.

The principal winners were C. H. Emmel, Mars, Pa.; Charles G. Jacobus, New Kensington; Bert Evans, Warren, Pa.; W. H. Mazon, Charles Shannon, Robert Taylor, Pittsburgh; C. H. Hildebrand, Pittsburgh, and W. P. Wessel, Allegheny.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

Lowell second team will meet the Monterey A. C. on Thursday on the latter's grounds, West End.

Owing to a cancellation, the Madison Tigers will play Oakland on Thanksgiving instead of Jeannette.

The Westlake Juniors will line up against the strong Washington High school team Thanksgiving morning.

The Colonial A. C. will play the Anchoria A. C. on Thanksgiving afternoon at 3 o'clock at Colonial's grounds, Penn and Negley avenues.

All Geneva players will report for practice tonight in full uniform. Geneva will go to Greensburg to play the Polkadots on Thanksgiving.

The Pastime Reserves want a game for Thanksgiving morning at Herron Hill park. Call up 2424 Court and ask for Hock.

Ingram will play at Monaca tomorrow and the players are requested to report at the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie depot at 1:30 sharp, as the train leaves at 1:50.

The Belmont A. C. wants a game from some 30 to 40-pound team for Thanksgiving. Address Harold Grace, 1126 Laurel street, Allegheny, or call up 183 Court.

At Homestead Park on Thanksgiving day between the "Floradora" and the Homestead A. C. will meet. Both teams are from Homestead and have practiced hard for this game.

The Bellevue Tigers go to Avalon Thanksgiving morning to play the Avalon Athletics at that place. Bellevue defeated Avalon once this season and expect to repeat the trick Thanksgiving.

The Geneva A. C. will go to Greensburg on Thanksgiving to play the Polkadots of that place. All Geneva players will report tonight at the Luceum billiard hall, Homewood avenue, at 8 o'clock.

The Rovers and Colonials clash on Thanksgiving morning. Both teams know the game and have never tasted defeat. Both captains say the game will be clean and free from all objectionable features.

Owing to Ingram cancelling, Emsworth first team is without a game for Thanksgiving afternoon. Any first-class team that is not afraid to play please call up John V. Sevin, 668 Grant, or 50-R Emsworth.

Avalon and Ambridge meet at Avalon Thanksgiving afternoon. Interest has been aroused at Avalon, and if weather permits one of the largest crowds in the history of the town will be in attendance.

The Oak Leaf A. C. will play the Westlakes on the latter's grounds Thanksgiving morning. All Oak Leaf players are requested to report for practice Wednesday at 7 p. m., without fail. Miller and Lee take notice.

Idlewood Juniors will play the Wilkebidde A. C. Thanksgiving morning, and would like to arrange a game for Thanksgiving afternoon with any 70-pound team. Call 231 Crafton this evening between 6 and 7 o'clock, ask for Fred Proker.

The Nuttall A. C. would like to hear from some good 60-pound team for two games for Thanksgiving and November 28. Good treatment and half expenses for men. Address Thomas Twigg, 1 Avenue, Allegheny, or call up 1282 J North, after 3 p. m.

The Colesseum second team would like to play some strong 35-pound team Thanksgiving day. The Colesseum claims the 35-pound championship. Address Hall Grant 1472, Bell 'phone, and ask for Charles Swift. All players are to report for practice tonight.

On Thanksgiving morning on the Newman club's grounds, Hamilton avenue, at 10:30 the Newman club and Oakleaf A. C. will meet. Both teams have been playing good ball all season and as this is the last game for the Newman club, they will try to close the season with a good record.

Lovers of amateur football will have an opportunity of seeing one of the best games of the season between 90-pound teams when the North Sides and the Sycamores meet tomorrow morning on the Phipps playground, to battle for supremacy. Neither team has been scored on this season.

The Bristol A. C. will play the Echo A. C. Thanksgiving for the 80-pound championship of Hazelwood and vicinity. Both teams are evenly matched, and as there is considerable rivalry between them, a good game is expected. The game will be played at Orion park. Kick at 10:30 a. m.

Owing to Waverly A. C. canceling at the last moment Suburban A. C. is left without a game for Thanksgiving. A good, strong team from 80 to 90 pounds can have a game for Thanksgiving by calling up 194-R Hill and asking for Mr. McBride. Full expenses for 14 men and good treatment is guaranteed.

The Linwood A. C. will line up against the Eagle A. C. of Braddock Thanksgiving morning at Hartmans park. Game called at 10 o'clock. The Linwood A. C. would like to arrange a game for Saturday, November 28, with some 80-pound team. Address S. Brunsteen, 3000 Lincoln avenue, East End.

THE PIRATES' OWNER IN MYSTERIOUS MOOD

Contract of a New Player Received, but the Name Is Withheld for a Few Days.

When Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pirates, wants to be mysterious, he can assume an air that would put to rout the best men that Johnny McTighe has on his force, and Johnny asserts that in his flying squadron he has a few wise ones who could give Sherlock Holmes cards and spades. Dreyfuss was in a mysterious mood yesterday and was therefore short on conversation.

The cause of the mysteriousness on the part of Dreyfuss was a long package he received by mail during the day and that package contained the signed, sealed and delivered contract of a player who will be new to the ranks of the Pirates, whose name is being withheld, but for what reason is past finding out. The club owner would take the contract from its resting place in a secluded corner of his desk and gaze longingly at it, and he even consulted it under the top of it to the writer, but all efforts to get him to give up the name of the signer were of no avail. He said he would make the player's name known during the latter part of the week, so there is nothing to do but wait.

That party that Hans Wagner had scheduled for yesterday afternoon did not take place and the reason is that on Monday night a friend of Hans' put him on a train for Paris, there was quail to be found and the Carnegieite at once called off the party and started to seek that quail. Deacon Phil was to have accompanied Hans but he got to the Union depot just in time to see the train pull out of the shed with Hans on the rear car yelling for him to get a move on. The deacon spent a lonely day about headquarters, but will join Wagner this morning.

On the heels of advices from Wheeling that "The Stain of Guilt" people had released Rube Waddell comes another outburst from Connie Mack. In an interview with Ren Ziegler of the Record, the Athletics' Indian medicine man says: "Do you suppose I would leave Rube get away from me and allow him to do great work for some other club, when I know he can do it for the Athletics? Not much. I have fixed up my pitching staff so that I can afford to take a chance on 'Rube.' He may come around next spring on his good behavior and pitch great ball, in which event the Athletic club will need his services as much as any other team. 'Rube' is satisfied with the treatment he has received from the club, and I don't think he is trying to get away. Any time he gets tired of playing with the Athletics he can jump out and play with some independent club, and with our present staff of pitchers we will never miss him. But no other club will get the benefit of Waddell's pitching."

ON THE BLACKLIST.

Yale Students Who Speculated in Tickets Will Know Their Fate Today.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Uneasy lie the heads of some students at Yale tonight, stirred by the announcement by the Yale Daily News that blacklist will be published tomorrow, making public the names of those who sold their seats to the recent football game. Some well-known young graduates will appear in the list.

The scandal that is promised has caused more interest than last year's developments, because it is said to involve some men who have been candidates for Yale athletic teams. The faculty may also make an investigation into the scandal. Publication of one's name means proscription from the list of those who in years to come may apply for seats.

One of those said to be involved is a law student who was noticed in the Hotel Lexington in Boston last Saturday, having tickets for the Harvard game. Threats of boycott have been made against "old clees" men who trade with the students. They, too, were ticket speculators.

THE LATONIA RACES.

Jack Ratlin Won the Handicap by a Nose.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 24.—The feature of today's Latonia card was the handicap at 1¼ miles. Only four started and Jack Ratlin got the decision by a nose from Ethel Wheat. Track heavy. Weather cold. Summaries:

First race, 4 furlongs—Easy Trade, 91, Nichol, 20 to 1, won; Lovable, 102, Colvin, 12 to 1, second; Circus Girl, 102, Paul, 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:31.

Second race, 6 furlongs—Ed. Tierney, 113, Crawford, 4 to 1, won; Delmonico, 110, J. Hicks, 10 to 1, second; Harfang, 107, H. Wilson, 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:17.

Third race, mile—Christine A., 99, J. Hicks, 6 to 1, won; Aunt Nora, 102, Scully, 5 to 1, second; Tocadiera, 96, D. Austin, 15 to 8, third. Time, 1:44.

Fourth race, handicap, 1⅛ miles—Jack Ratlin, 105, Dieterle, 8 to 5, won; Ethel Wheat, 98, Monroe, 3 to 1, second; Ocean Dream, 109, D. Austin, 7 to 5, third. Time, 1:36½.

Fifth race, 5½ furlongs—Lida Lieb, 113, D. Austin, 7 to 5, won; Alma Dufour, 110, Knight, even, second; Lora J., 103, Crawford, 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:11.

Sixth race, 2 miles—Barney Burke, 85, A. Thompson, 10 to 1, won; Tufts, 95, S. Bonner, 4 to 1, second; Goo Goo, 89, Pirman, 8 to 1, third. Time, 3:40.

Cavanaugh to Train Kennedy.

John Cavanaugh has been engaged to assist Eddie Kennedy in his training for his 10-round contest with Mull Bowser, which takes place on Monday night. Manager Corbett would like to engage two good preliminaries for Monday.

Blame the West Virginians.

The Washington and Jefferson college faculty have issued a statement regarding the football riot of last Saturday, and the blame for the rotten affair is placed on the University of West Virginia players, who are alleged to have used "ringers," thus causing the disturbance.

South Side Midgets Lose.

The Seventh Avenue Tigers of Homestead beat the South Side Midgets at Homestead last night 16 to 12.

New Parlor Car Train Pittsburgh to Toledo.

Under new schedule, in effect on Pennsylvania lines next Sunday, November 29, a parlor car train will leave Pittsburgh Union station 12 o'clock, noon, every day, running through via Mansfield to Toledo in seven hours and forty-five minutes. The parlor car will have broiler and buffet meal service. Returning, new parlor car train will leave Toledo 12 o'clock, noon, arrive Pittsburgh 7:45 p. m. Other trains for Toledo leave Pittsburgh 3:15 a. m., daily; 7 a. m., week days, and 8:20 p. m. daily. Night train has sleeping cars for Toledo and Detroit.

GORDON ELECTED CAPTAIN OF THE KISKI ELEVEN

Franklin Boy Has Practically No Opposition—Bunton Chooses East Liberty Seven.

Harry Gordon, right end, was yesterday elected captain of the Kiskiminetas Springs school eleven for next year. The election was held at the academy and all the regular players voted. Gordon had slight opposition. Ralph Swires, left end, received four votes, which were of a complimentary nature. Gordon lives at Franklin and he succeeds Francis Caughey, the Pittsburgher.

Gordon was playing a strong game at his end until forced to retire for the rest of the season, having been injured in the Shadyside game at Friendship park November 9.

Capt. "Pawnee" Bunton, of the East Liberty Academy hockey team, has thinned out the candidates for his seconds and has about decided upon his men. They are: Goal, Carter or Sykes; point, McCracken or Duff; cover point, Lew Edwards or Hagan; center, Bunton; forward, Asdin; right wing, Bryan; left wing, Karl Mueller.

B. H. Mustin of last year's Pennsylvania (Chester) Military Academy seven, will play for Bellefield league. Mark Smith, a former Pittsburgh Academy point, and William Harmount, formerly of East Liberty, both of whom played on the same team with Mustin last year, will also join the Mercury club. Other candidates for the team are A. A. Detterer, H. H. Robertson, W. Ostermier, F. Neeper and E. Ong. Robertson is captain and Mustin manager of the team.

From present indications hockey will excite more interest this season than ever before in New York. The strenuous ice game has had a large following for the championships. The schedule calls for the opening game between the St. Nicholas Skating club and the New York A. C., Tuesday, December 22. The schedule will continue until March 9, 1904.

Pilcher Scott Is Near Death.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Ed Scott, who was recently a pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, and has since filled short engagements with other teams, is at the point of death at his home in Walbridge, a Toledo suburb. Last night it was not thought he would live till morning, but he is slightly improved tonight, although not expected to live.

UNION LABOR OFFICERS GUESTS OF PRESIDENT

Government Officials Meet Them Around Hospitable White House Board.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—President Roosevelt entertained at luncheon today representatives of the labor organizations of Butte, Mont. The special guests were Malcolm Gillis, president of the Miners union; Edward Long, president of the miners union; M. M. Cronin, president of the hotel and restaurant helpers' union; William Robinson, former secretary of the miners' union; J. W. Gilfoyle, president of the workingmen's union, and Frank Doyle, president of the trade and labor assembly.

Invited to meet the labor representatives were Secretary Cortelyou of the department of commerce and labor; Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of the labor; Representative Dixon of Montana, and Wayne MacVeagh, former attorney general and one of the counsel of the Pennsylvania coal operators.

SPECIAL FOR SERVANT.

Colored Girl Made Pennsy Road Run Extra Train When Taken Past Depot.

WEST CHESTER, PA., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The Pennsylvania railroad ran a special train last night to take a colored servant girl from this place to Oakburne, two miles east of here. The girl came from Philadelphia, and her ticket called for Oakburne.

The conductor, forgetting he had a passenger for that point, did not stop there, but continued to West Chester. Reaching there the girl refused to leave the car, exhibiting her ticket. The conductor offered to send her back in a carriage. She refused to accept any such a compromise and then the conductor telegraphed to headquarters in Media. Any time he gets tired of playing with the Athletics he can jump out and play with some independent club, and with our present staff of pitchers we will never miss him. But no other club will get the benefit of Waddell's pitching."

Immediately word was wired to take an engine and one car and convey the girl to Oakburne.

Arrested for Stealing Wedding Beer.

Twelve boys were given a hearing yesterday on charges of larceny at Carnegie. C. Reich claims the young men stole three of 40 kegs of beer supplied for his marriage festivities in September. At that time six of the boys were fined for disorderly conduct in connection with the affair. Justice McMillen discharged the six who had paid fines and the rest were held for a further hearing.

Earthquake Shocks in Utah.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 24.—Two distinct shocks of earthquake were felt in this city today. No serious damage was done.

ALL-PITTSBURGH READY FOR CLEVELAND ELEVEN

Local Boys Kick Goals from Field and Are Anxious to Win Inter-City Game.

Rapid signal work and kicking drop kicks and from placement, marked the practice of the Pittsburgh All-School team, which will meet the West High school of Cleveland Thanksgiving, at Friendship park, in the first inter-city contests between teams from these cities. Capt. Price put the men through signals like lightning, sending them up and down the field repeatedly, and then kicking was brought into play.

The Cleveland back field is a very fast one and all the men are adept at dropping goals from the field, and the Pittsburgh boys practiced on these themselves. From the 40-yard line Price sent the ball spinning between the bars; so did Charlie Ahl and Arch Williams, the Shadyside players, and Bauer, Capt. Harper and Bibbs, the Pittsburgh High school stars. Alan Donnelly, the Shadyside plunging half and tackle, also tried the goals. "Midget" Spidler held the ball for placement.

That this game will be the greatest for the school elevens this season locally there is no doubt. The indications are that it will be more largely attended than the Shadyside-High school game, one of the results causing as much interest in Cleveland as the game between "Shorty" James, the old Cornell quarterback and High school coach, has charge of the All-Pittsburghs, assisted by Mark Smith, a former Pittsburgh Academy point, and William Harmount, formerly of East Liberty, both of whom played on the same team with Mustin last year. Al also joins the Mercury club. Other candidates for the team are A. A. Detterer, H. H. Robertson, W. Ostermier, F. Neeper and E. Ong. Robertson is captain and Mustin manager of the team.

From present indications hockey will excite more interest this season than ever before in New York. The strenuous ice game has had a large following for the championships. FIGHTING THE AMERICAN.

Property Owners Determined to Open Streets Through Grounds.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—There is trouble in store for the American league in this city if the Property Owners' Protective Association has its way. At a meeting of the association speeches were made denouncing the baseball grounds as a nuisance, and the association decided to press the application pending before the board of estimate for the opening of the streets.

Alderman Kleit and Fiorenes, who voted against the property owners, were not renominated for office. The aldermen-elect from the Washington Heights district stated before election that they were in favor of opening the streets.

Both Teams Ready for Game.

The Lyceum team had final hard practice last evening on the college grounds in preparation for the Pastime game on Thursday. The officials will be Ames and Hockenberry. The Lyceum rooters will occupy the right side of the field and the Pastime rooters the left side, the grand stand which will only seat 500, has been reserved for ladies.

BIG MEN KISSED AND MADE UP AFTER A FIGHT

Peculiar Actions of Hungarian Made Alderman Caldwell Throw Up His Hands.

It was no Judas kiss that was planted on the foreheads of two Hungarians last night, in Alderman John Caldwell's office on the South Side, for the recipients were given their liberty after they had languished in the county jail since November 6. All the participants in the touching comedy were men, and this demonstration of forgiveness was a revelation to those who witnessed it.

Iljivic and Molo Vlhovic were defendants, charged by Cami Winovic with stabbing Mela Winovic, brother of the prosecutor. Mela was found on the night of November 8 lying in South Thirtieth street severely cut. The following day the Vlhovic brothers were sent to jail to await trial, bail for last night. Sam Winovic appeared against them and at the hearing was just about to proceed when he suddenly walked up to his enemies and deliberately kissed them.

This action astounded the alderman and those present and when the prosecutor pleaded that the prisoners be freed, Alderman Caldwell threw up his hands and declared the case off. The trio left the office arm-in-arm, apparently the best of friends. Alderman Caldwell supposes that the action was the outgrowth of some trouble so touched the heart of Winovic that he was prompted to give them his forgiveness.

GEN. LEE REFUSES TO ADDRESS SLIM AUDIENCE

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Gen. Fitzhugh Lee was to have spoken on "The United States and Cuba," in Wallace hall, Newark, tonight, but on account of the slim attendance refused to speak. Rev. Murphy and four others were all that were in the main body of the hall, while less than 35 others occupied seats in the balcony. Lee was bitterly disappointed and the governor humiliated.

Had a Kit of Carpenter's Tools.

J. G. Gallagher was arrested in Grant street last night and locked up as "suspicious person." He had a basket full of carpenter's tools, which he said he was trying to sell. Gallagher said the tools were his property, but as he did not have the appearance of a working man, the officers decided to hold him. The tools were stamped "A. W."

Contractor Dropped Dead.

ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Lewis F. Langley, a prominent contractor of this city, dropped dead tonight while attending a meeting of Hazlett post, G. A. R. Mr. Langley was a veteran of the civil war and served for a time as chief of the Zanesville fire department.

Injured in a Runaway.

FITZ IS STILL THE FAVORITE

The Odds Went Down on Monday, but Shifted Back to Old Figures Yesterday.

CORNISHMAN IS CONFIDENT

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Nov. 24.—If, as some one once claimed, the betting market constitutes the pulse of the sporting world, the scare in regard to Fitzsimmons' condition is subsiding. Last night when wagering ceased, Fitzsimmons was a 10-to-9 favorite, the odds against Gardner having shortened from 10 to 6 in a few hours. It was predicted that Gardner would be an even-money chance today, a few sanguine supporters of the Lowell man going so far as to say that George would be the first choice in the betting. Today the market opened with Fitzsimmons on the long end at 10 to 9. Before long the price went to 10 to 8½ and later again to 10 to 8, with plenty of Fitzsimmons money in sight and Gardner backing hard to find. The picture of Fitzsimmons they had in their minds yesterday—that of an old man vainly trying to pull himself together for a final effort in the roped square—has vanished. In its place they see only a muscle-sheathed fighter with wondrous shoulders—the fellow who bowled over Ruhlin and Maher, who located Corbett's solar plexus in Carson City and who knocked Sailor Tom Sharkey into the lee scuppers of a Coney Island ring.

There was no diminution in Fitzsimmons' work today, although it is the eve of the contest. He was out on the slushy roads and did not return until he had covered six miles. In the afternoon before a favored few and behind closed doors Fitzsimmons had a heart-to-heart session with the punching bag. He was extremely earnest about his work and he infused more motion into the bag and draw more music from it than he has in any similar séance during his present training spell.

Most of those present came to the conclusion that Fitzsimmons was not nearly so bad as he pretended to be, as he was thought that he felt "under the weather" to a certain extent on account of his cold and the rigors of training—that his feelings were such, in fact, that this game will be the greatest for the school elevens this season locally there is no doubt. The indications are that it will be more largely attended than the Shadyside-High school game, one of the results causing as much interest in Cleveland as the game between "Shorty" James, the old Cornell quarterback and High school coach, has charge of the All-Pittsburghs, assisted by Mark Smith, a former Pittsburgh Academy point, and William Harmount, formerly of East Liberty, both of whom played on the same team with Mustin last year. Arrested for Stealing Wedding Beer.

Twelve boys were given a hearing yesterday on charges of larceny at Carnegie. C. Reich claims the young men stole three of 40 kegs of beer supplied for his marriage festivities in September. At that time six of the boys were fined for disorderly conduct in connection with the affair. Justice McMillen discharged the six who had paid fines and the rest were held for a further hearing.

The Yarmouths Are Here

THE earl and countess of Yarmouth are at "Lyndhurst," the home of Mrs. William Thaw, mother of the countess. They quietly slipped into Pittsburgh Monday evening, arriving a few days earlier than expected. They spent no time in New York, coming directly to this city as soon as they landed. Their trip across the Atlantic was a remarkably speedy one, they having sailed from England last Wednesday. Yesterday a number of the former friends of the countess were received at "Lyndhurst" and cordial greetings were exchanged.

The earl and countess expect to remain in Pittsburgh only about two weeks, their stay in this country being much shorter than they had previously arranged. They will return in time to spend the Christmas holidays in England. The Thanksgiving house party at "Lyndhurst" this year will comprise only Mrs. Thaw, Lord and Lady Yarmouth and Harry Kendall Thaw. Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Copley Thaw, who were married last Wednesday, in Port Huron, are not expected to arrive in Pittsburgh until Saturday, and Mr. and Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie will not come until next Sunday, when the family party will be complete, but only for a few days, as Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie will leave on Wednesday of next week and go south to their winter home, Dungeness, Cumberland Island, Georgia, where they will be joined about December 8 by the earl and countess of Yarmouth. Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Copley Thaw intend sailing for Europe immediately after the reception which Mrs. William Thaw will give for the earl and countess and her son Josiah and his bride, on Tuesday, December 1. The Yarmouths will remain in the south only about a week, intending to sail about December 18 for England.

During her brief stay in Pittsburgh the friends of Lady Yarmouth will vie with one another to shower her with social attentions. Leaving her former home last spring after a short social experience, with extended travel abroad and the last season spent in Washington, she returns in little more than six months, having already achieved social distinction in London, where her few formal entertainments at the close of the season were marked by originality and dignity and were attended by notable people in the American colony and prominent members of the British peerage. She was presented at court and the round of festivities arranged in honor of the young American bride in the old English Hertford family included ovations at Ragley Hall, the family residence, and in Mayfair, where the earl's town house and his young bride took a house during the season, entertaining charming house parties.

Married With the Pope's Blessing.

Seldom is the honor of the papal blessing given to a bride and bridegroom, but this was the case at the wedding yesterday of Miss Camille Marie Frauenheim and Eugene S. Reilly. Miss Kennedy, who is a friend of both families, received the blessing from the pope in Rome yesterday morning. The wedding took place at 9:30 o'clock in St. Augustine's Roman Catholic church, with the Rev. Father Joseph A. Stehle officiating, and the Rev. Father O'Connell as officiants, a number of other priests lending their presence at the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss May Florence Frauenheim, as maid of honor, the bridesmaids being Miss Anna Teyl, Miss Josephine Reilly and Miss Katherine Villasck. Brennan Reilly was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Frank Leo Meehan, Harry T. Frauenheim, M. B. Kelly, Thomas P. Coyle, David Page, Frank McRenna and John A. Reilly.

The bride, given away by her brother, Joseph Frauenheim, was attired in a shimmering gown of white, trimmed with duchess lace and tiny shirrings. The white satin prayer book she carried was a wedding gift and had a basket of white orchids and valley lilies. The veil was fastened with orange blossoms. Miss Frauenheim was gowned in pale green chiffon with a large beaver hat and long trailing plume of the same color. She carried a large brown chiffon muff. Muffs of white chiffon were carried by the bridesmaids, who wore gowns of white crepe de chine and white beaver hats.

The wedding colors were green and white. A profusion of green was used in the church, together with large bunches of chrysanthemums. The same flowers were employed effectively at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Catherine Frauenheim, in Stanton avenue, where the wedding breakfast was served. The bridal party was seated at a large table, the other guests being served from smaller tables placed in the dining room and halls. At the breakfast the bride gave to each of her attendants little gold pins set with diamonds, and Mr. Reilly presented his ushers and best man with watch fobs.

A reception was held last evening at which about 500 guests were in attendance. The hours were from 7 until 9 o'clock. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Reilly left for an eastern wedding trip, at the conclusion of which they will be "at home" in Baum street. Cards announcing dates after February 1.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss McLean of Baltimore, Miss Joan McIntyre, John McIntyre and Mrs. Costello of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. John Toomey of Scranton, Mr. and Mrs. John McLaughlin of Rochester, George Gunther, Pinckney Williamson and William Mertz of Baltimore and John Hart of Ohio.

Mrs. Seely's Tea.

Simple but exquisite decorations marked the reception given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. C. B. Seely and Miss Seely of the Kenmawr to meet Mrs. Charles Blanchard Seely, a bride of the autumn. Mrs. Seely was Miss Jean Shaw before her marriage. She and her husband have returned from their eastern wedding trip and are now "at home" in Euclid avenue, Wednesday afternoon was the first given for the bride since her return. The hours were from 4 until 6 o'clock and the assistants included Mrs. John Shaw, Mrs. George Hallman, Mrs. Edward M. Bigelow, Mrs. John McKelvy, Mrs. S. Sneed, Mrs. George L. Peabody, Miss Virginia Oliver, Miss Penelope Whitehead, Miss Rebecca Jones, Miss Georgie Gormley, Miss Jane Bennett, Miss Virginia Boghman and Miss Rachael Miller. The two hostesses received with the honor guest. Mrs. Seely wore a modish gown of black crepe de chine, last trimmed. Her daughter was gowned in pale blue crepe shirred and trimmed with lace, while the honor guest wore her wedding gown of white crepe meteor.

Minstrels Were a Success.

The minstrel performance given in the Sewickley auditorium last evening for the benefit of the Sewickley free library fund by the Nevin Mandolins was given liberal patronage by the society people of the valley, over 800 being present. The evening's entertainment had all that wealth of diversity common to the minstrel show with a musical element of an unusually high order. Following the minstrels a comedietta entitled "A Few Minutes in a Studio" was given, in the musical portion of the entertainment the soloists were Harry Fair, W. C. Nevin, Harry Teck, George Reed, Alex Hays and Alex Roe.

Ingold-Willetts.

Miss Emma Clark Ingold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ingold, and Harry Grosvenor Willetts, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, 4423 Second avenue, Hazelwood, at 8 o'clock last evening. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. A. Snodgrass, pastor of the Carnegie Baptist church, and a great-uncle of the bride. The bride's only attendant was Miss Rebecca White of Oil City, her school chum. Dr. Ernest Ward Willetts, a brother of the groom, and a physician in the University of Pennsylvania hospital at Philadelphia, was groomsman.

The ceremony took place in the library, in an alcove filled with palms. The house was prettily decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums. On the bride's table was a large bouquet of white roses showered with lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid's bouquet consisted of maiden hair ferns with pink roses tied with pink chiffon.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a diomond and pearl pendant which was the only jewelry worn. The ushers were Guy Tarbigold, a brother of the bride, and Paul Willetts, a brother of the bridegroom. About 100 relatives and friends attended the ceremony. Diamond stick pins were the gifts of the groom to his best man and the ushers. A wedding supper was served after the ceremony. The happy couple were the recipients of many valuable gifts. The bride is well known in Hazelwood and the bridegroom is a member of the Willetts Manufacturing company. They left for a two weeks' trip to eastern cities.

Donevan-McCallen.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at Homewood yesterday at 6:30 o'clock in the Holy Rosary church, the Rev. Father Malady officiating. The bride was Miss Margaret A. Donevan, daughter of James A. Donevan of Homewood, and the groom John F. McCallen, son of P. F. McCallen, a retired business man, now of Wilkinsburg.

The bride wore a tan traveling suit and carried white chrysanthemums. After their return from their wedding trip they will live in Pittsburgh.

Hamilton-Johnston.

Miss Etta May Hamilton, daughter of ex-County Treasurer Samuel Hamilton of Beaver, Pa., and Rem A. Johnston, a newspaper man of Ossian, Ind., were married at noon yesterday at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. Dr. J. S. Ramsey. The ceremony was attended only by the members of the immediate family, who later sat down to the wedding dinner. The couple left in the afternoon for the west, and after a short trip will make their home in Ossian.

Hukill-Wilson.

Miss Grace W. Hukill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hukill, and William W. Wilson were married at 7 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents in Holland avenue, Wilkinsburg. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Theodore N. Eaton, D. D., pastor of the South Avenue Methodist Episcopal church of Wilkinsburg. The bride was given away by her father. Miss Lydia M. Hukill, her sister, was maid of honor, and Miss Margaret L. Hukill of Oil City, a cousin, was a bridesmaid. The groom was attended by Ralph V. Hukill, a brother of the bride. The bridal gown was white mousseline de soie trimmed with duchesse lace and bride's roses and lilies of the valley were carried. The maid of honor wore yellow mousseline and carried yellow chrysanthemums, while the bridesmaid wore white mousseline and carried white chrysanthemums. The house decorations were yellow and white, with a touch of green here and there. There were 200 guests. A reception followed the ceremony after which Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left for an eastern trip. They will be "at home" in Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg, after December 20.

Beautifully boxed.

Women's Clubs

Meeting of Old and New Members.

Mrs. Charles R. Wray, the president of the Woman's club of Pittsburgh, entertained the members yesterday afternoon at her home in St. James street, Shadyside. The guests were restricted to the members of the club, thus affording an opportunity for the new members to become acquainted with all of the older ones. There were few absentees, and those only the ones kept at home by illness or out of town. It was purely a social gathering with no formal program. The house was prettily decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, yellow being the club color. Mrs. Charles W. Gerwig, first vice president of the club, and Miss Caroline Blumberg, corresponding secretary, presided at the tea table and were assisted by the members of the social committee, including Mrs. Vitallius Matthews, Mrs. Edward H. Straub, Mrs. A. U. Bean, Mrs. Anna Gerwig, Mrs. Louis F. Newman, Mrs. James S. Dinwiddie, Mrs. Walter Hodgens, Miss Anna M. Gerwig, Mrs. Florence E. Lea, Mrs. B. L. Butler and Miss Emma Cordier.

Christmas Greetings to Shoppers.

Miss Nannie G. Barclay, corresponding secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Branch of the Consumers' league, yesterday sent out 1,000 postal cards for the league bearing Christmas greetings to the people of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, with a few suggestions for their Christmas shopping. The league makes three suggestions to the recipients of the cards as follows:

First—Attend to holiday shopping early during the month to avoid overworking clerks in the last few days before Christmas.

Second—Shop in the mornings to avoid late deliveries of goods purchased, and carry small packages with you.

Third—Do not shop on Saturdays or the day before Christmas.

By following out these suggestions the members of the league hope that a long and happy Christmas day may be secured for the shop girls and men and the clerks in the different department stores and mercantile houses in the two cities.

Meeting of the Travelers.

The Travelers' club held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon in the assembly room of the Central Young Woman's Christian association. Mrs. Lucian O. Livingston was the appointed leader for the day, the program dealing with the founding of the Moorish kingdom of Granada and the arts, sciences and industries of Modern Spain. Short talks were given on the architecture of Spain when dominated by the Moorish tribes. Among those who appeared on the program were Mrs. George C. Wade, Mrs. Joseph P. Reed, Mrs. William J. Glenn, Mrs. A. M. Watson, Mrs. William Anderson and Mrs. Harvey McKinney.

New Civic Movement.

A number of women in Oakmont met last week to organize a civic club. Although the organization is not yet fully completed, it is assured a large and interested membership. A second meeting will be held in a few weeks, when the club will be fully organized and the officers elected. This club has developed from the informal meetings which were held from time to time during the past summer by the members of the Oakmont Woman's club, which holds its next meeting in the Library building on Tuesday, December 1.

Health Condition Good.

The Visiting and Nursing Mission of Oakmont and Verona met yesterday afternoon in the Oakmont Public library. Reports were presented of the work the mission is doing among the poor and sick in the two boroughs. They showed an unusually healthy condition, with less sickness in the two boroughs during the past few months than at any other time within the past 20 years.

Active Club Spirit.

The club spirit is active just at present in Oakmont. Cards have been issued calling for a meeting on Friday in the Oakmont Public Library building for the purpose of organizing a Shakespeare club. The aim of the club will be the study of the plays of Shakespeare and Shakespearean literature.

Art Society Events.

The very interesting course of lectures on Japanese Art, given under the auspices of the Art society and free to the public, will be continued this evening and next Saturday evening in the lecture hall of the Pittsburgh Carnegie Institute. The lectures are illustrated with double stereopticon views, and Mr. Fenollosa is an authority on his subject.

The 50th reception of the Art society will be given in the Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall next Tuesday evening, when a recital will be given by Eugen Gunitroff, baritone, and Miss Mary Hallock, pianist. Mr. Gunitroff, educated in music for the most part in Paris, came to the United States about two years ago at the suggestion of Sir Henry Irving. During this time he has sung in many cities in this country, although he has reserved a limited period each year for engagements in London and on the continent. The characteristic Bohemian songs which are always a part of his program are both novel and attractive. Miss Mary Hallock, pianist, of Philadelphia, was heard with the Pittsburgh Orchestra in Pittsburgh four years ago. She is a well-known pupil of Leschetizky and has given much time during the last two years to the preparation of articles for the scientific musical press.

Philadelphian to Wed at Homestead.

Miss Lyda West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John West of Homestead, and Lawrence Matter of Philadelphia, will be married tomorrow afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, the Rev. H. Walker Vincent of the First Baptist church officiating. The wedding will be a very quiet one, and after the ceremony the couple will go to Philadelphia, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will return later to Johnstown where the prospective bridegroom has a position as government inspector at the steel works.

House Guest Returned Home.

Mrs. William Warnock of Philadelphia, who had been visiting Mrs. John L'Amour of Ben Venue avenue, left for her home last Sunday. Mrs. Warnock visited in the city for about two weeks, and during that time was honor guest at several informal theater parties and luncheons.

NEGRO BURGLAR FROM THE EAST

Director Scandrett Recognizes Him as a Former Atlantic City Waiter.

JEWELRY AWAITING OWNERS

The police of both cities are confident that A. Williams, the negro burglar, captured on Monday night after he had robbed the residence of Thomas W. Bakewell in Ridge avenue, is the thief that has been working in Allegheny and East End for several weeks. Acting Superintendent Elmore of the Pittsburgh detective bureau visited the Allegheny lockup yesterday and had a look at the negro. Elmore says he never saw him before and is certain he is an eastern thief. This is the opinion of Assistant Superintendent John

VACLAC P. BACKORA.
The young theologian who captured A. Williams, the negro burglar.

Glean and Detective Thomas C. Johnson, both of whom have an extensive acquaintance with the notorious thieves of the country. Detective Joseph Dean, who was a guard at the penitentiary for more than 20 years, declared yesterday that he had never seen Williams before.

The latter got a surprise yesterday when Director Scandrett went to his cell to have a look at him.

"Hello, there; you're pretty far from home," said Scandrett.

"Yes, I guess I am," answered Williams.

When Director Scandrett was in Atlantic City in August Williams was a waiter at a hotel where he was stopping. He admitted this yesterday and talked for some time with the director. The latter met Williams in Wylie avenue on Monday afternoon and spoke to him. The negro recognized Scandrett and did not deny yesterday that he had met him in Pittsburgh.

Glenn "sweated" Williams for a long time yesterday but will not make public yet what he learned from the negro. Detective Leon Ehstein made several photographs of Williams and made measurements of him by the Bertillon system. Photographs were sent to the police of New York, Washington, D. C. and Atlantic City. Superintendent Campbell got into communication with the chiefs of police of these cities and it is expected that within a few days Williams' identity will be positively established.

With the exception of the goods taken from the Bakewell home, none of the jewelry found on Williams was identified or claimed yesterday. About $2,000 worth of rings, diamonds, pearls and watches are in the office of Superintendent Campbell awaiting identification.

There is no doubt in the minds of the Allegheny police that Williams has a pal and that he was with him on Monday night. Williams, it is said, did the inside work while his confederate watched outside and warned him of any danger. The police are looking for the other man and are hopeful of running him down.

Broke Open a Slot Meter.

When Harry T. Jackson was arrested last night and placed in No. 5 police station, he admitted that no mistake had been made and that he was the man wanted to answer for breaking open the quarter slot meter at his boarding house and taking about $8. He had spent a portion of the money. Mrs. Julia Sexton of No. 151 Forty-third street, with whom he boarded, suspected him and got the police to make the arrest.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Frank McCann has filed exceptions to the report of the Virgin alley viewers.

Brace Bros. secured a preliminary injunction preventing G. E. Hart from working a laundry route for another firm.

James A. Corey, committee of Virginia Sloan, a lunatic, filed a report charging himself with $14,135 16 and showing a balance of $8,000.

Felix Bleskanitch recovered $500 from B. Bernstein, Constable Bemkrantz, et al., in suit for conspiracy to extort money. The defendants were convicted some time ago in criminal court.

The commission appointed to inquire into the sanity of George Miller reported that he suffered from paranoia. On recommendation of the district attorney he will probably be sent to Dixmont.

The following executions were issued yesterday: D. F. Forker vs. Mrs. Mary Geary, $27 78; Harris Friedman vs. Israel Simon, $907 50; Anchor Savings bank vs. Millers Run Coal Company, $1,477 64; Western Savings and Deposit bank vs. Henry Wolfram, $892 24; same vs. same, $806 45.

Change of Time.

With the new time table on Pennsylvania railroad, taking effect on 29th inst., two new trains will be established between Pittsburg and New York.

Train No. 24, "Philadelphia and New York Express," will leave Pittsburgh at 12.30 p. m. arriving at Philadelphia, 9.28 p. m., and at New York at 12.45 a. m.; and train No. 26, "Pittsburgh Special," will leave West Twenty-third street, New York, at 9.55 p. m., arriving at Pittsburgh at 9.00 a. m. Both trains equipped with vestibule coaches, parlor cars on train No. 24 and sleeping cars on train No. 29. Train No. 26 will carry dining car, Altoona to Pittsburgh.

W. J. ALFORD GETS $22,586 VERDICT

He Wins Action of a Contract Against President Donner of the Union Steel Company.

THE REEVES LIBEL SUIT IS UP

The jury in the suit of W. J. Alford of Anderson, Ind., vs. W. H. Donner, president of the Union Steel Company in the United States circuit court, gave a verdict for the plaintiff of $22,586 40. James W. Kinnear was attorney for the plaintiff and Reed, Smith, Shaw & Beal appeared for Donner.

The jury thus decided that letters exchanged between Alford and Donner constituted a contract, by which Donner agreed to give to Alford what 720 shares of the Sharon Steel Company would bring after consolidation with the Union Steel Company. Alford to pay $125,000, the consideration being that he was to use his influence to bring about the consolidation. The United States Steel Corporation bought the stock of the consolidated company, which issued bonds to pay the stockholders, instead of giving them stock. The corporation guaranteed principal and interest of the bonds. Pending the deal with the United States Steel Corporation, the stock of the consolidated company went up, and when the sale was finally made the 720 shares brought $443,886 40, the difference between that amount and the $125,000 which Alford was to pay being the amount the jury found for. The case has been on trial four days, wealthy men like Senator William Flinn, A. W. Mellon and George W. Darr appearing as witnesses on either side of the case.

George Moore, R. L. McCulley and J. J. Henderson and the Potter Wall Paper Mills filed a bill in equity against G. W. Sherman and W. A. Roberts, charging Sherman and his wife with deeding thousands of dollars' worth of property to Roberts without consideration. They say they are creditors and want the property turned over to a trustee. Roberts, it is alleged, knew of the debts. An injunction and accounting is asked.

In the trial of Gertie Wild against E. H. Berger and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in the United States court to recover $20,000 damages for alleged false arrest for embezzlement, of which crime the girl was acquitted in criminal court, Attorneys S. S. Robertson and W. K. Jenning's almost came to blows over a question asked by the latter. Miss Wild has been awarded damages by two juries, but both verdicts have been set aside.

In the case of Daniel O'Day, Jr., and others against T. N. Barnsdall et al., a motion for a new trial was made. An amicable settlement has been reached in the suit of the Farmers Loan and Trust Company, trustee, against the Pennsylvania Plate Glass Company of Irwin, and litigation covering several years has been adjusted.

Charles C. Davis, a former conductor for the Pittsburgh Railways Company, pleaded guilty to two charges of embezzlement in knocking down fares. He was sent to the workhouse for 18 months.

The case of Ex-Lieutenant of Police John E. Reeves of the Panhandle railroad against Capt. C. E. Kemp, charging libel in writing a letter to Supt. R. E. McCarthy which caused Reeves' discharge, was given to the jury. It is alleged Reeves was wrongfully accused of being drunk and attempting to force Officer Joe Ruminsky to take a drink and Thomas Lewis to dance at the point of a revolver. Reeves claims the letter was written by Kemp and W. S. Henderson so that it was unfortunate that it was written to injure him. He charges both with conspiracy.

William Kinnon was sent to the workhouse for 18 months and James Chambers for two years for burglary. Crawford Burns pleaded guilty to robbing the house of J. S. Nicholson at Oakmont. He asked for leniency because it was his first offense. Both stood his request and Judge Shafer said it did not seem like an amateur job. He got four years in the penitentiary.

THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food Eaten Is Worthless Unless Digested —Some Stomachs Must Have Help.

Food taken into the stomach which, from the nature of the food or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement as far as it goes and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work, in other words they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would do it.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten and carry out Nature's plans for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year-old baby. A strong man doing strong work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enable it to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as she heals and knits the bone of a broken limb, which of course not used during the process of repair.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box and they are the one article that the druggist does not try to sell something in the place of that's "just as good." Their unqualified merit and success and the universal demand for them has placed them within the reach of everyone.

IF A 2 CENT STAMP WILL SAVE YOU HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS AND YEARS OF SUFFERING AND ANNOYANCE, wouldn't it be a pretty good investment? If you are a sufferer from Catarrh or Deafness, send a 2c stamp to Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, Ohio, and they will mail you a sample of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm, which has been proven by thousands to be the only immediate, specific cure for all forms of Catarrh and its kindred affliction—deafness. Easily applied—gives instant relief, and you'll thank us for the advice. For sale by druggists. If not, a full sized jar will be sent prepaid on receipt of 50c. But send for the sample first. That'll prove the claims of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm.

"One of my sons, Dr. C. K. Teter, a dentist, was with me recently and stated that about a year ago he had a patient with such an offensive case of catarrh that he could not work over him. He prescribed your catarrh balm for him and told him to use it thoroughly; after a few months he returned, practically cured and had his mouth fixed up also. The doctor has used considerable of your balm and, of course, finds occasion to recommend it many times in his line of work."

(Rev.) H. K. Teter.

FURTHER LIQUIDATION IN THE INDUSTRIALS

Shares of the Railway Equipment Companies the Greatest Sufferers—General Market Closed Heavy—Call Loans Reach 9 Per Cent.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was further active liquidation in industrial stocks in the eastern market yesterday, and the buying power appeared to be extremely limited. The professional bear party seems to have taken the United States Steel issues as the standard of value for all industrial shares, and it meets little opposition in marking prices down to that level. At the opening there was some pressure against Steel preferred and the price was depressed a point to 51¼. At the same time 1 per cent was knocked off the price of the sinking fund bonds, which declined to 69. This movement attracted little liquidation, and the railroad list was steady to firm. London prices were higher, and foreigners were purchasers. A little later in the session, however, weakness appeared in American Locomotive preferred, which broke from 77 to 71. About the same time Corn Products common broke from 29 to 15½, and the preferred from 71 to 60¾. Both these stocks are on the dividend paying list, 4 per cent having been declared early in the year on the common, payable quarterly, while the preferred has been receiving quarterly dividends at the rate of 1¾ per cent since its organization. The selling extended to the shares of the railway equipment companies, which established new low records. American Car & Foundry declined to 17⅝, Pressed Steel Car common to 2⅝, and the preferred to 64½. Republic Iron & Steel common broke to 5¾ and the preferred to 30, both new low records. Colorado Fuel & Iron declined to 25¾, or within a fraction of its previous low mark, and Tennessee Coal & Iron declined to 27½. Despite the declaration of the regular dividend on United States Leather preferred the stock broke from 77¼ to 74. Amalgamated Copper sold off from 39¼ to 37¾. While these declines were in progress Sugar advanced to 119¾, and General Electric rose 2 per cent to 155¾.

The railroad list ignored the weakness in the industrials during the early part of the day and several stocks developed considerable strength. Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Union Pacific and Louisville & Nashville all advanced. The continued weakness in the industrial, however, together with the stringency in call money, finally caused a reaction in the railroad list, and the whole market sold off. During the final hour the lowest average prices of the day were made, and the market closed heavy at or near the lowest.

The cause of the weakness in Corn Products was said to be the selling out of a large loan in which the stock figured as collateral. The weakness in the locomotive and car-building company stocks was ascribed to the policy of economy now being adopted by the railroads in withholding specifications on contracts already placed and in cutting down estimates on future requirements. For three years past the railroads have been making liberal provisions for rolling stock. Just now the movement of grain has been falling off at a time when the car requirements of the industrial centers have been reduced, and the need of new cars and motive power is less pressing now than at any previous time in two years.

The action of the money market is puzzling. The rate yesterday ruled between 6 and 7 per cent most of the time, and during the afternoon reached 9 per cent. This is higher than call loans touched during the last two weeks in October, when the shipments of currency to the interior reached the maximum of the season. The latter are now at the minimum, in addition to which gold is coming in from abroad, and the banks have actually gained $755,000 since last Friday in their transactions with the subtreasury. There was a further decline in sterling, and a Boston bank announced the engagement of $1,000,000 gold for import. That the banks should call in loans and the rate be advanced at a time when the drain to the country has been reduced and when gains are being made from abroad seems unnatural. Evidently something is going on under the surface that will be revealed in due time. A guess as to what this something may be is that some of the large industrial and other corporations are coming into the money market for loans to tide them over a period during which it is practically impossible to float new securities for the purpose of raising new working capital.

The only prominent feature of the local stock market yesterday was the strength displayed by Pittsburgh Coal preferred, which on sales of a little less than 800 shares advanced 1¼ per cent to 61¼, and closed at 61 bid. This was the only net gain in any prominent stock for the day. River Coal common declined a dollar a share to 8. Steel preferred sold off 4¾ to 51½. Manufacturers' Light & Heat declined ½ to 28½, and the rest of the list closed either unchanged or at slight declines. River Coal 6s sold unchanged at 110, while Consolidated Gas 5s advanced 1 per cent to 100. The market closed dull and barely steady.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Seven industrial stocks yesterday declined to the lowest prices of the year in Wall street. A half score of others belonging to the same class sold lower than since the middle of October, when the low prices of the year occurred. In the case of the shares of railroad equipment companies, particularly common stocks, there may be grounds for declining values. There is no doubt that the railroads of the country have entered upon a period of retrenchment. This is perfectly natural and what their stockholders have a right to expect, for if dividends are not increased when earnings are at a maximum, the holders of the junior class of stocks are entitled to the right of looking for such retrenchments as will assure the continuance of dividends when earnings are smaller. Just now the executive officers of the railroads are actively engaged in reducing the estimates of heads of departments for equipment and improvements generally. There is now no complaint in industrial centers of car shortage, and the pulling from the manner which western farmers are holding back grain, there is no unusual pressure for cars in that section. Hence the car building companies, the locomotive builders, and the producers of railroad supplies, etc., are feeling the effects already faced a period of slack demand. Under times like those now prevailing, collections are likely to be slower, and this necessitates larger working capital. Industrial concerns which have not thus well provided are compelled to resort to the loan market. Under these circumstances the lender has the advantage, and he is apt to insist upon certain conditions as to future financial policy before advancing the funds desired. For instance, he may insist upon a suspension of dividends on common stock and a maintenance on hand of a larger amount of material, etc. He may possibly insist on a reduction of the rate of dividend on preferred stock. These are some of the possibilities confronting the newer industrial concerns, and the prospect is said to fill Wall street with the bearish almost to a man, are making the most of the situation.

According to brokers' reports, the advance in Pittsburgh Coal preferred is based upon a small but steady investment demand. A considerable percentage of the latter comes from out-of-town buyers, the orders ranging from 10 to 50 shares. The Fourth avenue firms have been doing quite a trade of this kind. Yesterday there were numerous small transactions in the stock on the exchange at prices ranging from 61 to 61½, and the market closed at a net gain of a dollar a share.

River Coal stocks were heavy, the common declining to 8 and the preferred being offered down to 26½. The 6 per cent bonds were firm and unchanged at 110.

The banks and stock exchanges of the country will be closed tomorrow, Thanksgiving day.

"One of the best things I see about the situation," remarked a Fourth avenue man yesterday, "is the entire subsidence of rumors about the standing of financial and other corporations. That is true here as well as in the east. The tone of our private correspondence with New York and Philadelphia houses is altogether different from what it was a month or so ago. There is a very general disposition to look for better things after the turn of the year."

One small lot of Westinghouse Air Brake changed hands at 130, and quotable lots were offered at that price, with 128 bid.

Mr. A. J. Lawrence yesterday announced his withdrawal as a candidate for the presidency of the Pittsburgh stock exchange.

The October statement of Jersey Central made a fine showing, the net earnings increasing $650,434.

The Corn Products Company, the common and preferred shares of which, yesterday made 5 and 10 points, respectively, was organized last year with authorized capital of $50,000,000 common and $30,000,000 preferred. It acquired controlling interests in a number of glucose, starch and sugar refining companies. The funded debt of the underlying companies amounts to a little more than $10,000,000. The preferred stock is entitled to 6 per cent cumulative, and last March 4 per cent was declared on the common, payable quarterly. 1 per cent each in April, July, October and January. The high price this year has been 39 for the common and 83¾ for the preferred. Yesterday the common sold at 15½ and the preferred at 60¾.

Immediately after the announcement that the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent had been declared on United States Leather preferred, the stock broke 3 per cent.

A London dispatch said: Practically the whole new supply of gold in the open market this week has been taken for America, which has acquired £100,000 in that way. There is no gold, or had quotations, on the west coast, which is not at all willing to part with the metal. It is hoped that the advance in Paris exchange on London will divert the American demand to France.

The directors of the Calumet and Hecla Mining Company have declared a dividend of $30 a share. Three months ago $10 was declared, and a year ago $8, a total of $28 in dividends declared the calendar year, making a total of $35. This dividend brings the total disbursements to stockholders up to $83,850,000, on a capital of $2,000,000.

Influence bearing on the market for exchange have not yet altered. Last week, for instance, we sent abroad $34,000 bales of cotton, as against 257,000 in 1901. Taking these figures along with market prices, the increase in value of last week's cotton shipments, over 1902, was not far from $10,000,000.

The regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on the preferred stock of the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad has been declared, payable December 1, 1903, to stockholders of record November 27.

Texas Banker Drowns Himself.

KANSAS CITY, MO., Nov. 24.—The body of J. W. Rhodes, a banker of Navasota, Texas, who escaped from a private sanitarium, was found today in the lake at Troost park. Previously Rhodes had tried to commit suicide by throwing himself under a street car. Rhodes, who had entered the sanitarium voluntarily, to be treated for depression, was 47 years old and leaves a family.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

Bank exchanges were $6,590,084, a decrease of $737,000.

Stock market dull and barely steady. Sales 2,611 shares stock and $16,000 bonds.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred firm and higher, closing at 61 bid.

River Coal common declined to 8 and the preferred offered down to 26½.

Manufacturers Gas reacted to 28½ and closed at 28¾.

Steel stocks were very dull and closed slightly lower.

IN WALL STREET.

Professionals are blamed for destructive onslaught in specialties, resulting in losses from 1 to 10½ points.

Corn Products preferred declined 10½; Locomotive preferred 9¾, and Car preferred 4¾.

Southern Pacific, Monday's sustaining influence, was sold by profit takers, close being 44⅞ on sales of 42,502 shares.

The rise of 1⅝ in Sugar, which was mostly lost afterward, reflected speculators' views over outlook of Cuban treaty.

Sterling exchange declined and $1,000,000 in gold was engaged in London for Boston.

Bonds were irregular; sales (par value) were $2,317,000.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A crosscut has been started at the 900-foot level on the Aztec on Mineral hill, Cripple Creek, to catch a vein that was encountered in sinking the shaft, and which dipped out of it. A drift is being driven in its right hand running as high as 800. The work of continuing sinking to the 300-foot level will be continued.

The stormy season has set in early in the Thunder Mountain district and there has been a considerable advance in transportation rates. To Dr. and Mrs. Hammer has been born the first baby of the Thunder Mountain gold mines, a young lady who weighs a little over 20, and is a 10-pound boy. One hundred dollars has been raised by subscription and put in the bank to his credit, not to be drawn until he is 21 years old.

An eight-foot ledge of free milling ore has just been opened on the lower workings on the Man of War claim, one-half mile south of Greenhorn City, Ore.

An amendment to the articles of incorporation of the Tonopah and Salt Lake Mining Company, whereby the capital stock of the company is increased from $500,000, divided into shares of the par value of $1 each, has been recorded in the office of the county clerk at Salt Lake.

That cyanide does not always make good is shown by the following from the Cripple Creek Times: The cyanide tanks and crusher belonging to the Ingham will will be removed from the property very shortly. The 80 tons sent to be treated at this mill from the Gold Sovereign dump did not prove satisfactory for a cyanide proposition. The rock was all coarse and consequently only about eight tons of this kind of rock can be handled daily. While in order to make the plant a paying proposition it was necessary to treat about 20 tons a day. If two cars of coarse rock, such as was sent from the Gold Sovereign, together with a few of screenings, then the ore could have been successfully handled as the Gold Sovereign dump rock had sufficient values to pay to handle.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Tin was lower in the London market, closing at a decline of 10s with spot quoted at £116 and futures at £117 5s. Locally, tin was dull and about 25 points lower, spot being offered freely. While the close showed little change abroad, spot closing at £54 10s and futures at £54 12s 6d. Locally, copper remains more or less unsettled and nominal. Lake Superior is quoted at $12 8 for electrolytic in 30-ton lots, and $12 cash, ranging at $12 50@12 75. Lead was unchanged in London, closing at £11. The local market was unchanged at $4.20 for spot. Spelter was unchanged at (2) 12s 6d in London and (1) 12s 6d (2) New York. Iron closed at 48s 9d in Glasgow and at 42s 9d in Middlesboro. Locally, iron was unchanged; No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $15 00@16 00; No. 2 foundry northern, $14 00@15 00; No. 1 foundry southern, and No. 1 foundry southern, soft, at $13 50@14 00.

LOWER PRICES ON BUILDING MATERIAL

Stocks Are Piling Up and Dealers Are Scouring City for Orders.

LOT PLAN NEAR BOULEVARD

The man who contemplates building next spring will not have excessively high prices of building materials to contend with from present indications. One year ago big dealers and manufacturers were independent. They were rushed with orders and the contractors had to bide their time to get materials delivered. Today these same firms have men scouting the city for orders, and contractors who are bidding on the few big jobs on the boards are besieged with offers of goods at much lower prices than have prevailed for a year past. Portland cement, which was firm in market then at $1.50 a barrel, can now be bought on easy terms at 85 cents. Last winter several companies were formed near Pittsburgh to manufacture cement, and these are now accumulating stocks. The largest of these concerns, with a capacity of 1,000 barrels a day, is said to be holding its output down to 600 barrels. Structural iron and steel is being offered in contracts with noticeable reduction, and big firms are bidding against each other for orders. Brick, too, can be bought for 50 cents a thousand less than one year ago. This, however, cuts so little figure in the cost of small buildings, that it has not had any great effect on the market except to show that the local kilns are piling up stock. Paints and builders' hardware remain nearly stationary, but deliveries are very prompt, whereas one year ago orders were sidetracked for weeks. The rush of all kinds is slow in market and the city dealers, instead of stocking up for the winter trade, as usual at this season, are buying only from week to week. Prices have been established well thus far, but there is a decided tendency to lower quotations on many grades of house lumber.

Will Wait Till Spring to Build.

Three jobs of public building have been postponed because of the labor troubles. At Rochester the officials of the Passavant Home for Epileptics have decided to hold off building their new addition until spring, although plans had been completed by Architect F. J. Osterling of this city. St. Michael's church and convent, which was to have been built in Braddock at a cost of about $60,000 from plans by Architect Titus de Bobula, has also been shelved for several months. The third project to be held up is that of the Union Congregational church at McKees Rocks to cost $11,000, from plans by Architect Macaubray & Co.

Architect E. M. Buts has plans for a frame addition to the Brighton Country club buildings in California avenue, near Termon avenue, Allegheny.

The Pintsch Compressing Company of New York has started work on a large two-story brick gas house at Canton and Neville streets, Twentieth ward, to cost $20,000.

Plans for the two-story fireproof passenger station of the Monongahela Incline Plane Company at Carson and Smithfield streets are in the hands of Architects MacClure & Spahr.

Architect Joseph Stillburg has plans for extensive alterations and additions to the store building of Jacob Dietz and Federal street, Allegheny. He has also awarded the contract to Murphy & Hamilton for a three-story brick stable for T. N. Barnsdall on the old McKelvey property in North Negley avenue.

New Lot Plan in Thirteenth Ward.

On December 1 Adams, Hemphill & Co. will put on the market the remainder of the old William V. Gallery estate in the Thirteenth ward. The property consists of lots 25x100 feet each, most of which face in Thirty-third street at the corner of Ridge avenue. These lots are only one square from the Grant boulevard and are in a neighborhood which is built up with houses costing from $3,500 to $5,000 each. The remainder of the lots are in White street near the boulevard. The prices range from $700 to $1,000 each.

Through the Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company two good houses in the Twenty-second ward have been sold for $18,000. They belonged to H. W. Smith, Jr., and the buyer is Mrs. M. Gormley, who will occupy one of them as a home. Both houses are 10-room reception hall bricks on lots 30x170 feet and face on the west side of Murray Hill avenue, near Fifth avenue.

Sales in Nineteenth Ward.

Avondale street: S. H. Lloyd sold for J. E. Swift to Mrs. M. Breed on eight-room brick house, lot 135x260 feet, at Avondale street and Haights avenues, Nineteenth ward, for $9,000. The same broker sold for the Keyser heirs to A. Bruce an improved lot, 120x40 feet, at Butler street between Negley and River avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $1,000.

Belmar place: J. E. Obitz sold to Henry J. Dumhoff No. 7105 Race street a nine-room brick house, lot 25x63 feet, for $5,400.

Dinwiddie street: The Aronson Realty Company sold through A. Z. Byers & Co. for Dr. Alexander McCandless to Mrs. Belle Schwartz the old McCandless mansion, a 10-room brick house, lot 60x70 feet, on the east side of Dinwiddie street, near Center avenue, Eleventh ward, for $8,000. The lot extends through to Devilliers street.

Edgewood: The American Real Estate Company sold for Mrs. Fannie A. Williams of California to J. J. Murphy of Edgewood a lot in Savannah avenue near Hutchinson street, Edgewood, for $1,800.

Mt. Washington: Caroline S. Muth bought at sheriff's sale the Gustav H. Drenner property, an improved lot, 135x100 feet, on the south side of Greenough street. Thirty-second ward, for $2,850.

Kedron avenue: Henry W. Brashear sold to Henry E. Weisenstein 25x100 feet on the south side of Kedron avenue, near Murtland avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $1,000.

Work on Institude Addition Started.

Under the direction of the A. & S. Wilson Company work was started yesterday on the excavations for the addition to the Carnegie Institute. Fifty laborers were started and more will be put on this week, so that the work may be completed by February 1. According to the permit granted the work will cost $95,000.

The permit was granted yesterday for the erection of the Eye, Ear and Throat hospital on Fifth avenue and Jumonville street to cost $50,000. The building will be two stories high and contain 30 rooms. A. M. Byers & Co. were also granted a permit for a new steel structure machine shop in Bingham street, Twenty-third ward, to cost $6,500. Albert F. Burnett was granted a permit for a three-story brick apartment house at 3124 Fifth avenue. Fourteenth ward, to cost $5,298, and Alois Gerding will build a two-story frame house in Mathilda street, Twentieth ward, to cost $1,200.

THANKSGIVING TURKEYS ARE BEING RAPIDLY SOLD

Other Foods That Go to Make Up the Great Dinner Also in Demand.

Turkeys were the main feature of the market yesterday. The Keystone State arrived about noon yesterday, but had a short supply. It was expected that she would bring in a big trip, but she had only about 4,000 turkeys, chickens and ducks and a small supply of eggs. The market was brisk and turkeys sold rapidly at the prices quoted, which are the same as the previous day. Other commodities which go to make up a Thanksgiving dinner were also in good demand. Grapes, nuts, celery and like stuff were firm.

Dried beans and peas are weak and a slightly lower quotation is made on some of these things. Cabbage is firm and has a good market at the prices quoted. Flour is also firm, but not so much so as the latter part of last week. There are no features in the sugar and coffee market.

Dry salt meats, dry smoked meats and lard have been advanced about a quarter of a cent a pound. Butter, eggs and cheese are about the same as quoted lower in demand.

The hay, grain and feed market had a slight change yesterday. The market in the west was not as strong as on Monday. The receipts were fair yesterday, as compared with the rest of the past few weeks. Nice timothy hay, both No. 1 and No. 2, continue firm at the prices quoted. Feed is not quite as much in demand and a slight lower tone is noticed. Rye straw and white middlings. Rye straw and No. 2 yellow ear corn continue strong and both are quoted a little higher.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 20 cars hay, 17 cars oats, 12 cars corn, 6 cars feed, 1 car straw; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 5 cars hay, 2 cars bran, 2 cars oats, 1 car rye; Pittsburgh & Western, 8 cars hay, 2 cars oats, a car corn.

HORSE MARKET.

No change was noticeable in the market yesterday from the situation of the past few weeks. The demand is not strong and the prices are low. About 200 head of horses were offered for sale at the exchange yesterday. Good work horses are more sought after at present than any other kind.

SHORTS FLEEING TO COVER CAUSED WHEAT ADVANCE

Corn, Oats and Provisions, However, Closed Lower in Chicago.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Wheat ruled strong, although there was little improvement in the volume of trade. The impression prevailed among traders that too much wheat has been finding its way into the hands of a leading bull operator, and as the crowd in general was short, there was good demand from this source throughout the day. Outside markets were higher, the ones at Minneapolis and Duluth being especially strong, which influenced prices here. May was in better demand than December, the latter opened a shade to ¼@¾c higher at 78¾ to 78⅝c, and advanced gradually as the day progressed. Advices from Argentine state that the exportable surplus will be much less than as first estimated and this fact had a strengthening influence during the latter part of the session. Primary receipts were 1,616,300 bushels, against 1,020,800 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 1,068 cars, against 990 cars last week and 1,418 cars a year ago.

The feature in the trading in corn was the sensational rally of both December and May by a prominent commission house. The market was helped some by the strength in wheat and steady cables, but December was depressed and declined in the price of new corn and the increased receipts. Final receipts were 406 cars, with 10 of contract grade.

Oats continued weak under heavy selling by the same commission house, as was selling corn, and which fairly demoralized that side of the market the past few days. The offerings met with only scattered demand. May was in fair demand from commission and cash houses, and part of the loss was regained. Local receipts were 264 cars.

Provisions felt the weakness in hogs and were selling at a decline of 5@10c. Pork was steady and in fair demand from packers and on covering by shorts, and closed a shade lower at $11 11½ for the January product. January lard was 2½c lower at 6c 37½, and ribs were off 5@7½c at $5 30@5 40. Estimated receipts for tomorrow—Wheat, 110 cars; corn, 185 cars; oats, 95 cars; hogs, 28,000 head.

Cassatt and Party View New Work, Some Stock Market Deals Run Down

All the new construction work on the western end of the Pennsylvania railroad which is about to be put into service was viewed by President A. J. Cassatt and other officials of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday and the day before. This was the principal cause of the trip of the head of the railroad here at this time, and at its completion he went back to Philadelphia, arriving in that city last night.

...IOUS TO POSE AT BEAUTY SHOW

Possessors of Feminine Charms Willing to Exhibit Them for $1,000 Prize.

SIMILAR PRIZE FOR THE MEN

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.

That the feminine beauty of this city will take the lion's share of the prizes for physical perfection at the physical culture show in the Madison Square Garden next month was predicted today by witnesses of the preliminary show now in progress. The offices of E. P. Frents, the business manager and beauty critic, have been overwhelmed by applicants who express a willingness to pose in competition for the prize of $1,000 offered for the most perfectly formed woman. Since the announcement of the competition 50 local women have entered the lists. One applicant told Mr. Frents today that she was the daughter of a clergyman and was very desirous of posing, on the condition that she might do so under a "stage" name. Another visitor, the wife of a broker, had quarrelled with her husband.

"I want to win that $1,000 prize just to spite him," she said, with a stamp of her foot.

The oddities which promise to be drawing cards are a pretty Dowiette and a Swedish countess. The Dowiette sent in her application from Zion City, stating that she was a music teacher with a "sublime figure."

On the night of December 28 at 8 o'clock 50 New York women will pose on an elevated platform. Their merits will be determined by the ticket holders, each ticket admitting of one vote. The woman receiving the largest number of votes on New York night, Monday, December 28, will be allowed to remain for the rest of the week and pose with 12 women representing other cities.

The audience each night by vote decide upon the best formed woman. Saturday night, January 2, the final night, will be devoted to a final competition between one woman from England and one woman from the United States, to see which is to receive the $1,000 prize. These same rules apply to men, for whom a similar prize is offered.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED.

Margaret Familton Guilty of Bigamy but Recommended to Mercy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The jury in the case of Margaret Familton, on trial for bigamy, after a short deliberation today, brought in a verdict of guilty, with a strong recommendation to mercy.

Judge Moore said that taking all the circumstances of the case into consideration, as well as the recommendation of the jury, he would suspend sentence. Frederick Kirkman and Edward Roach, the two men to whom Miss Familton was married within 24 hours, were not in court today. An action, brought by the father of Miss Familton for annulment of both marriages, is now pending in the supreme court.

SENATOR PLATT ROASTS SETH LOW

Says New York Mayor is Most Unpopular Man That He Ever Saw.

LEADERS ARE FOR ROOSEVELT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.

Senator Thomas C. Platt today unbosomed himself on the recent municipal election in the following statement to the Brooklyn Eagle's Washington correspondent:

"The November vote in New York was no surprise to me. The people did not want Low, and the Republican party gave to him quite as much support as he had any right to expect at its hands. Although it contributed over 75 per cent of the votes that made him mayor, he did not give the Republican organization three per cent of the patronage.

"He is the most selfish, the most unpopular man I have ever known in my political career, and I do not believe we will hear from him again in politics. There were numberless little things that his administration was guilty of that alienated the votes of the people from him. It is too late now for me to recount what these things are. The people of Brooklyn and Manhattan understand what I mean.

"I did not see Mayor Low once from the night of his nomination to the day of the election. He never sent for me nor asked my assistance.

"Now in regard to President Roosevelt's nomination I wish to state emphatically that Gov. Odell would not accept a vice presidential nomination on a ticket with Senator Hanna or anyone else. He is for Roosevelt first, last and all the time. Hanna is for Roosevelt, and so am I. There is no one else in sight, thought of, or talked of by the leaders of the Republican party. The electoral vote of New York state will be for Theodore Roosevelt."

CAPITOL STRIKE OVER.

Bricklayers on New Pennsylvania State Building to Return to Work Today.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The bricklayers' strike at the new state capitol has been adjusted, and the men are epected to return to work tomorrow. They are said to have been misinformed as to the causes which led to the strike and at a meeting of the union it was decided to go back to work.

Work continues to progress on the building. Bernard R. Green of Washington, supervising engineer for the commission was here today is very much pleased with conditions. The iron work of the interior has been completed as far as the second floor in the wings.

To Make Their Own Light.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Mayor Harrison announced today the city would in the near future manufacture its own light at the municipal electric plants. This step is the result of the excessive rates charged by the Gas Company and Chicago-Edison Electric Company. Light will also be furnished to householders.

Five Bodies Washed Ashore.

STAVANGER, NORWAY, Nov. 24.—Norwegian steamer Victoria was stranded during last night's storm off this port. No attempts to rescue the crew were possible. Five bodies have been washed ashore and some persons are still clinging to the masts of the vessel.

NEW INDUSTRIALS BADLY HAMMERED

Corn Products Leads Decline in Wall Street by Drop of 12 3-4.

(BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The preferred shares of half a dozen of the new industrial corporations were badly smashed today by the bear party in the stock market who sought in this way to bring about a general speculative disorder. The declines ranged from 3 to 12¼ points. The maximum was reached in Corn Product, which sold down to 60¾, when it had closed yesterday at 73. Locomotive, Car & Foundry, Pressed Steel, Republic Steel, Union Bag & Paper and United States Leather were the other stocks that suffered pronounced declines.

The selling came chiefly from the western faction in the market. They offered these stocks down because they said they were being discriminated against by the banks, who were less inclined to loan on such securities than formerly, that they were trying to borrow money in the open market; that their receipts were falling and that in several instances they were meeting with sharp competition. While there is probably some truth in all these statements there is far from enough to cause the weakness that prevailed today.

The bears had no difficulty in offering the stocks to their low figures. The decline yesterday in Republic Steel preferred made their campaign a simple one. Brokers who watched the selling said there was scarcely any liquidation and that all the offerings seemed to come from the same source.

A statement was issued by an official of the American Car & Foundry Company as follows:

"The output of wooden cars so far in November has been at the rate of from 150 to 200 cars a day. The steel car plants of the company at the same time have been turning out 85 50-ton steel cars a day, which is at the rate of more than 25,000 steel cars per annum. The company has manufactured up to date 20,000 cars of steel construction."

BROOKLYN BRIDGE MUST BE RECONSTRUCTED SOON

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Controller Grout said today that the Brooklyn bridge would have to be reconstructed before very long. "Do you mean the bridge is not safe now?" Mr. Grout was asked. "No, no. Not at all." "How long before it will become unsafe?" "It will last until the other bridges are completed, I think," said Mr. Grout.
